

VALLHALLA 1982

LISA SMITH

Lisa,

I'm glad that you were part of my life these past four years. You're a really pretty girl but most importantly, a very nice girl. You were a great Homecoming Princess, Epic Editor, and overall terrific dancer.

I was really looking forward to go with you to the Senior Ball, but I can see why Patrick wanted to go with ~~the~~ you. He's a really nice guy and so are, you. Take Care because you're a very special girl.

Love Always,

Bob Wu

Lisa,
I never knew anyone could have as much going for them as you do!
You're so great! Every time I see you, I get this happy feeling inside!
There are so many "happening" that we have experienced together, that they are countless! "Share the tree in the back - Quick!" or S.O.A.H.E. Song. I

Could write a book on all the things we've done. (Not to mention a Jewish Tzitzit book.) Were only about 2-3 hrs away when we're at school next fall, so there's no excuse why we can't see each other.
Lisa, I hope you are successful in life, I know you will be. The most important thing, though, is that you're the happiest you can possibly be! You're a rare breed, Lisa, and I know you will always be number 1.

Tzitzit Care,

I love you lots,

(Big) Ann (Schlegel) ^{for} posterity

LISA,

Even though we went through Hansen together and Miller, it took four more years of High School to really meet you.
It was worth the waiting, though, because you really are neat person. I wish you the best of luck in the future and at UCSD. I know you will be successful. Anyway, have a great Summer and future. I'm sure I will see you this summer (we're practically neighbors)!
Friends always,

As the summer sets, the working class gets up for one more year at Lynbrook High. The top-dogs, the newly crowned Seniors, readily take control.

Preparation (car washes, plans for fall activities, new wardrobes) has gone on all summer, and their year has begun.

For the Freshman, it is a different tale. The self-assured, top-of-the-class, eighth graders are now known as Millerites.

The new surroundings are both strange and imposing, for it is so easy to get lost. Where's the Cove, and what is it for that matter? Science Lecture Room? I can't even find the Library. Decisions on where to sit, and what to eat (should I buy my lunch or bring my own) may seem trivial to the upperclass, but the ninth graders want to fit in. Everything happens so fast, what can we do?

That is exactly the point, everything does happen too fast. For Freshman, future years seem like an eternity. But the Class of 82 asks where the time has gone. Just one more year of dances, football games, and school buddies. For the Seniors, it is time to make their mark, and their memories, while they have the chance.

First, however, the Vikings must muddle through the bureaucracy of high school. Advisories, the inevitable scheduling problems, and the long lines make the start of school and the adjustment of sleeping habits all the more difficult. But the good times outweigh the inconveniences.

Reunions quickly surface, "I haven't seen you since June!", "What a tan!". New clothes make the start of every new year, but the Fall of 81 brings new fashion as well (shirt, tie, and boxers). What a beginning, we can just Imagine what the rest of the year will bring. Controversial clothes are not the whole story, as confusion mounts over the ASB officers. Let's vote whether or not to have an election. What! It's all very complicated, but Lynbrook students have learned to expect the unexpected.

The pace becomes fast and furious, as Seniors are overwhelmed with decisions. Should I retake my Senior picture? Have I taken enough classes? Where should I apply to college? Who should I ask to the Sadie?

Meanwhile the Juniors decide that they can do what they want (nice paint job, guys). Maybe the promotion to the upper-class is too much for Hubbard's kids. The Sophomores seem to be enjoying their new status (Thank God I'm not a Freshmen anymore). The Class of 84 hopes even more, but their time will come. The squirrely Freshman, dazzled by the throng of nearly 2,000 classmates, just try to get by.

Yet, the start of 81-82 is basically one of adjustment. Time to get organized, set priorities, and most importantly, to have a blast. All work and no play is certainly not the case here, despite the great accomplishments made annually.

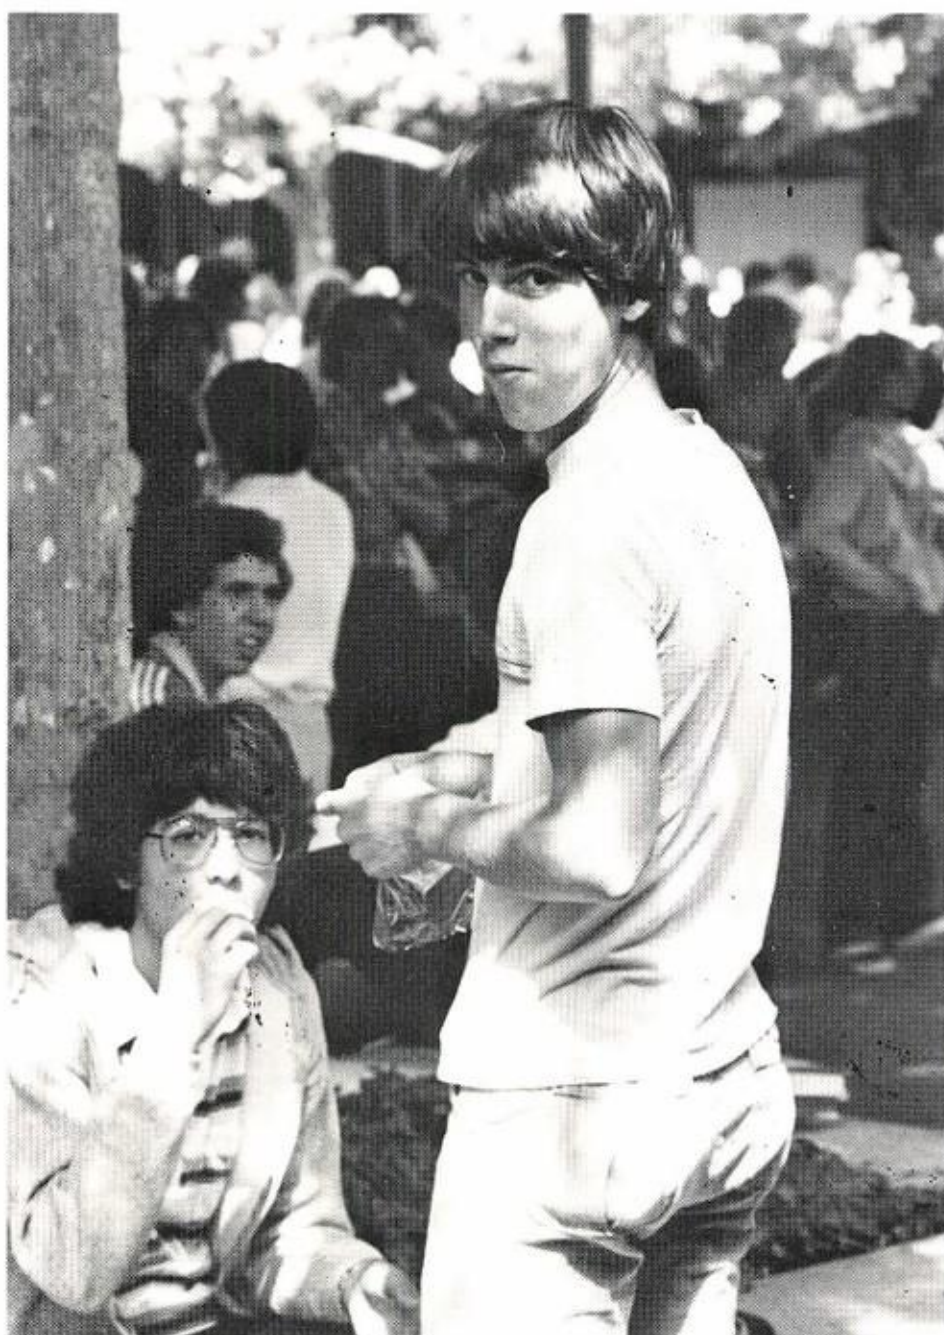

The Valkries are returning to championship form, as the field hockey team trounces opposition (come on girls, let somebody else score). The football team may be a mystery, but the games are never dull. Work begins on the school play, as the Lynbrook auditorium is transformed into the plains of Oklahoma. The Marching Band tunes up for the upcoming Tournament of Bands, where a fine finish will result only from long hours of hard work and uncompromising patience. New teachers, unfamiliar with the ways and traditions of the Viking students, quickly catch the wave of Lynbrook spirit. Excitement is the key, and promise for better things to come is in the air. One can only Imagine what will happen next!

Hey Lisa
 It's my birthday! I had such a great time during homecoming!
 I'm sure you did too. I'm glad that I was the M.C. for aquagade it was great I wish they didn't do away with it. You're a great girl I'm glad to know you.
 I wish you the best of luck in the future. I hope to see you this summer so we can celebrate another
 "birthday" Good luck and the best of luck to you love
 Kevin Caronough

RALLIES

Rallies, infrequent as they may be, they are necessary for expressing student anxieties and to provide a showcase for the spirit leaders to strut their stuff. Football players are put in their place, where they can't hurt anyone (including themselves.) Yet the spirit has already ruled superior to previous years'. The Seniors lead the way, but the underclass isn't far behind. Just imagine what next year will be like!

SPIRIT WEEK

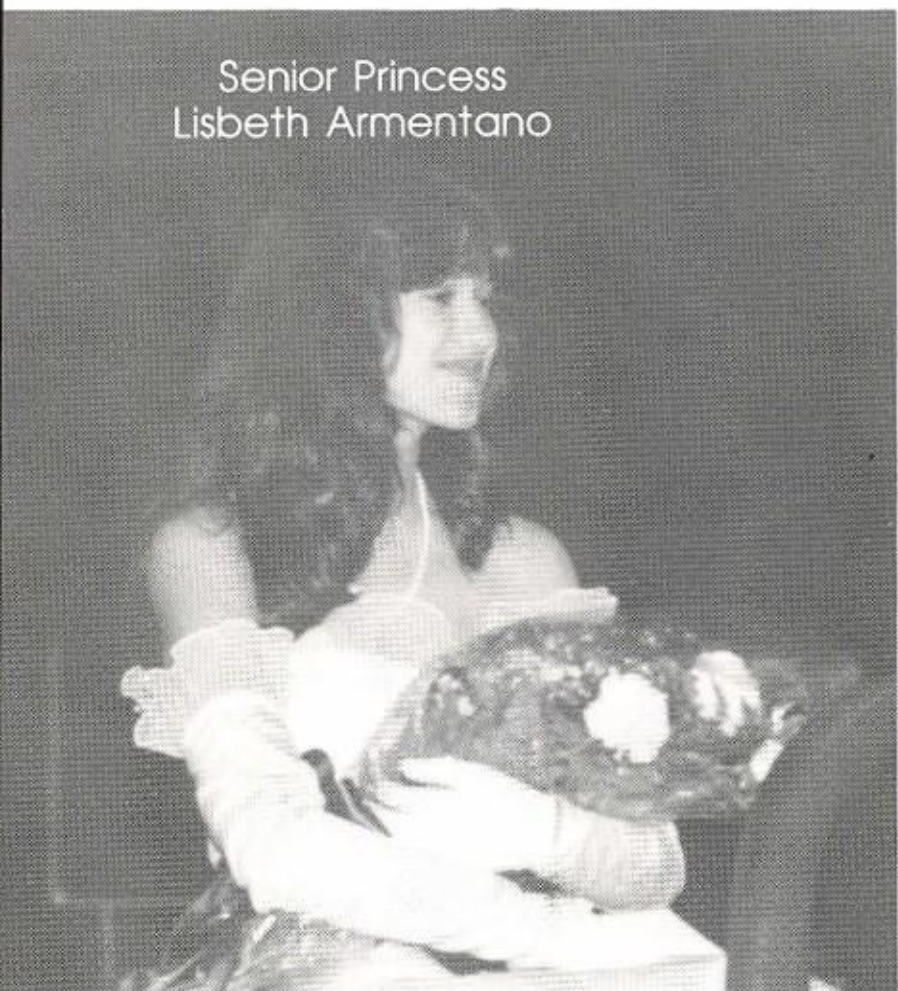

Once a year Lynbrook students take charge of the rally court, desperately trying to remodel our school to their specifications. The Freshman, uncertain of what to expect during Spirit Week, loyally gave tribute to the football players. A story book theme encompassed the Sophomore day, as Oz appeared before our eyes. Foul weather limited the Juniors to the cove, their efforts netted them an award of spirit. Yet it was the Seniors who made a Vintage week of it, as the upperclassman masqueraded as well dressed and distinguished members of the community. A win over Toga culminated our best week ever.

They say you can never come home again, and for many-a-year that was the case at Lynbrook. The weather, perpetually poor, seemed to dampen spirits and negate the reunion of Homecoming. This year, however, Mother Nature relented, and fair weather presided that eventful Friday night. The Viking Royalty included princesses JoEllyn Tegley, Helen Perakis, Karen Landberg, Lisa Smith, Ann Dwyer, and Lisbeth Armentano. For escorting duties, the dapper corp of Kevin Cavanaugh, Todd Fitcher, Ken Luck, Barry Milstead, Matt Stepovich, Pat Trank, and Raul Yrastorza. The stage was set, and the decision was delivered during this half-time ceremony. Lisbeth was crowned queen on a night which belonged to the gridgers who defeated the high flying Falcons 23-22. Imagine that! The Saturday dance provided a proper finish, as Homecoming became something to remember.

SADIE

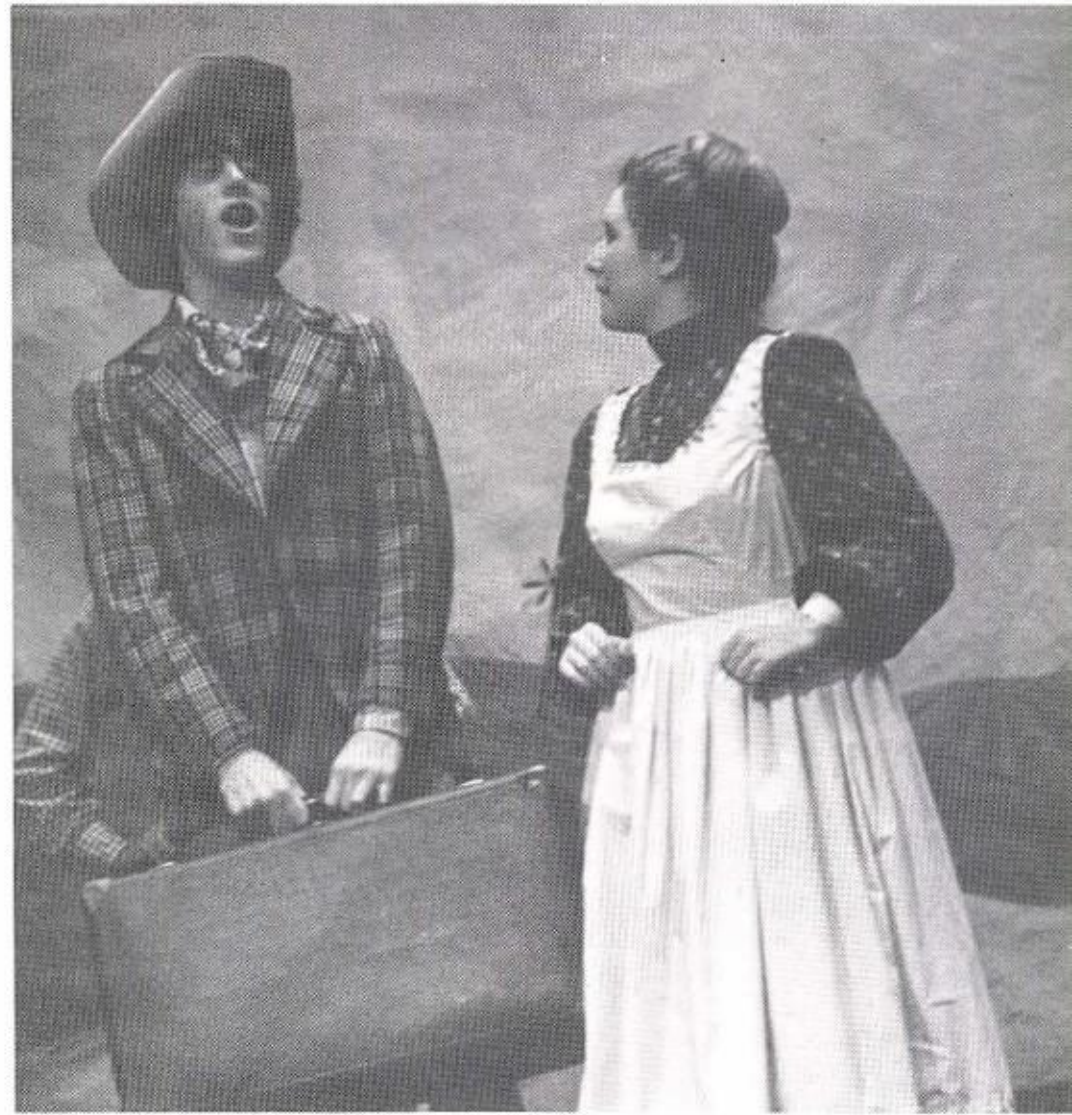

Once upon a time, a girl named Sue organized a storybook Sadie. It was a marvelous affair, as the fairest of lads were summoned to the Lynbrook gymnasium. Who could resist Bob Wu, Kevin Cavanaugh, and Doug Bloyd, the Seniors who led the pagentry. Other irresistibles included Junior Gary Maasberg, Sophomore Brian Hayes, and Freshman Todd Martin. Top prize went to real life storybook couple Eric and Mindy. Other notables included the Ugly Duckling, an award winning Wizard of Oz quartet, and the Bagle Stealing couple of Marty and Rani. To be sure a night of intrigue that, of course, ended happily after ever.

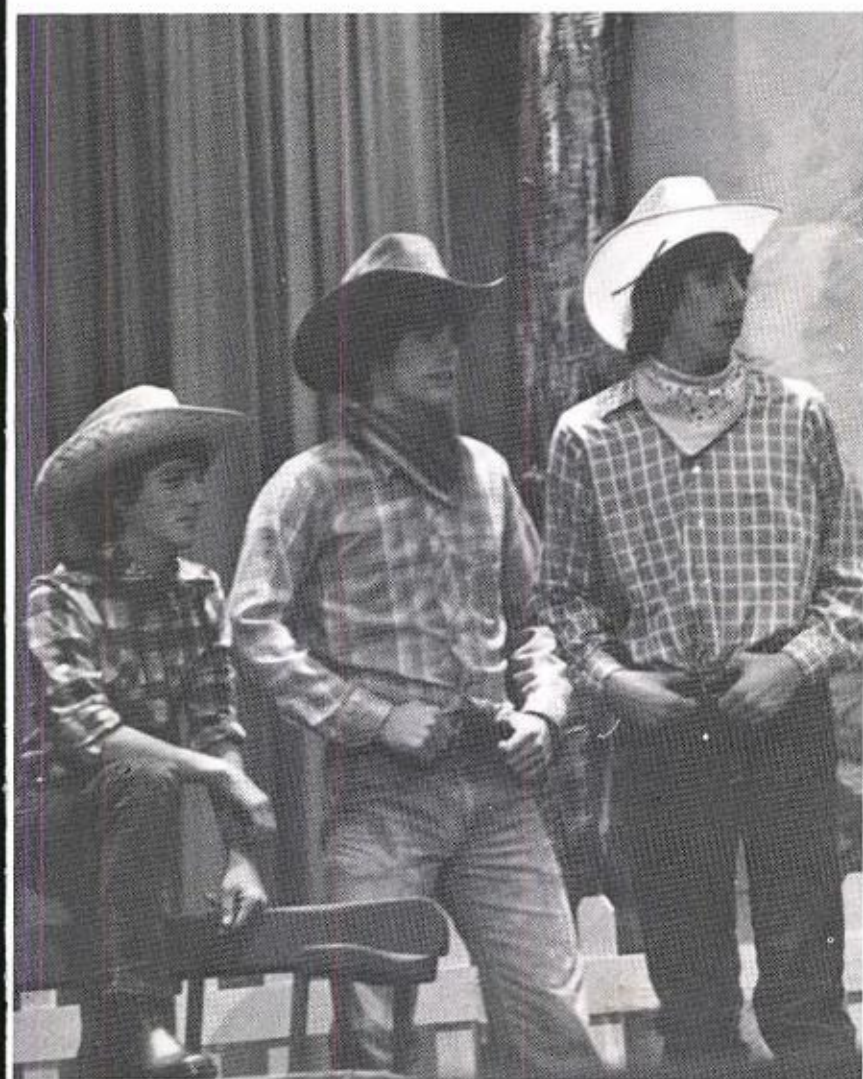

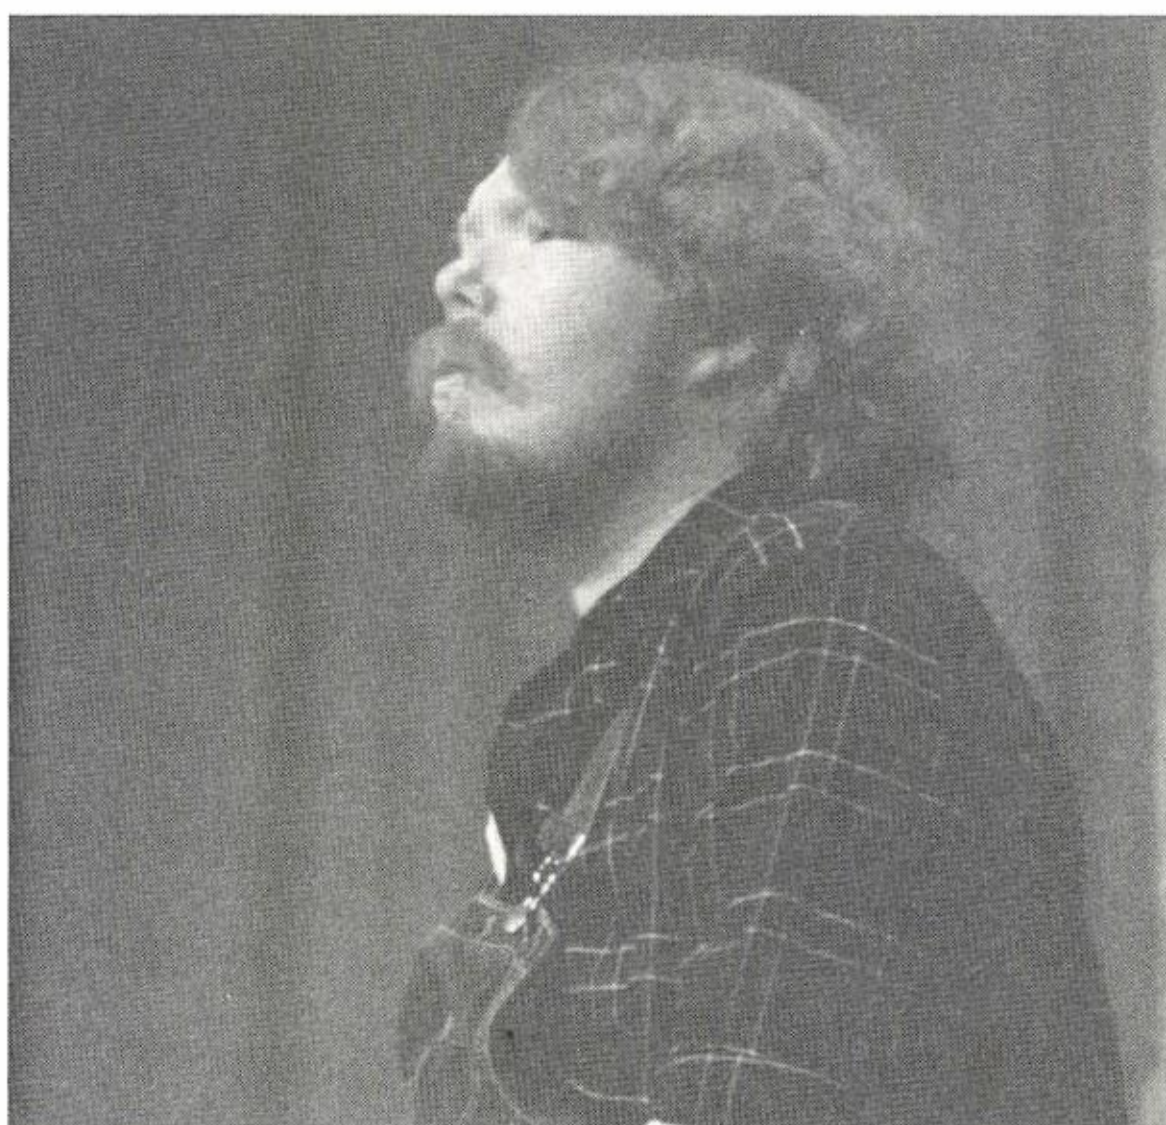

FALL MUSICAL

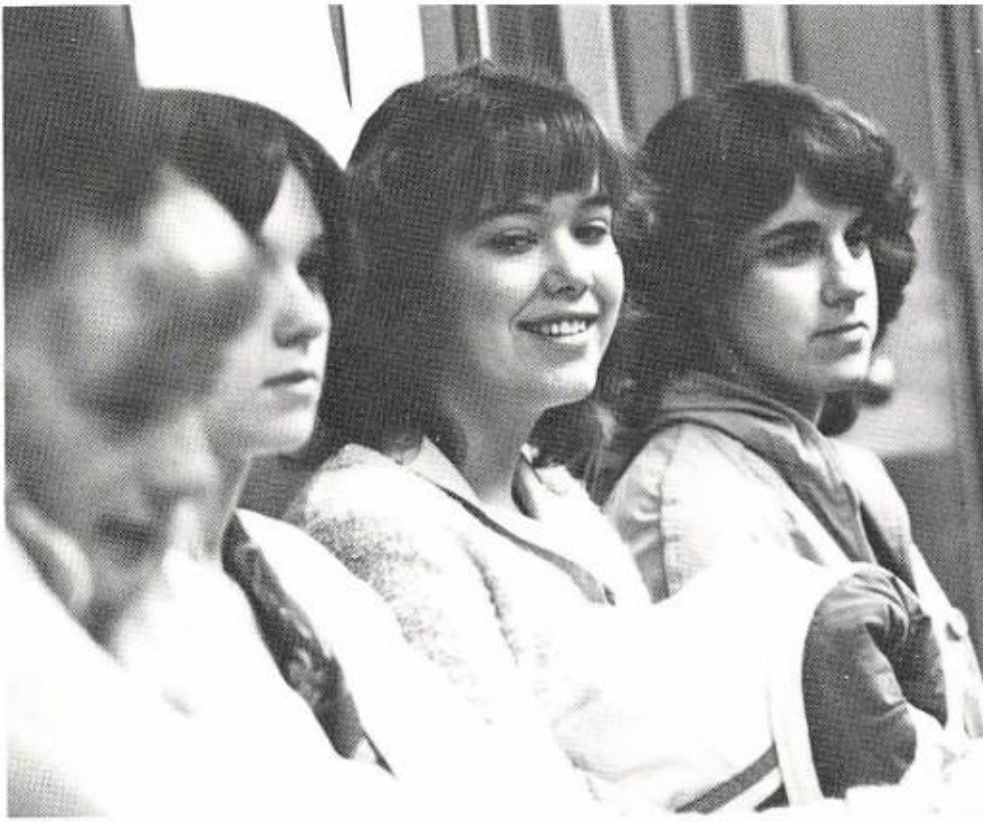

Who stabbed J.F. (Jud Fry)? That's the question posed in the 1981 Fall Musical, Oklahoma. With Mark McCandless and Karen Murphy as the leads, no wonder rave reviews were commonplace, and many in the audience returned for more than one show. It is hard to Imagine such a fine production combined with a loose backstage atmosphere. The opposite sex insisted upon frequent curtain calls when it was time to get dressed. Though someone forgot to load the gun on occasion, Stephanie's laugh kept the cast in high spirits, so as the saga continues for the Lynbrook Drama Department, as "0000-Kla-homa" can still be heard.

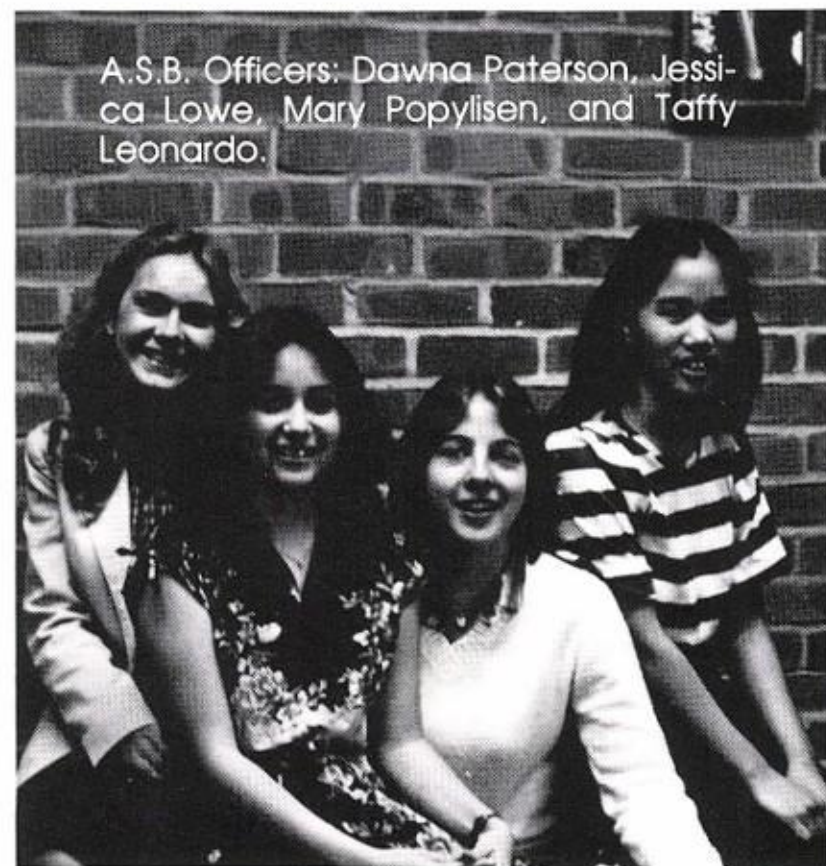

FALL ASB

Controversy was the key in Fall A.S.B., as the fight to control student government took up the better part of September. Appointed officers had run the show all summer long, and apparently they wanted to stay, without the bother of an election. As it turned out, the bogus officials did quite a good job, whether it be in that dreadful zero period each Tuesday or the bi-weekly madhouse called Leg Council. Whether it be noon radio, (no vandals, please), setting up the Sadie and the Winter Formal, (how about a Hannukah Hop, Sue?), or just repeating A.S.B. business, Jessica, Mary, Dawna, and Taffy kept Lynbrook on top of the situation.

A.S.B. Officers: Dawna Paterson, Jessica Lowe, Mary Popylisen, and Taffy Leonardo.

CEBAS

Training for the future, that's part of high school. But imagine receiving high school credit, without ever coming to Lynbrook. It sounds good, it even sounds like CEBAS. The program allows students to learn in the community and to choose individual projects and activities. The chance to develop one's future outside the confines of campus is unique. Since CEBAS provides responsibility training and a good self-image, it is certainly worthwhile. Just ask these individuals.

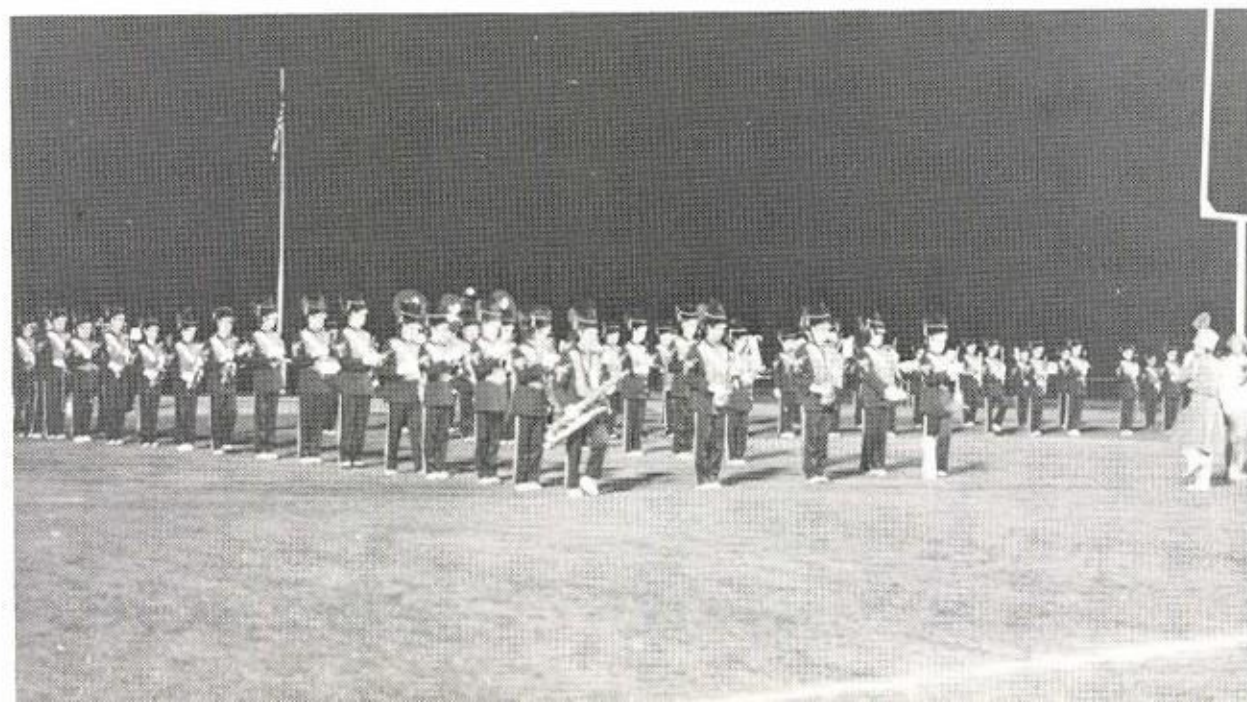

MARCHING BAND

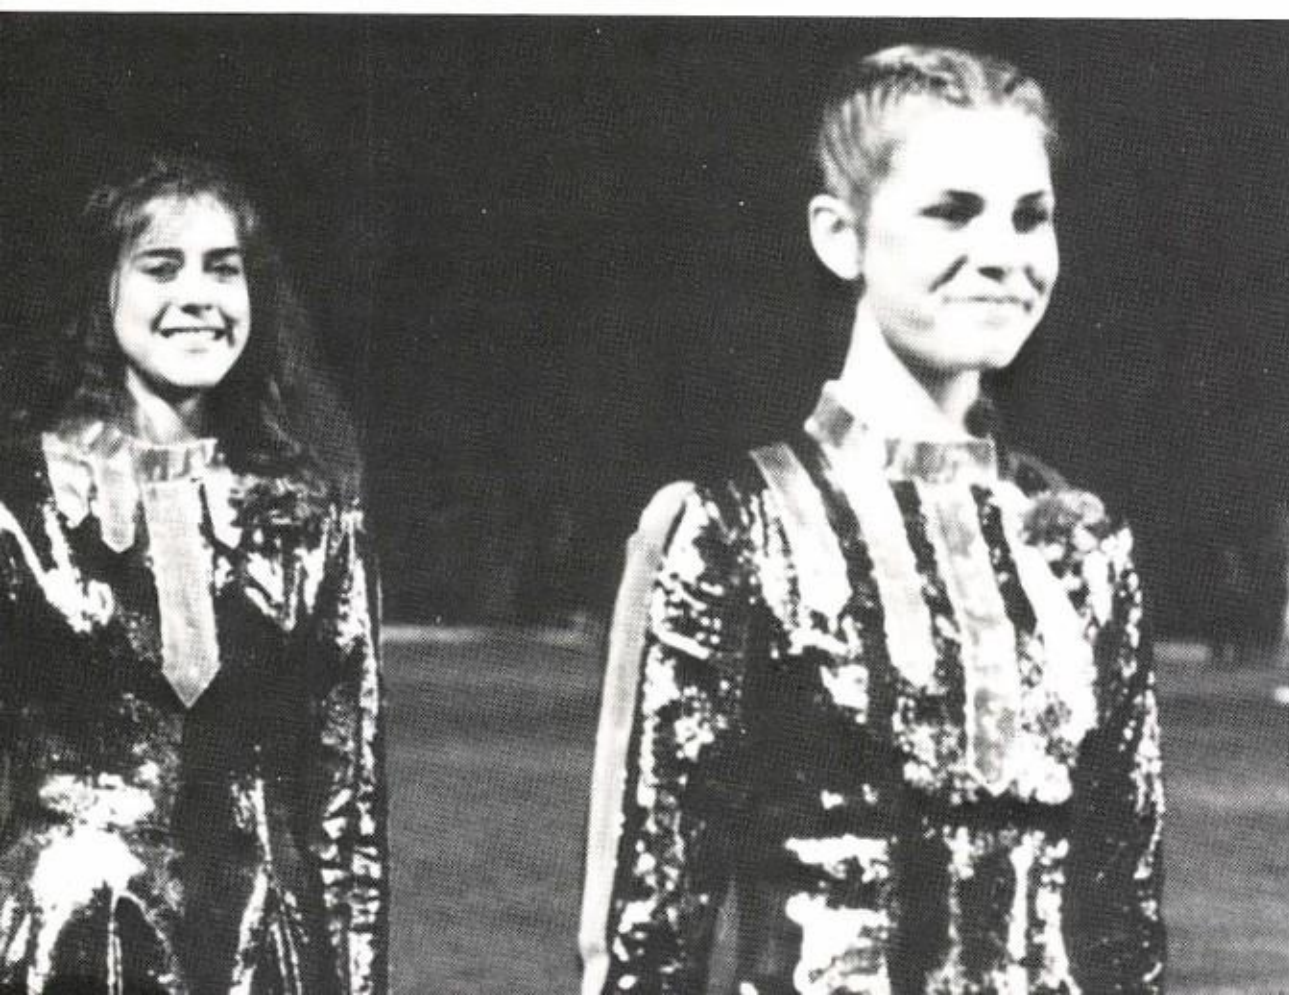

The Football game was never so complete without the excitement of the Lynbrook Marching Band. We all knew that the halftime activities would supply us with as much entertainment as the awesome football game.

The band was directed by the new Uncle Larry Marks, and also included the special talent of Lynn Bachelor, the batonist, and Kathy Scott, the drum majorette. Everyone participated in this year's attractive marching band. So whenever that drum role begins, we'll be looking for that one and only Lynbrook Marching Band.

VALKYRIES

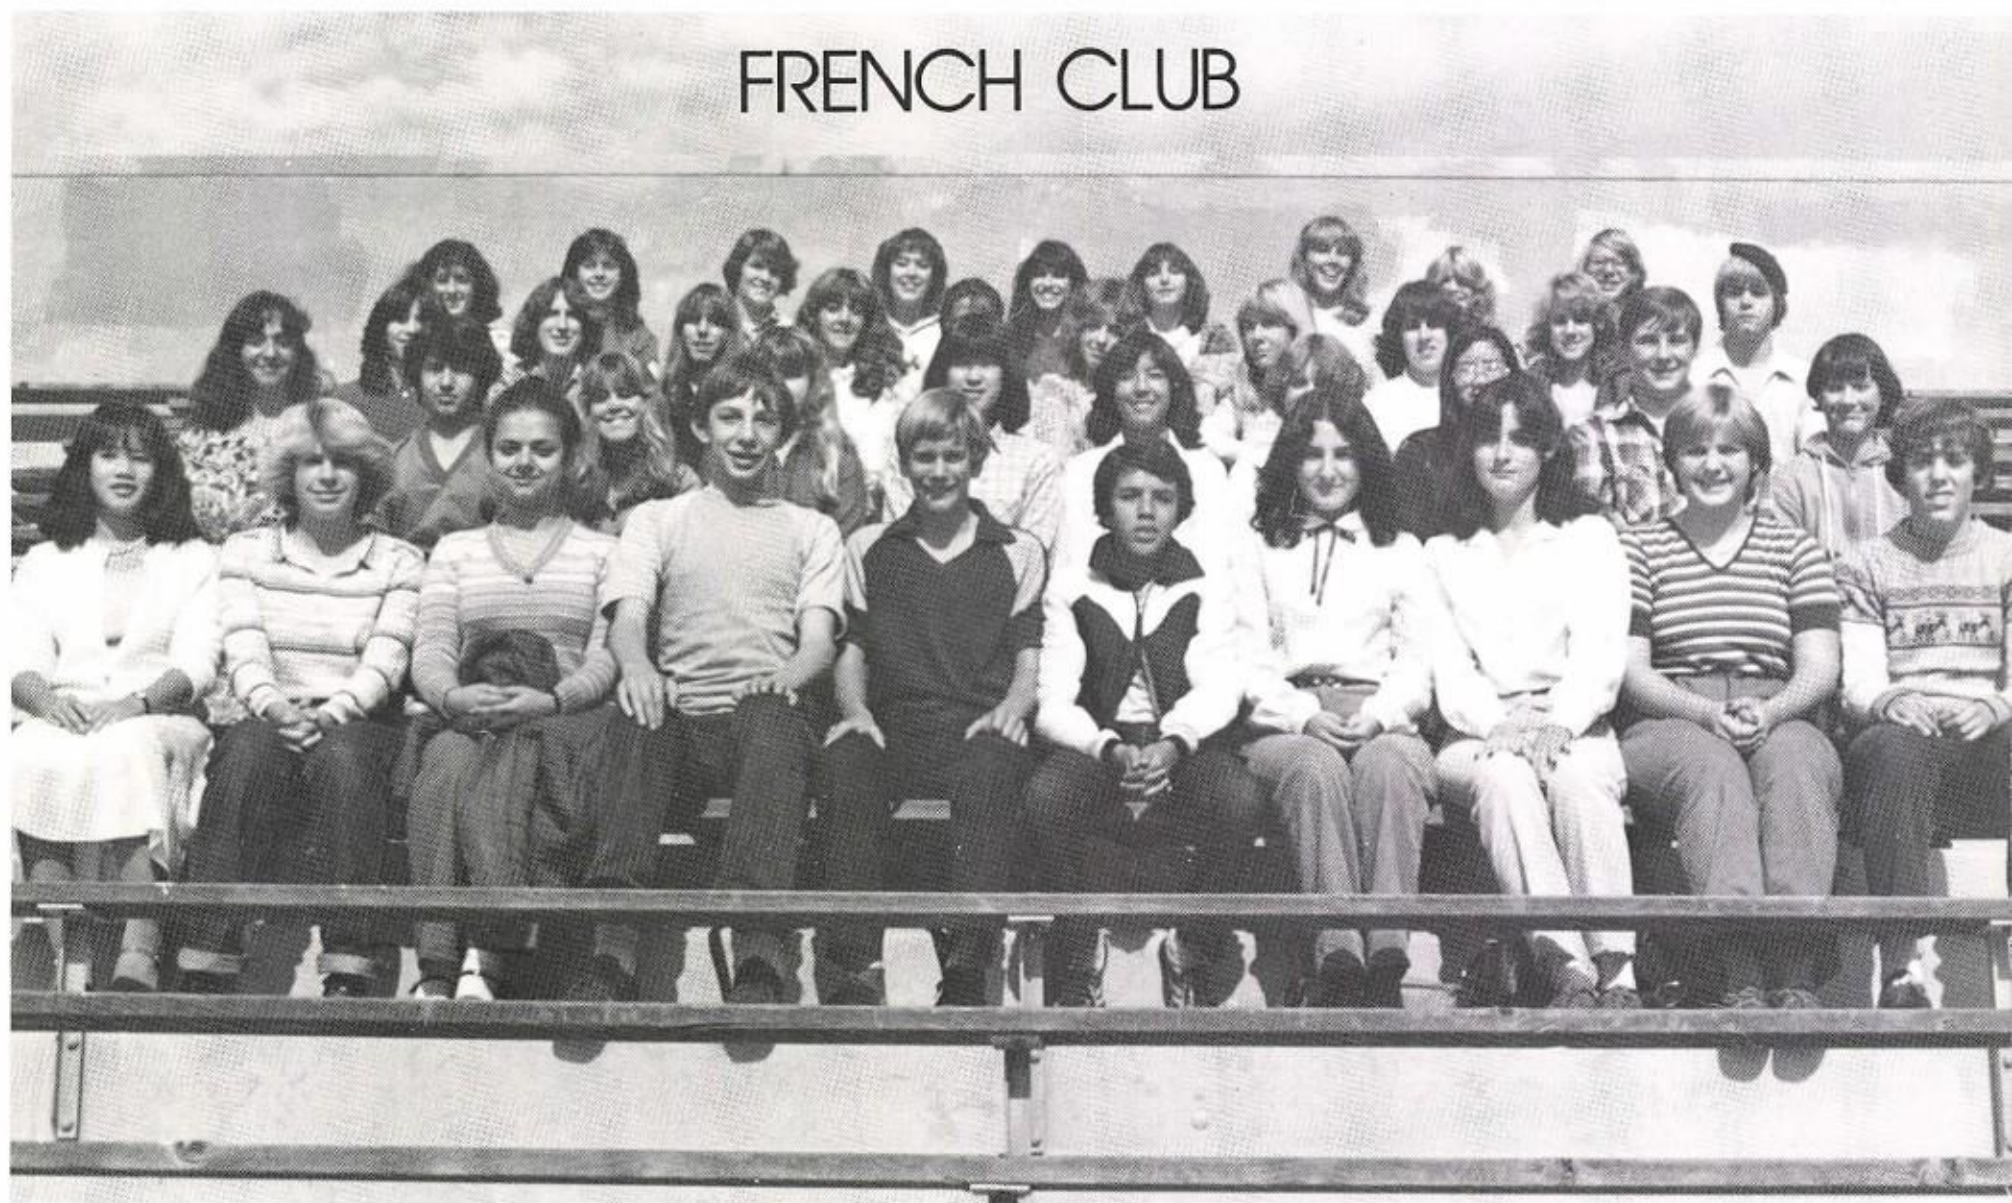

To defend a championship is nothing new to the Lynbrook Valkyries, who seek yet another national title with a young squad (twenty freshmen, oh my!). Led by a short, but powerful, Mrs. Seltz, our girls strive for perfection through discipline. Practice runs 20-30 hours a week, and not just Monday thru Friday (Weekends? What are weekends?). Long hours in uniform bring heat and hunger (no eating or drinking in uniform, girls!). Yet the friends and memories make it all worthwhile.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

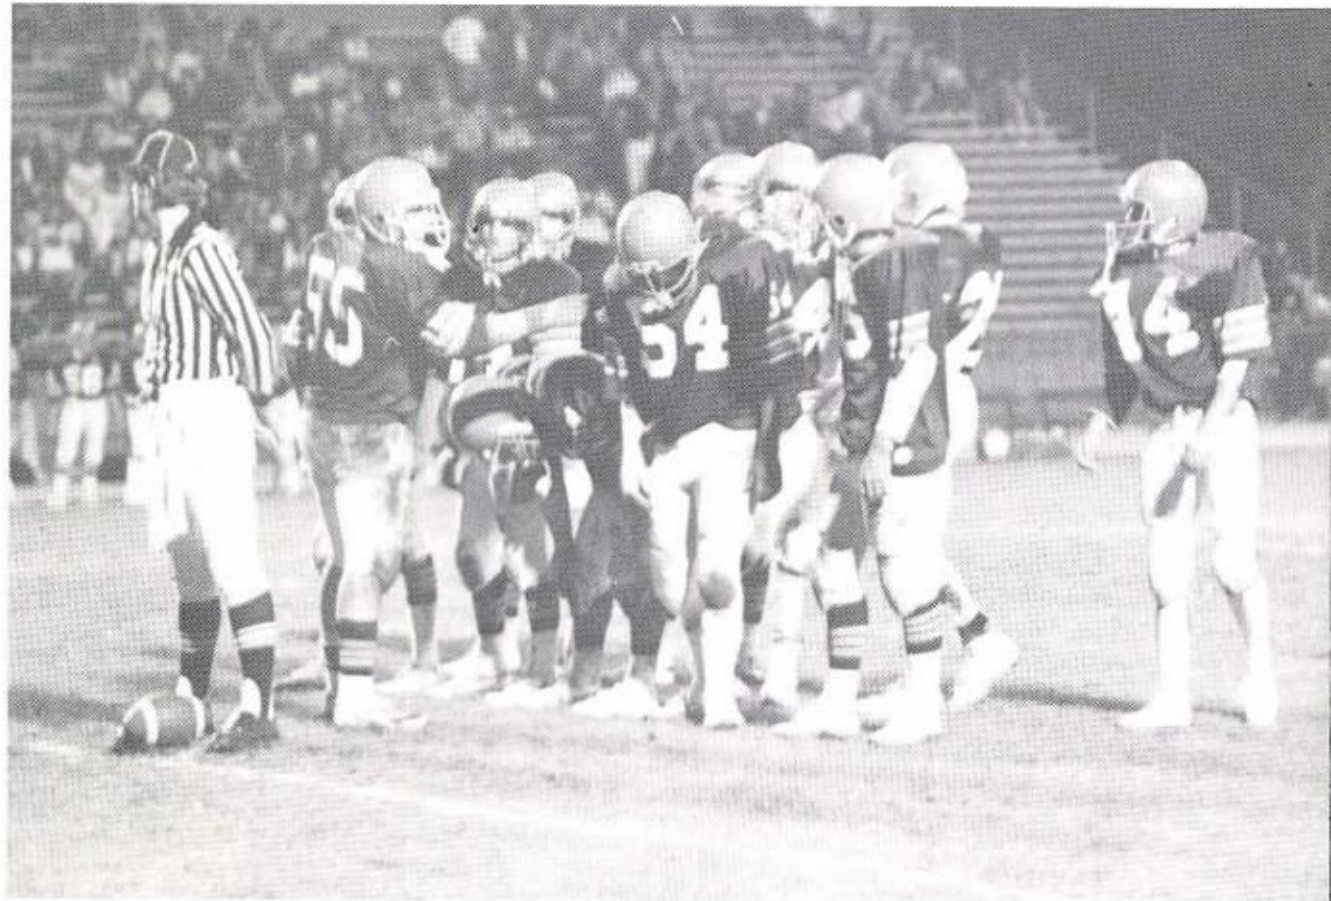

Oh, well, looks like another typical Lynbrook Varsity Football season. But wait! Up on the scoreboard! It's a win! It must be a fluke. But lo and behold—it happens again and again! What's this? A Homecoming victory!! Over Saratoga?!! Now what? The DAL Championship! You must be kidding. Yes, it's true. After those patented half-time speeches by Jerry Rockne (er, Hitchman). Bring on the Lancers (again)! The "Eggan Technique" made our Fremont victory possible. Team discipline made the Vikes go "around the goalposts" (no, the other ones!) Thanks to the "Ole 98" and the tear away "numbers" this year Lynbrook was tough to beat. Imagine that!

F/S FOOTBALL

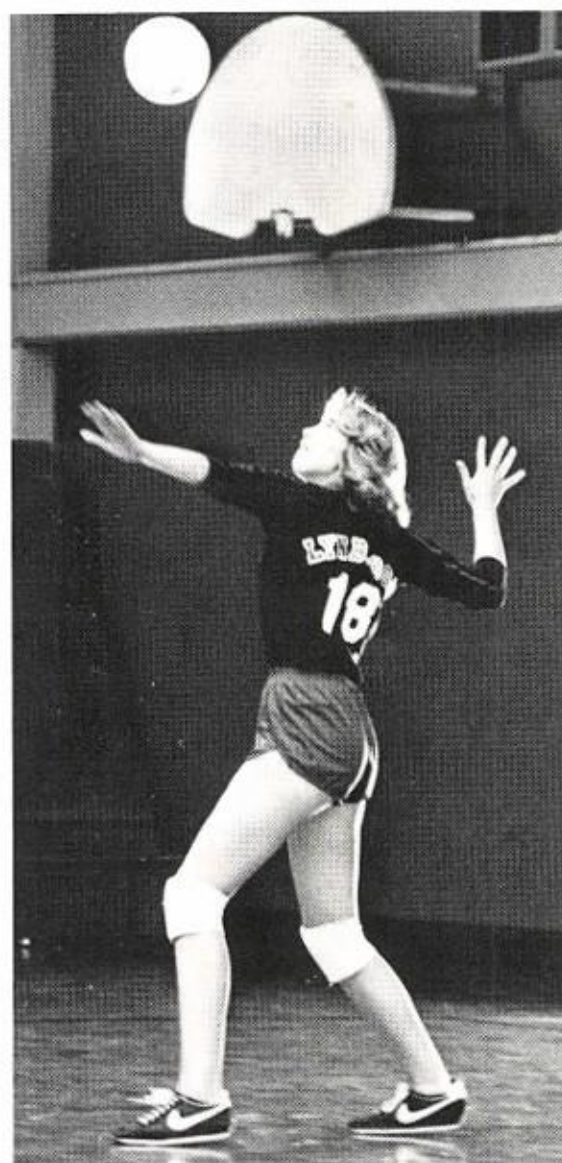

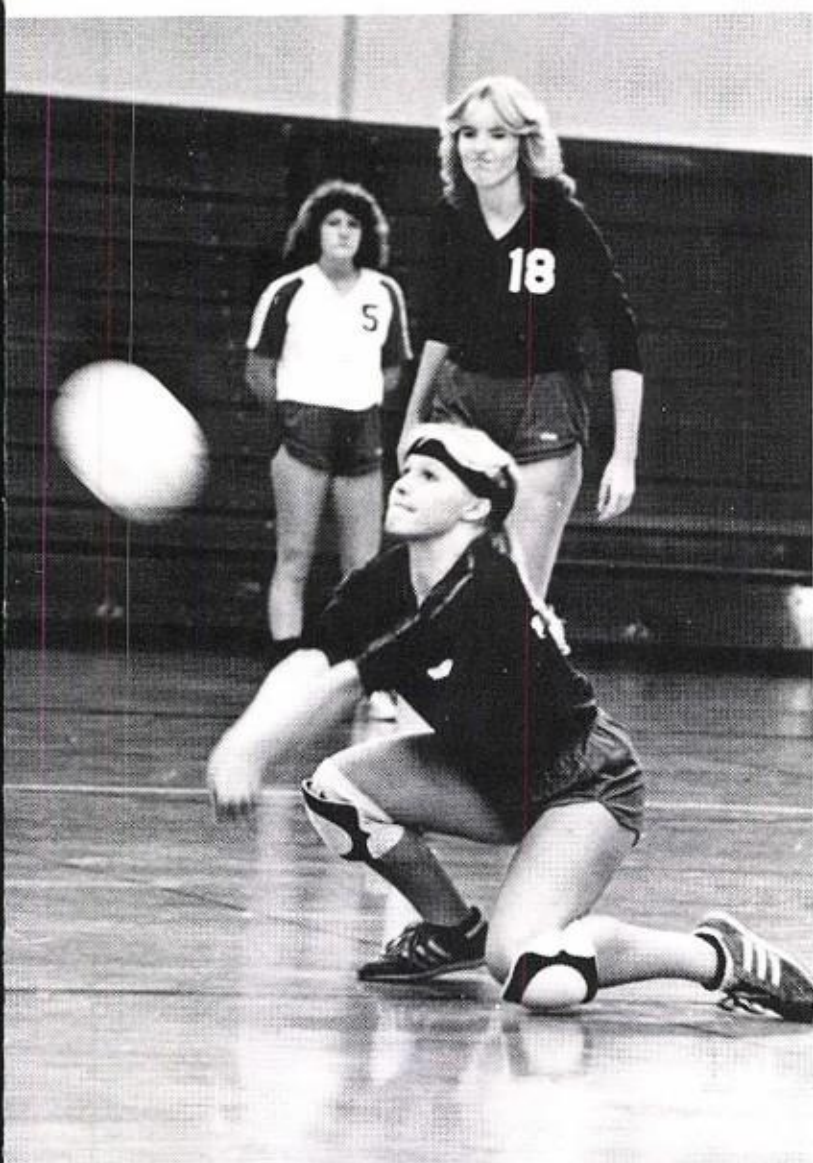

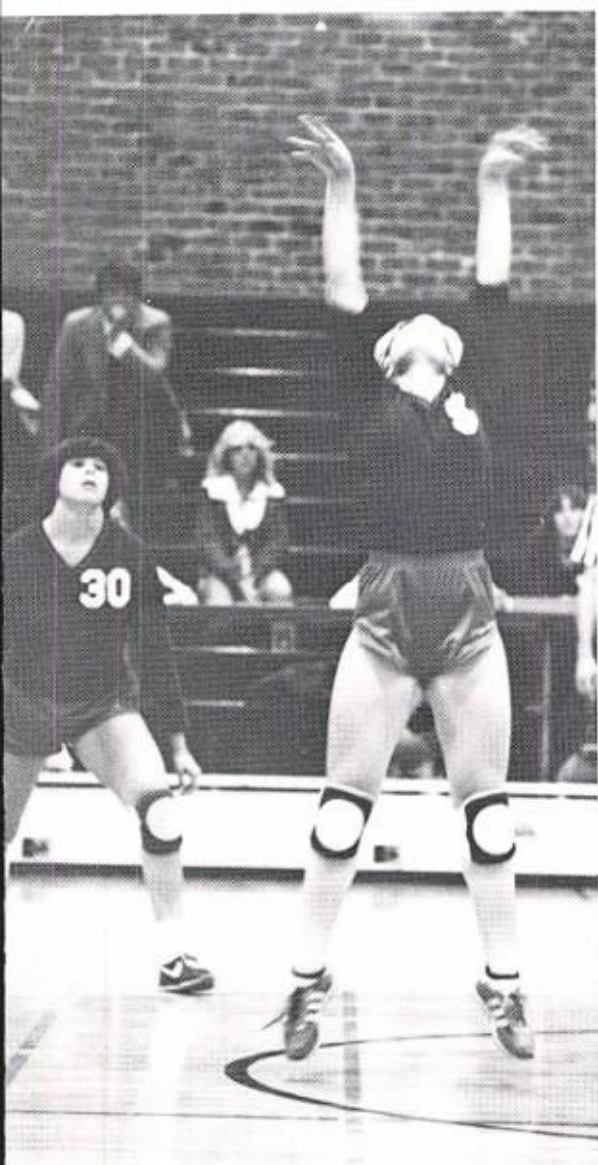

F/S football got started with a bang with new coaches and a lot of new faces. Coach Jim Rodehorst developed a winning spirit and it showed with a D.A.L. title. Of course none of this would have been possible without hard work and dedication. Blocking those dummies, crab walking, running plays three times over, and the usual death chant at the end, paid off with a winning year for our gridders.

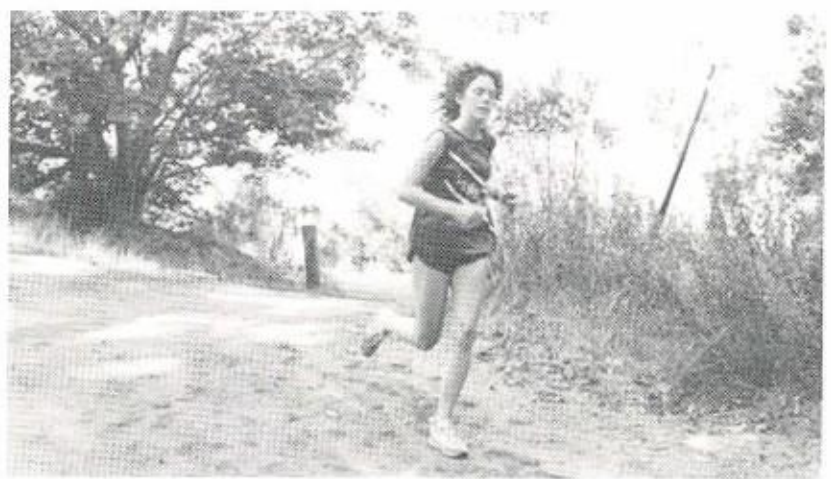

VOLLEYBALL

Believe it or not, Volleyball is yet another Cinderella Story. Popy remains tourney-tough, even when things look bad. But, as Spike knows ambidextrias rules! Right? Left? However, the Vikes couldn't top Toga, even with a native. Fremont and St. Francis proved difficult as well, though the Vikes stole a game from the Indians (Yeah!). Wilma served up a storm, but Jiggs dreamed of parties. Short S. surprised us all, yet, Tut was never feeling right. Weenie led the cheers (lets go Lynbrook!), as the Vikings rolled from San Jose to Davis and back again. Time and tempers are sometimes short, but the enthusiasm never wavered. K.A. Varsity!

CROSS COUNTRY

It was an eventful year for the Cross Country team, as the Vikes tried to take everything in stride. Intervals, greenfields, and roadwork interfered with important conversation, as coach Thornberg limited freedom of speech. This was disturbing to leader Todd Fitchen, but he had other problems, as it was increasingly difficult to warm down after meets (right Michelle?). Whether it be a run for watermelon, the trials of Crystal Springs, or the grassy knolls of x-country it was the talk of the town, just ask Verne.

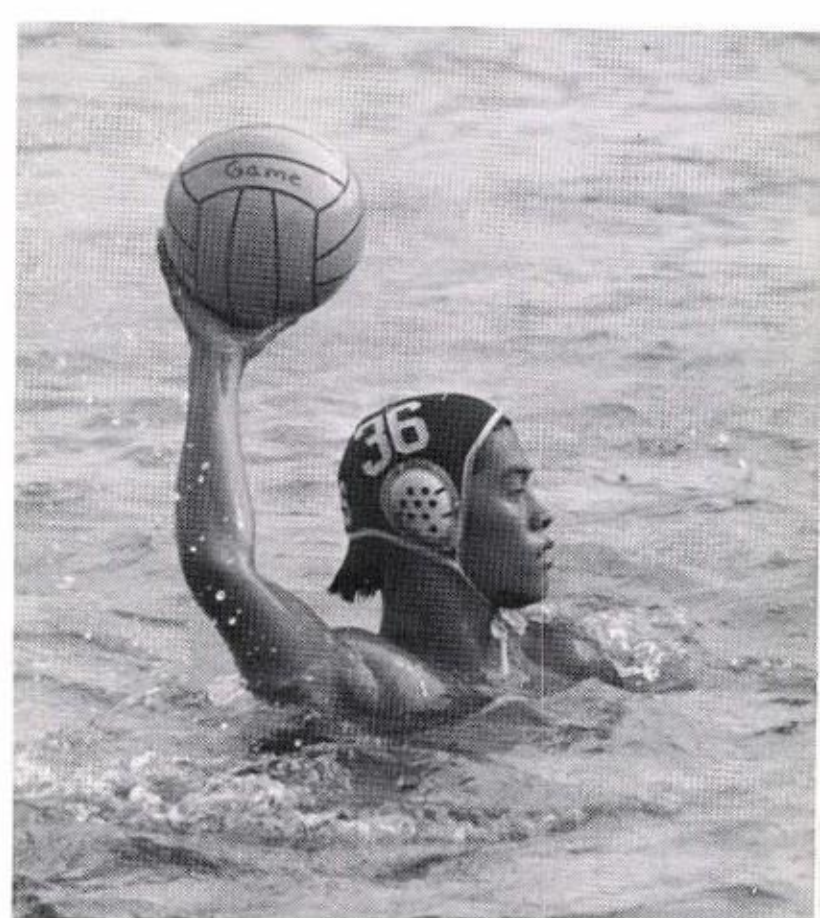

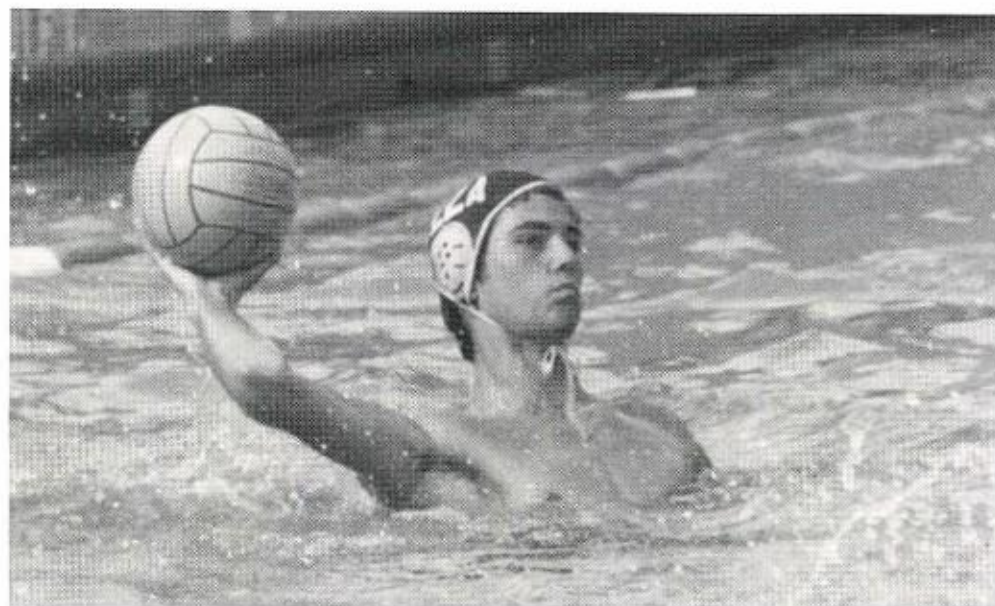

FIELD HOCKEY

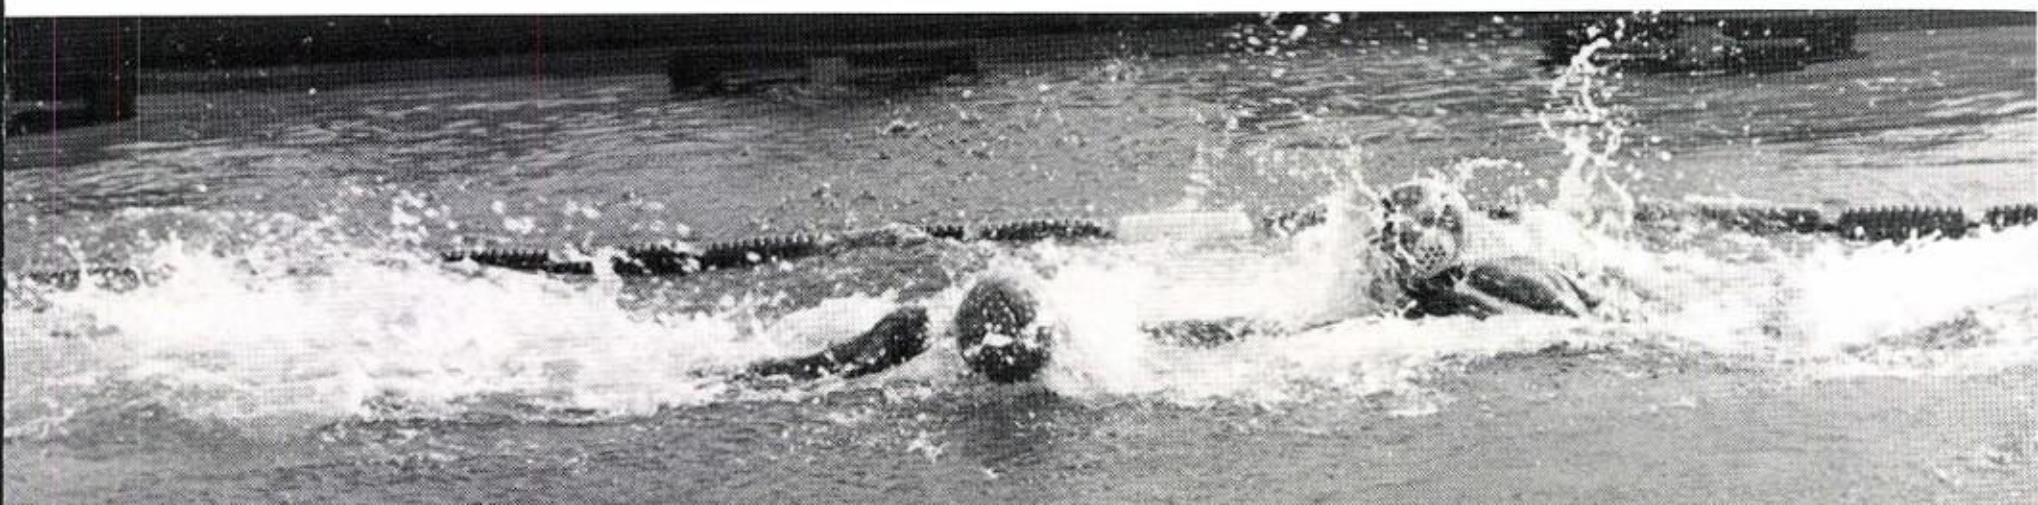

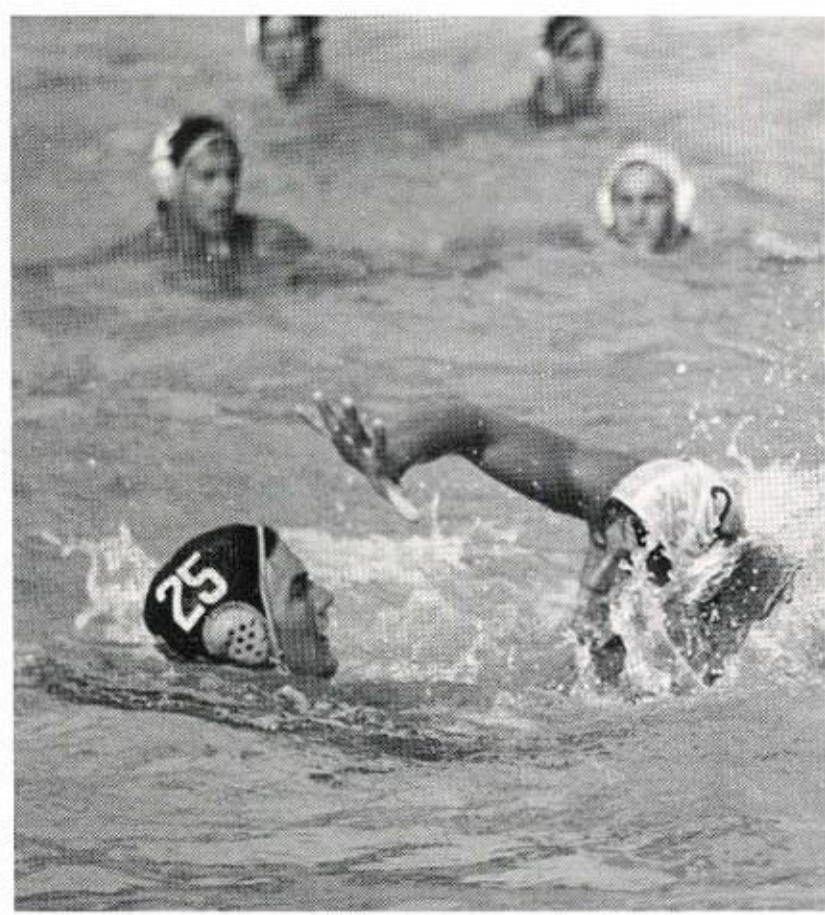

Awesome is a good way to describe the 1981-82 Field Hockey teams. The J.V.'s started with quite a few rookies (Carolyn use the flat side of the stick) but they learned quickly enough. Coached by Linda Nichols, the J.V.'s were unscored upon and took the D.A.L. championship. The varsity season was equally impressive averaging five goals a game. Winning both the Willow Glen and Sacramento tournies while going undefeated to win D.A.L. The practices took their traditional form, stretches, Stober hyperventilating, one v one (right there) and the dreaded endline. At times we found Doodie, pantsing, Stacy lying on the field, just kidding, Forbey ready set (you bet), Frit Frews, and hockey coneheads ready to perform. Even though the season's min-its flew by, we still found time to beat M.V. and to defend the title of C.C.S. champs! Hmm Hmm Hmm Win!! (Boom Chuga Luga) RAH!

WATER POLO

Fun is the name of the game in Water Polo. It has to be if you are going to get up at five in the morning and hop in the water (It was 72 degrees one day - that's too cold!). Then, when you have to practice in the afternoon, you really have to love it. But the guys had a lot of fun, lead by All-Americans (?) Bob Wu and Kevin Cavanaugh (If they are really All Americans, how come we sank in DAL?). From speedo's to boxers our gang was always dressed for the occasion. Perhaps their time has not yet come, for youth is their strength, and wet dreams were their reality.

GIRLS SWIMMING

If you think Girls Swimming is lounging around the pool, you never went to a five a.m. practice. Nor were you to attend a three hour afternoon workout everyday after school. Yes, even girls have to learn discipline. When Indiana Jones, their fearless leader, was not around (Barney's motorcycle had problems), team captains Omar and Schlegal Bagle tried to take control. Such was an easy task, especially trying to tame "Hell on Wheels." Yet the season went along swimmingly, and no problems as long as beans and spaghetti were served each evening. All in all, a pretty sound year for the LHS fishies, who plan to love Harrison Ford forever.

GIRLS TENNIS

They had a ball this year, as Girls Tennis fought foul wind and Fall weather trying to play the game. Lindly Hsu remained #1, ending a prestigious career at Lynbrook by leading the Varsity to a third place finish. Mia Begin provided good support as she remained undefeated through DAL. Such success eluded the J.V.'s, though they managed well against Tino, a school without a team. Fro Yo's soothed setbacks and practice grind, as the Vikes remained a team.

WINTER

CHRISTMAS BALL

The Winter Formal (alias Christmas Ball) was quite an affair. An evening of celebrity and pomp, this year's version was a success, no matter what the name. The night was certain to be legendary, as the band of a similar name was on the schedule. Marriott's provided a proper setting, as the layout was first class (free drinks, soft of course). The highlight of the evening came as Denise Ekroos was crowned queen of the ball. The court consisted of Pascale Mardrossian, Karen Murphy, Kendra Vanslow, Lisa Parker, and Michelle Seck. An environment of class (main course: prime rib) met the high expectations of the Lynbrook students, as the night became one to remember.

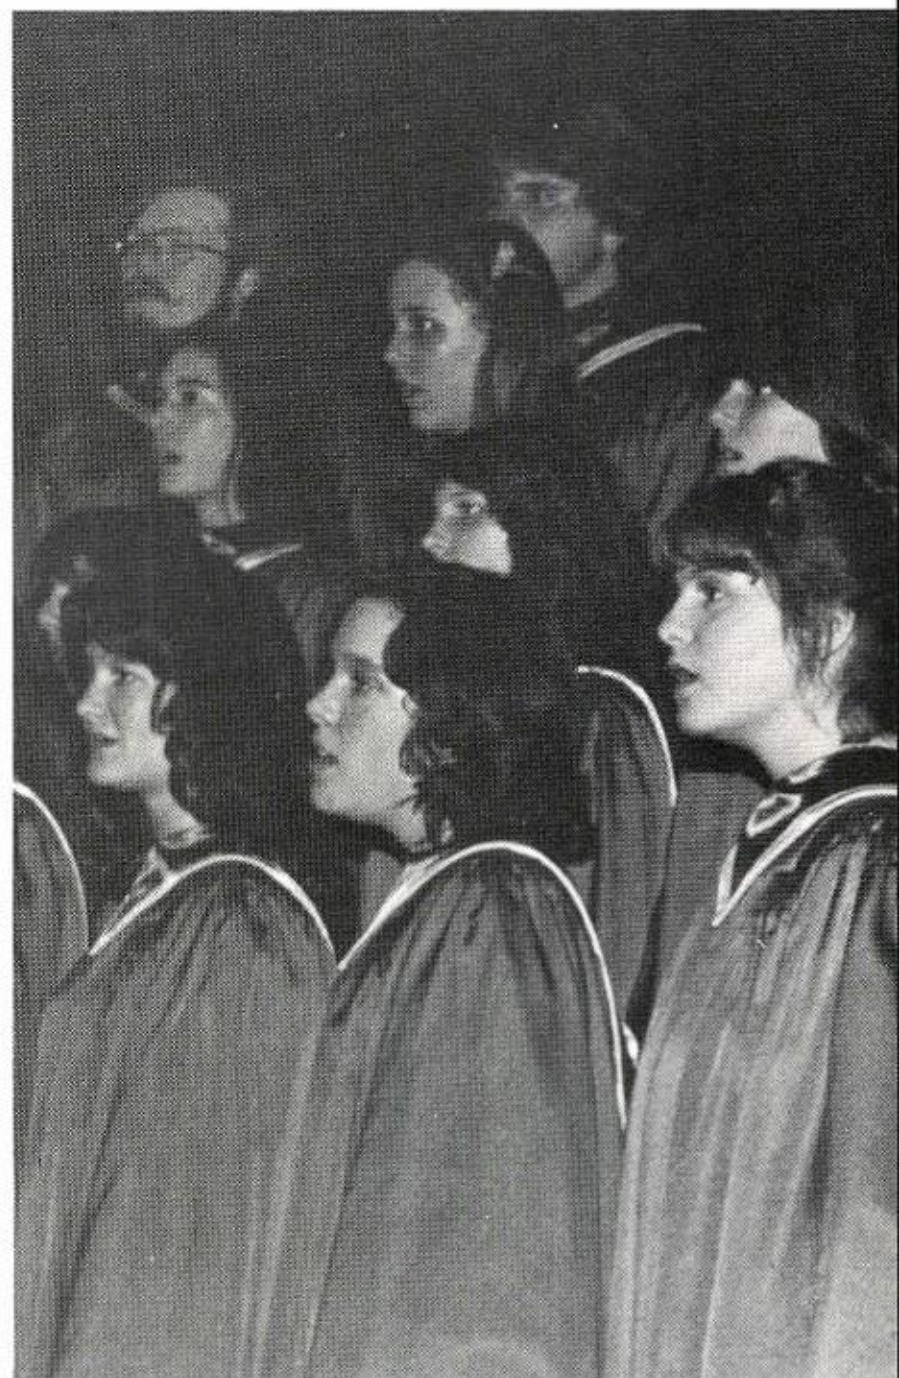

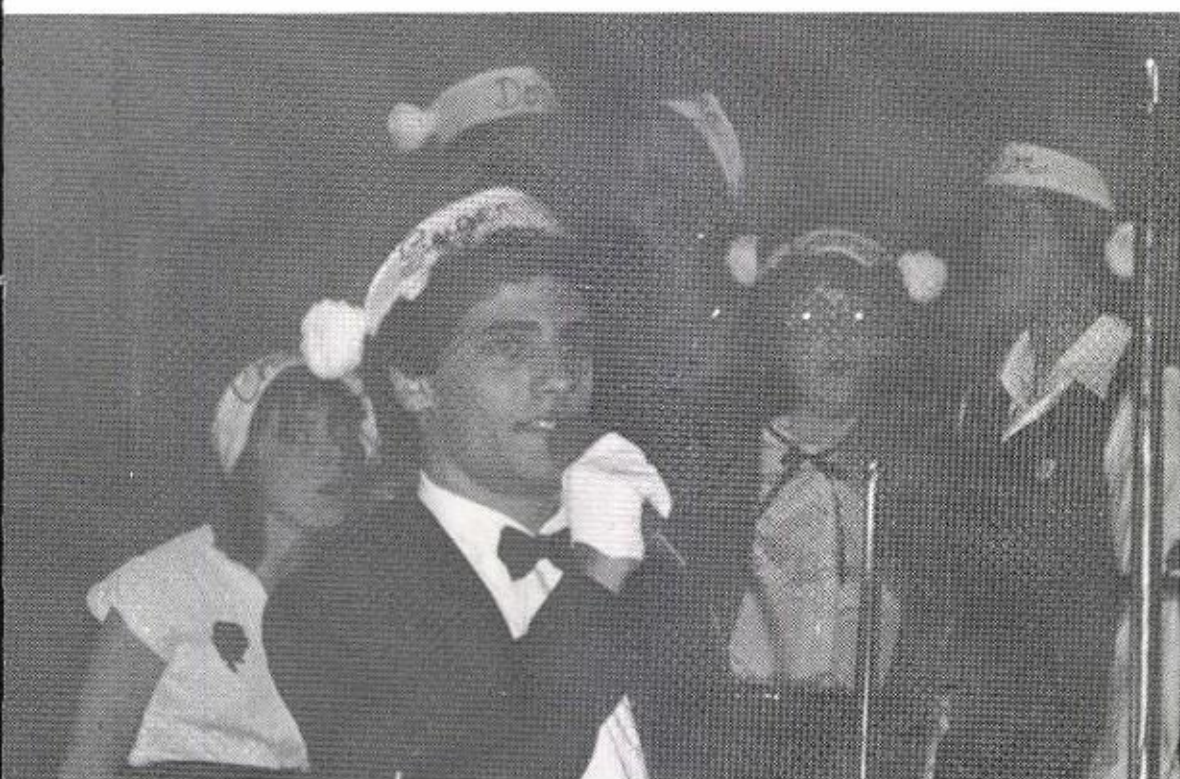

CHRISTMAS CONCERT

A standing room only audience was treated to this year's edition of the Christmas Concert. The Jazz Choir was a big hit, as Mrs. Vidt's corps entered with candles in hand and departed with a standing ovation. The stage was filled as the Hallelujah Choir (Lynbrook students) came together for the first and last time. The orchestra received high "Marks" as even those in the isles had a great time.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Come join the band! Mr. Marks led the band to a banner season of classical music. Practice was trying, as it is difficult to tune up in the mornings. There were times of tried patience as it is difficult to keep a good band down (Silence, Silence!). But the concerts made up for the hours of practice, as their previous efforts culminated into perfection. Viking pride, other than the slogan used by the football team, was personified by the A&B band, and that marvelous orchestra. It is difficult to imagine a better group of musicians.

CHOIR

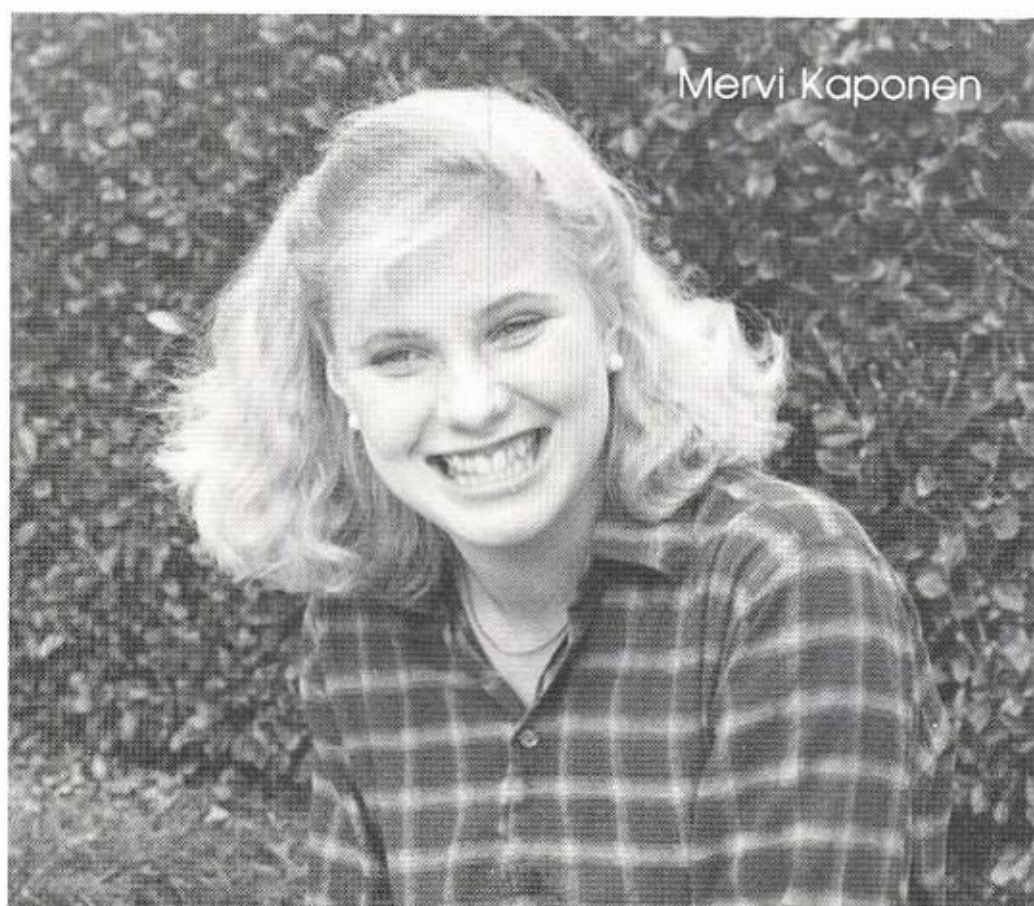

Life in the choir was not a solo one, as four different families developed. The concert choir was quite an affair, as the sopranos clang to their toothpicks, Cheri and Karen exchanging gifts, and the "Ding Dong Ding" warm ups. And how could the girls forget the "Bun Book?" (featuring our bass section). The jazz choir was a more sophisticated group, led by example Kari (Do you always drink tea?). However they had their screw offs as well (John and Don, Mark and Raul). The girls choir was a rough lot, who enjoyed a good hiccup. Donna refused to leave Andrea alone, and Becky and Jean refused to sing solo. There was the beginning choir as well, who seriously tried to make the best of it. They all combined to make this years choir the top of the list.

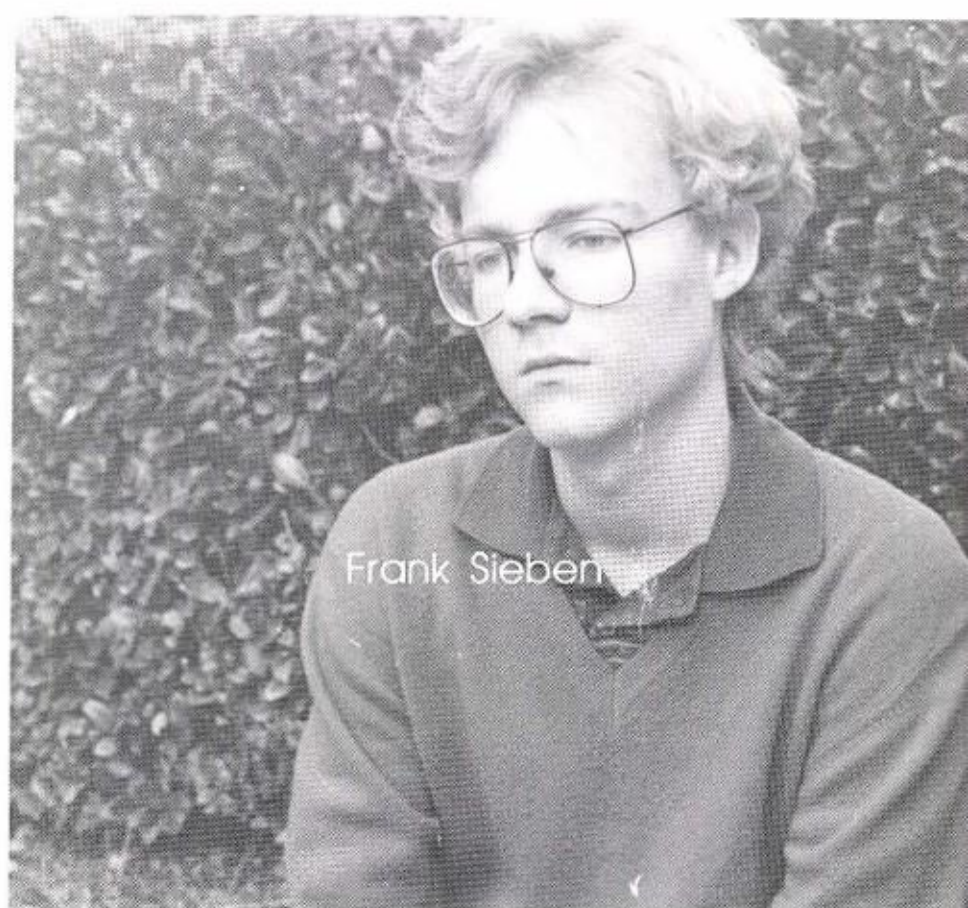

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

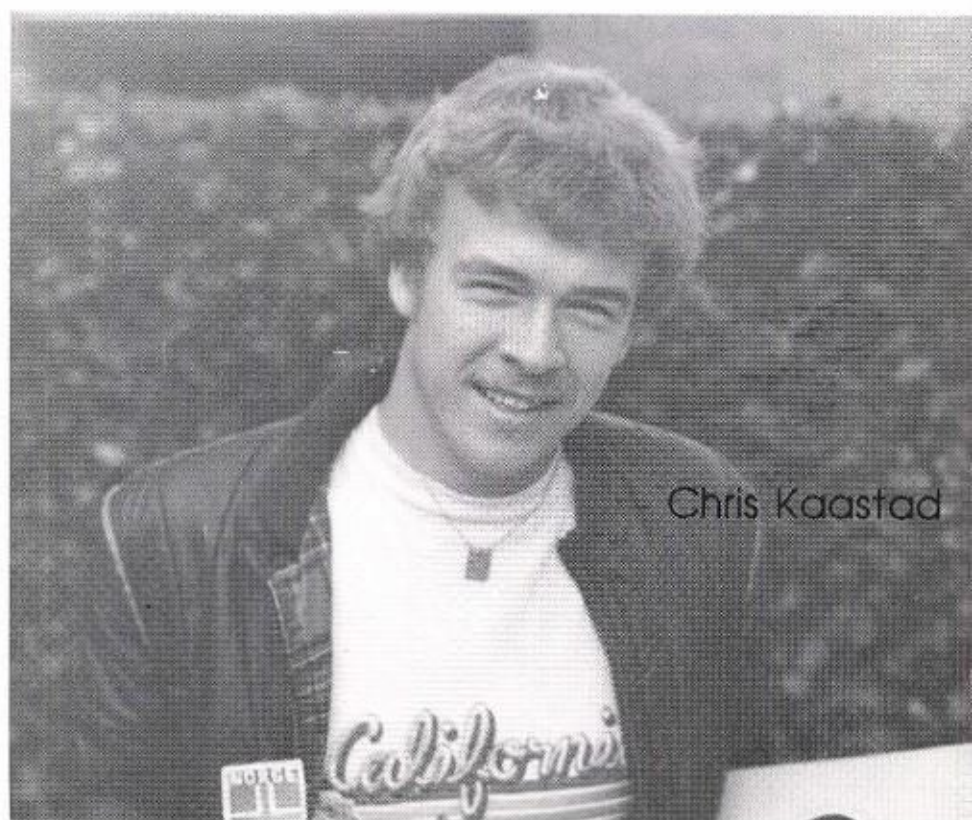

Mervi Kaponen

Frank Sieben

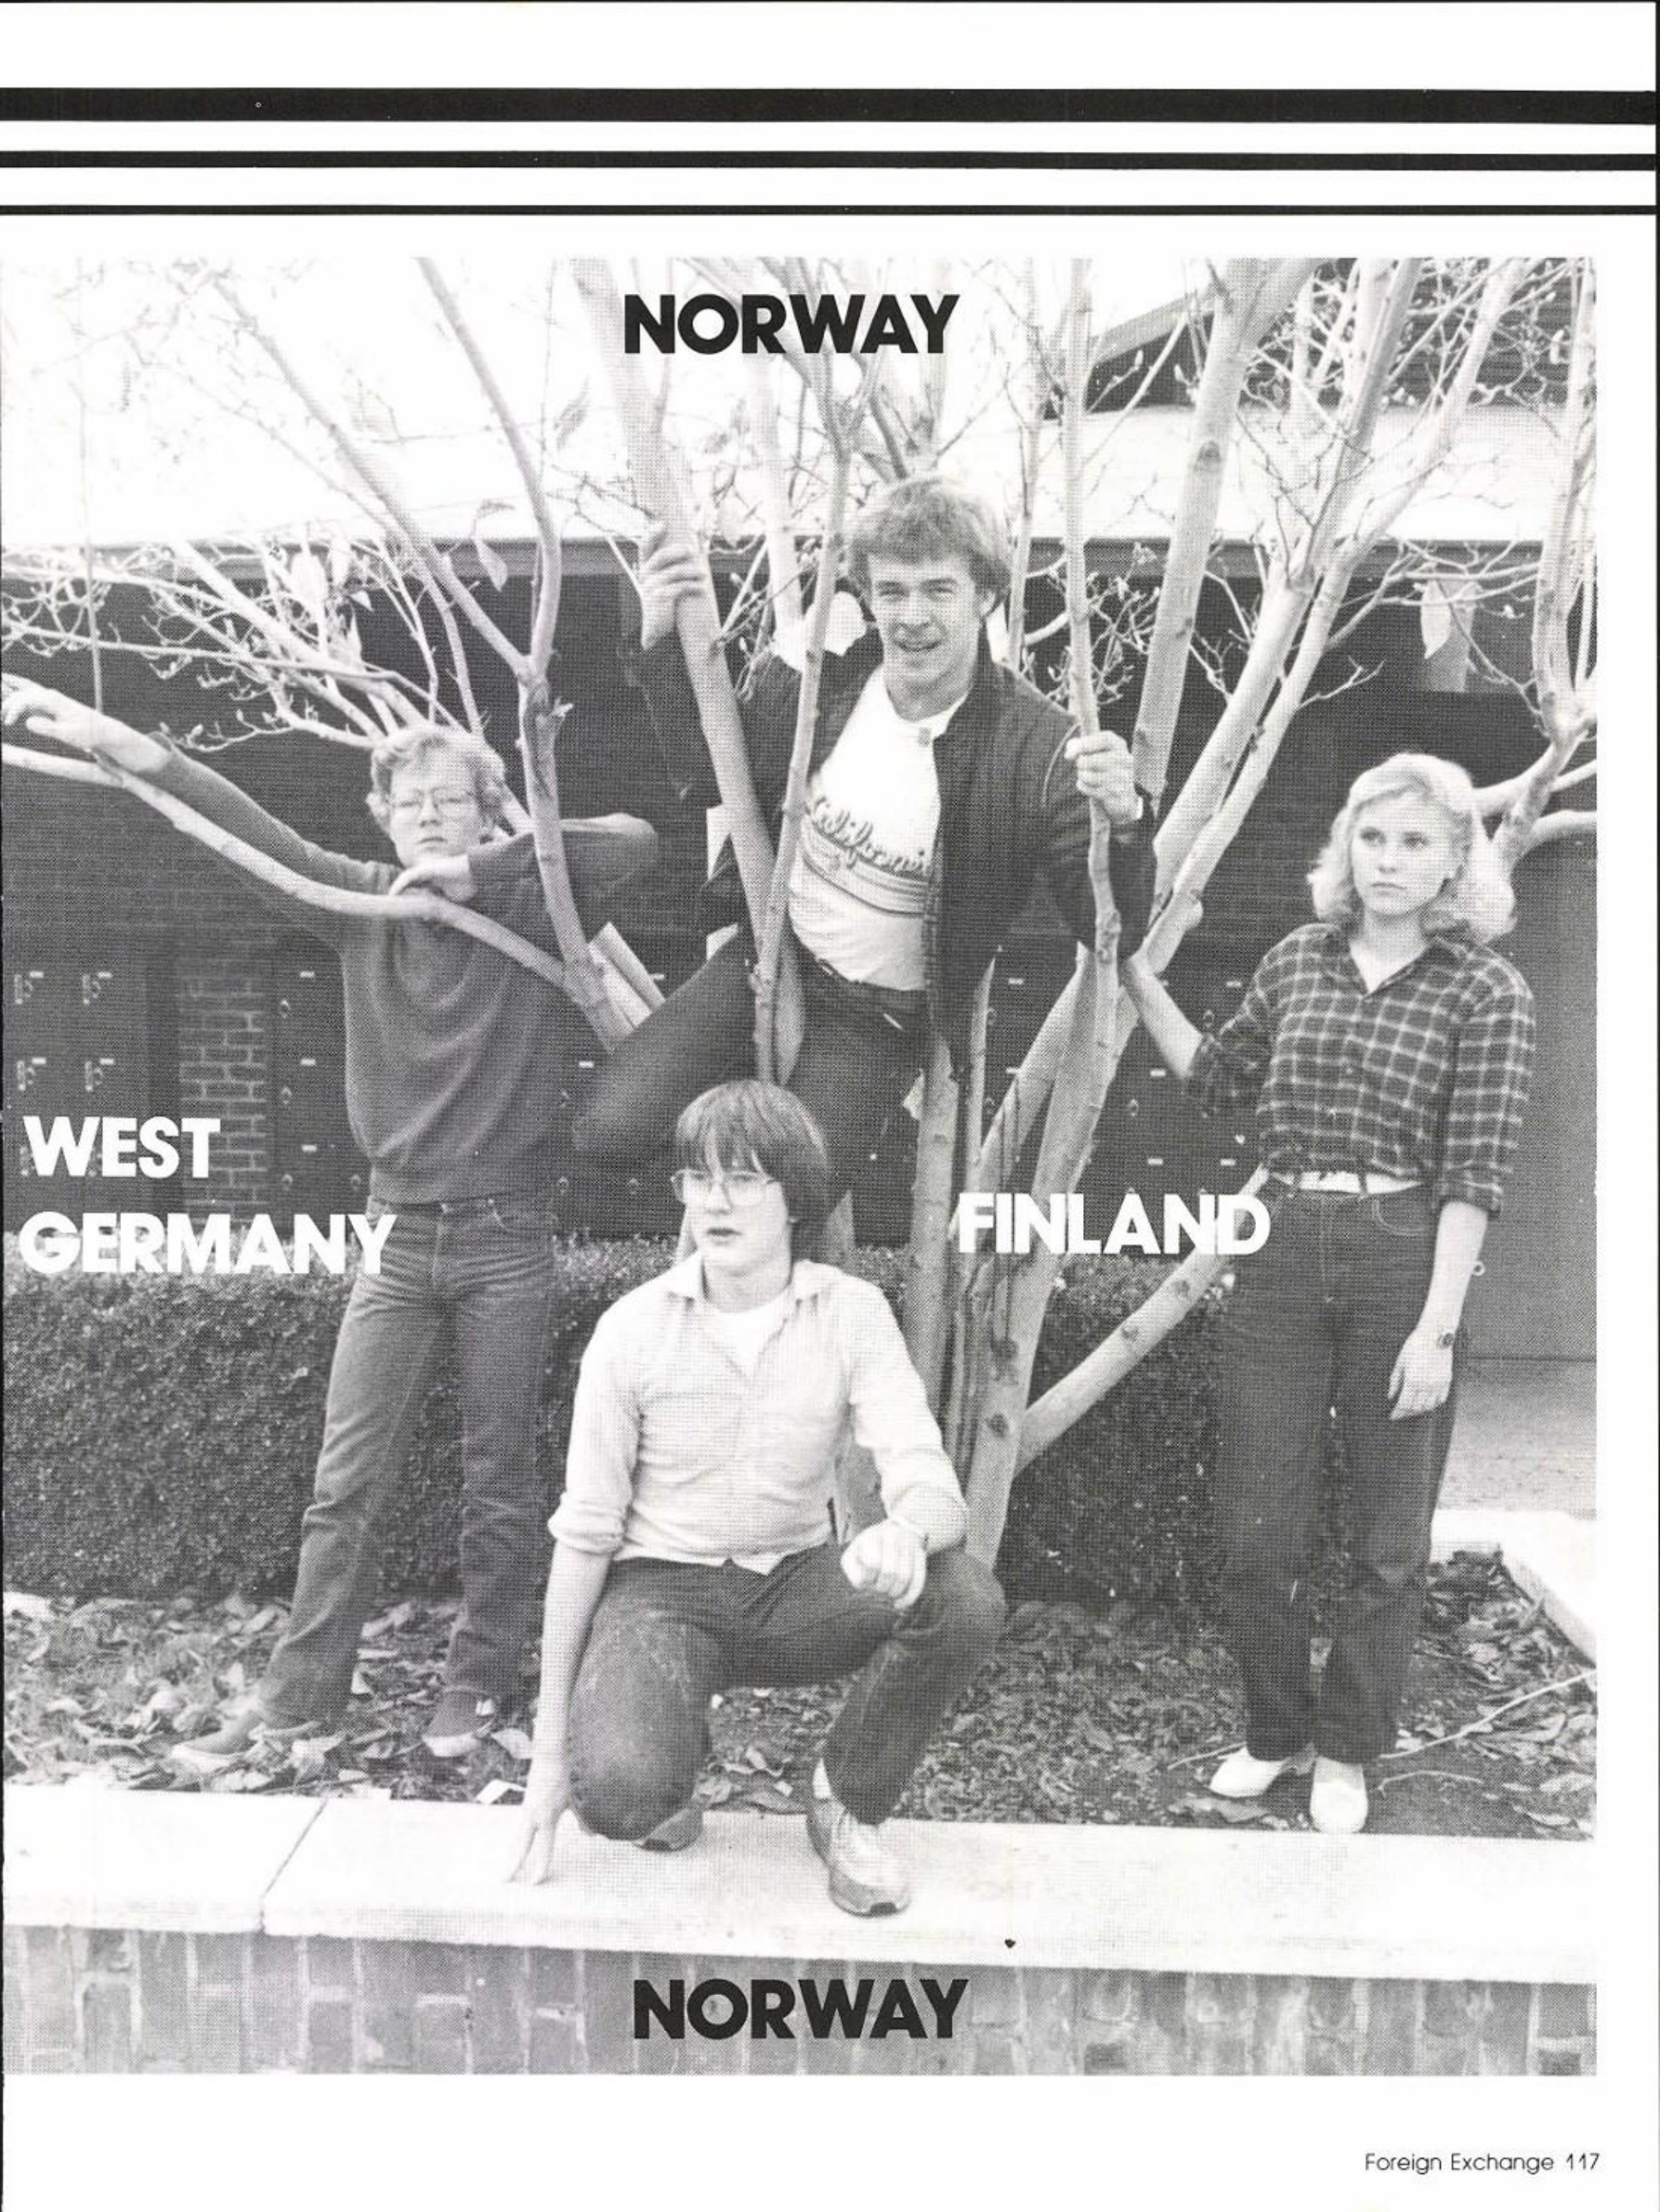

Ivar Nergaard

Chris Kaastad

A change in lifestyle, that's the most exciting part of Foreign Exchange. Almost always there are problems with adjustment, although Frank insists the Milstead home made the barriers disappear. Imagine moving to a new land and leaving all your friends behind. One can really appreciate home after you have been away for awhile (Just ask Chris or Ivar). It takes time to get to know your new family, and it is rough to find new friends in the short one year stay. But the experience is well worth it, as many myths about the United States are proven untrue. California, though, is quite an advanced land ("it's a place for your people with a lot of money"). The time spent here will be well remembered, as one could not imagine a better place to exchange to.

NORWAY

WEST GERMANY

FINLAND

NORWAY

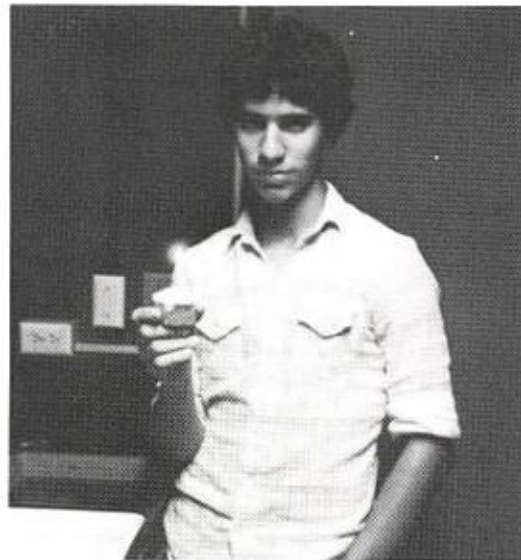

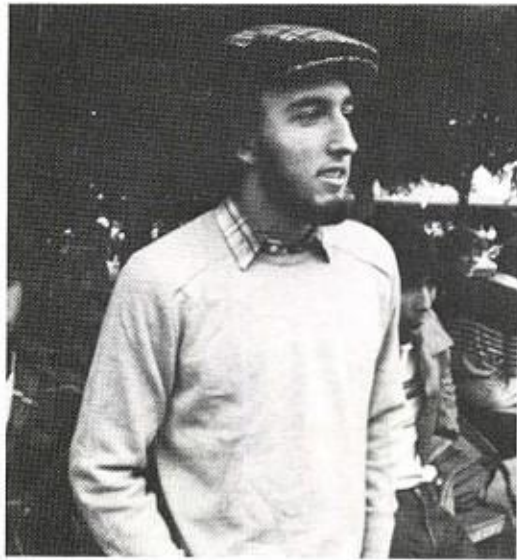

Led by Wonder Girl (I wonder if she'll show up?), the 1981-82 Epic continued the tradition of last minute paste-up. Staffers fought long hours and well-motivated custodians to get the paper to press. Ben and Lisa provided editorial comments, right at the deadline. Friendly photographers Deev and Mike received photo requests for past events, and often came through with pictures (how did they do it?). The sports department was crazed, as Trish and J.D. wrote most of the stories, sometimes right at the typesetter. Only Irene and Toni seemed under control, as they finished well before anyone else. Felicia handled the business aspects, despite publication changes and a flock of ads. Melanie was always in the spotlight, as Kathy covered the JV's with a flair. Frank, Jackie, and Kelley rounded out a fine group, as "Mamma G" kept everyone in line. Whether it be the Kaiser Building or the Auditorium, the Epic covered all bases and produced top-notch reporting, as always.

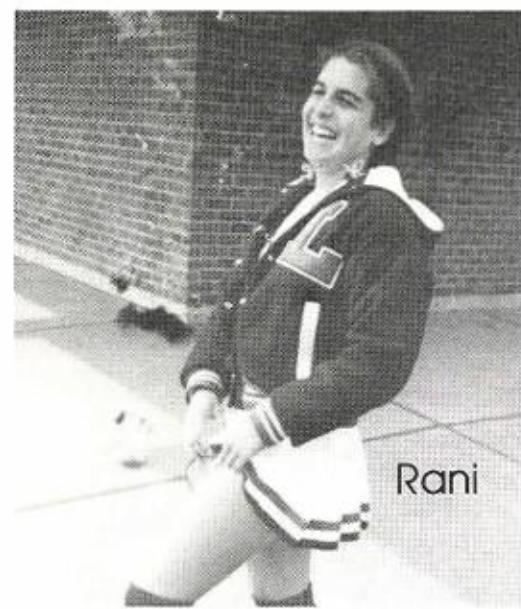

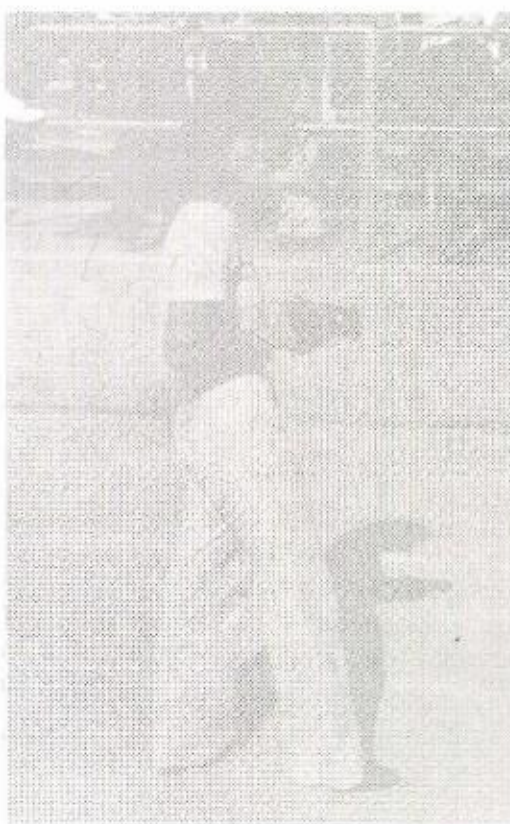

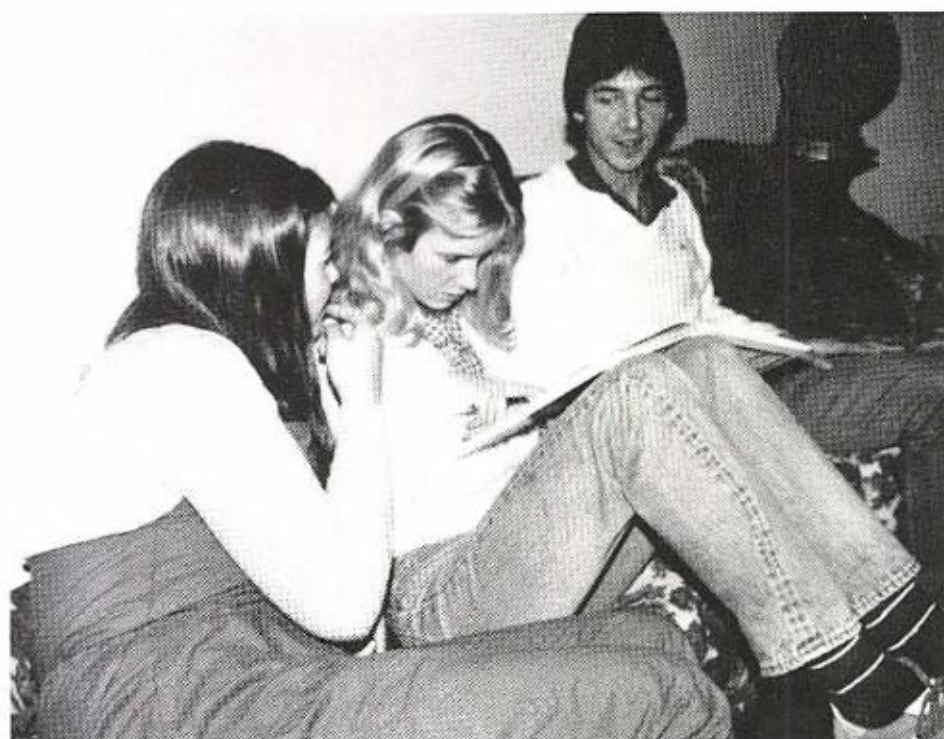

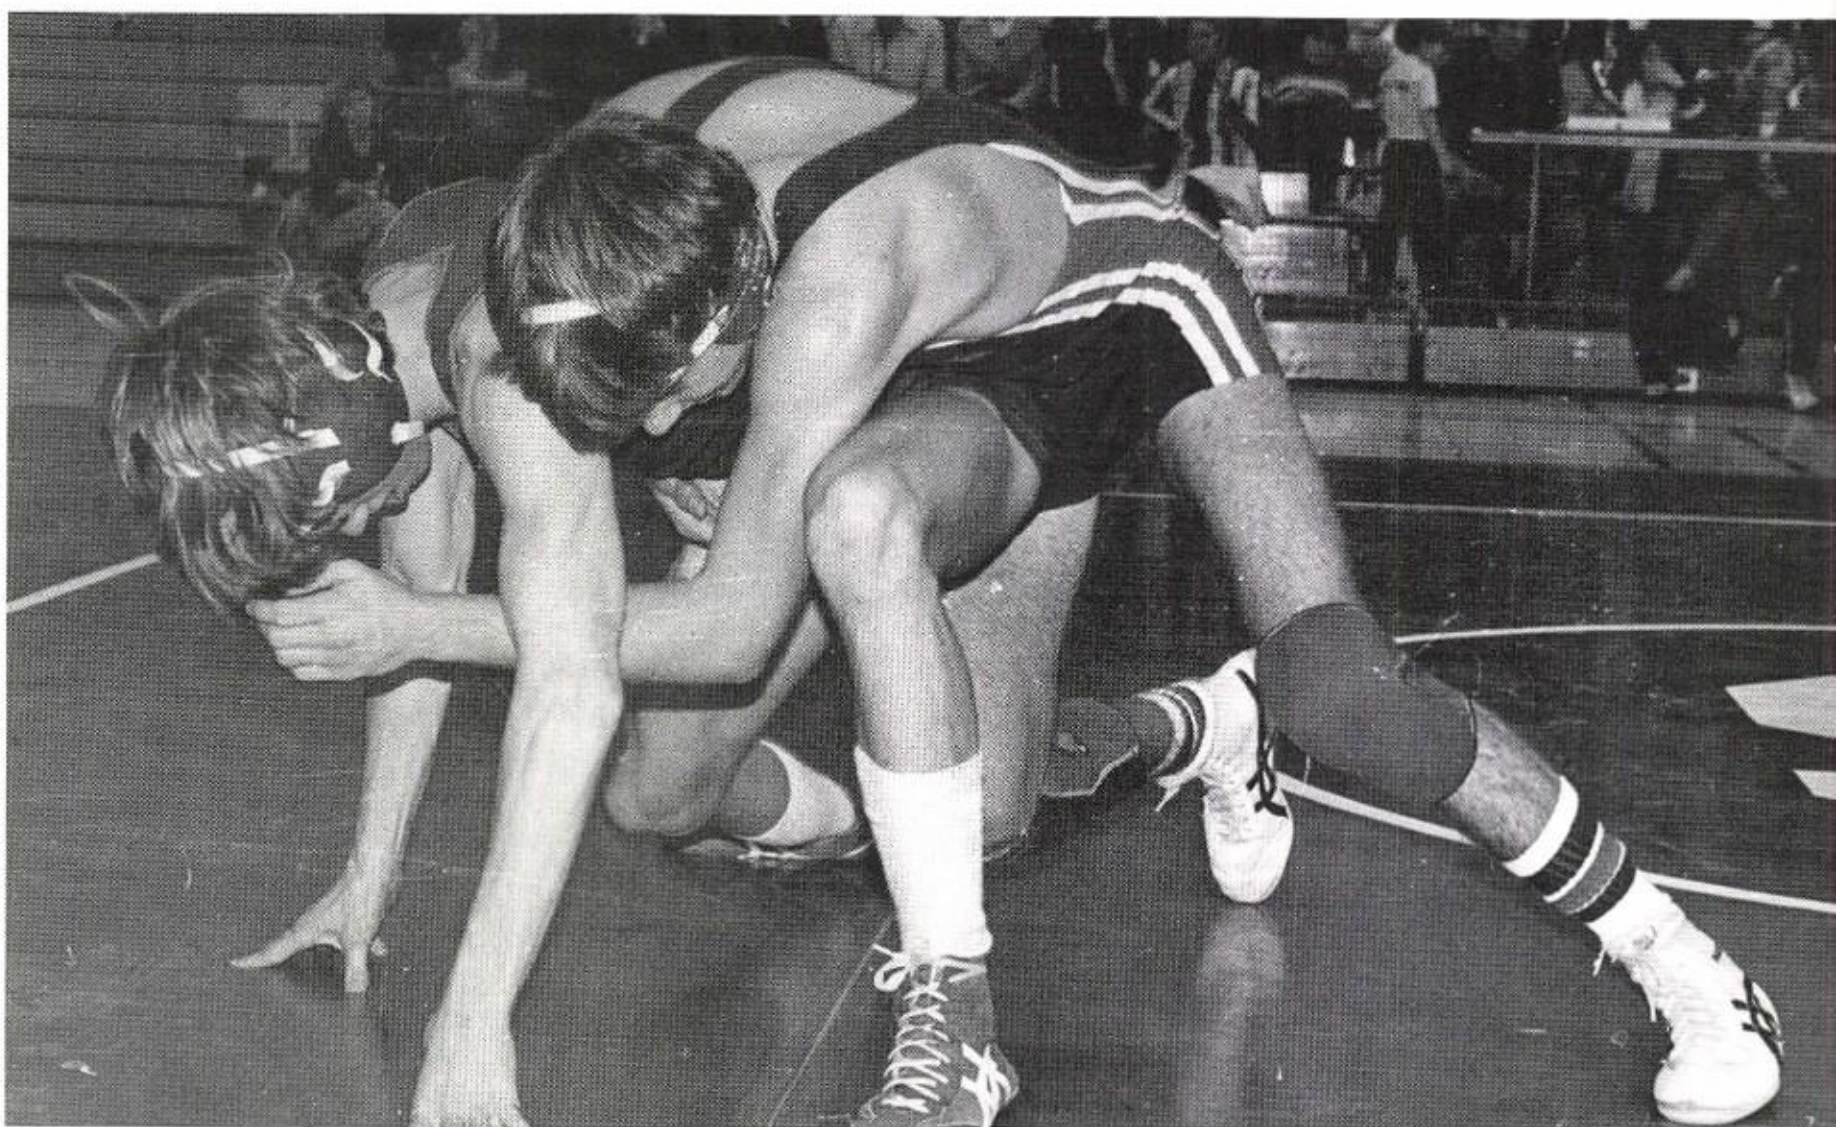

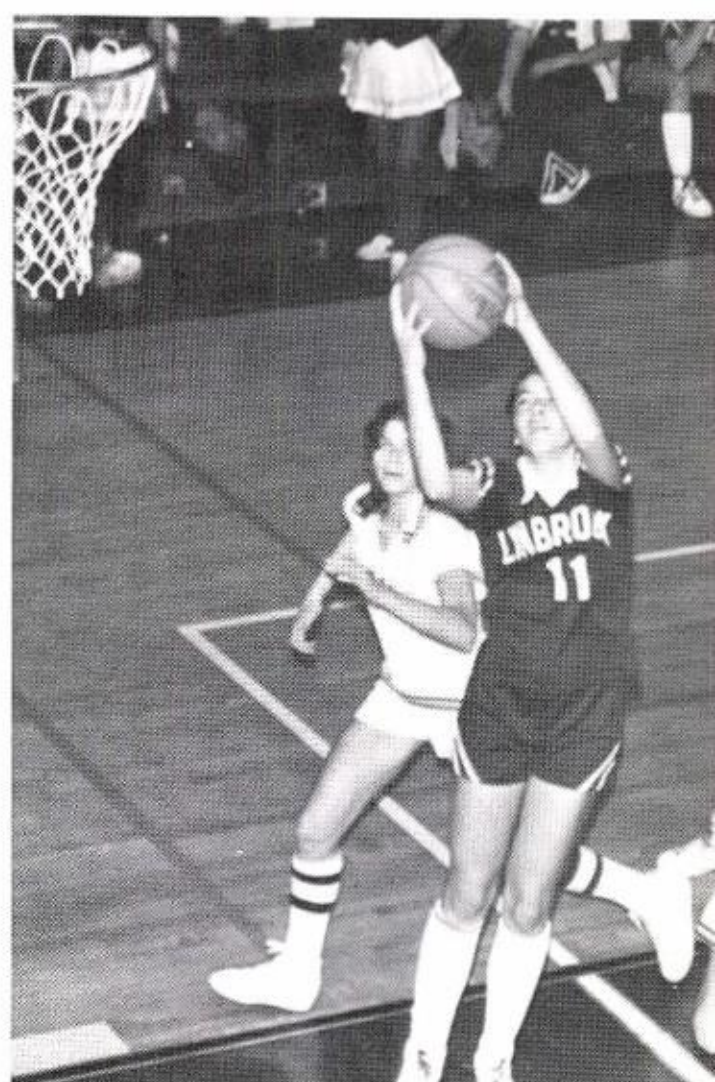

VALHALLA '82

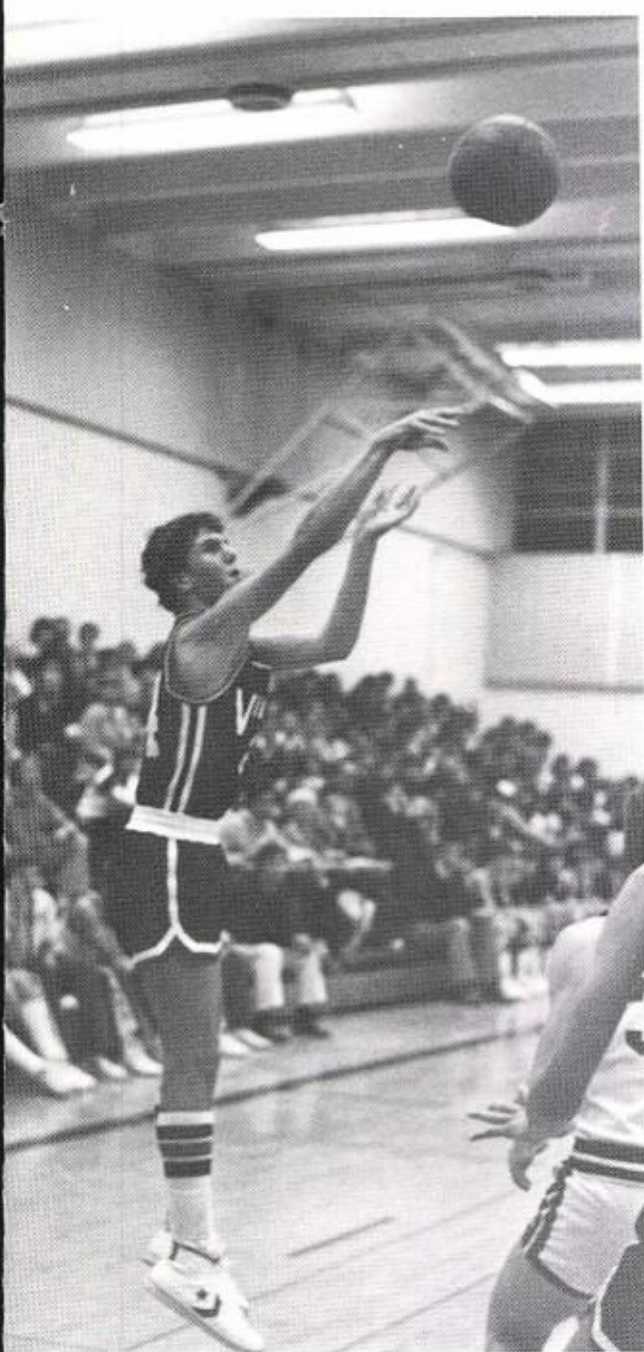

At the outset of the year, with a new Chairman and new President, Valhalla Inc. seemed lost. Corporate photographs were ambiguous and small, but there were plenty of them (right Richard F. ?). The photographic department was sensitive to criticism, and the V.P. in charge of production had to juggle with outside interests (V-Ball) and a new authority. The Executive V.P. (systems analysis) was so detained by other Presidential commitments that he resigned his commission to concentrate on his Valhalla duties. Luckily the President and Personnel V.P. were third year employees, so they knew what to do (Good job K.L. and C.D.). The Accounting Supervisor, Sakae Shaw, kept the company a step ahead of banking interests, despite the disappearance of advertising men. Tom and Jigs handled Corporate Recreation, and followed the rules of Title IX to a "T". The Chairperson of Activities traveled to the Far East to compare customs and efficiency. Kathy did wonders on the board of trustees (Pitman, Reed, etc. . .) and DeAnn split the extremes of Dave and Todd. Sophomores did their part, although Elaine and Julie took a leave of absence the second semester. Davy Avy chipped in his photo experience, as well as needed quad-pac refreshments. Perhaps the year went to fast, but just as Jefe the philosopher said, "it was just as we imagined."

WINTER SPORTS

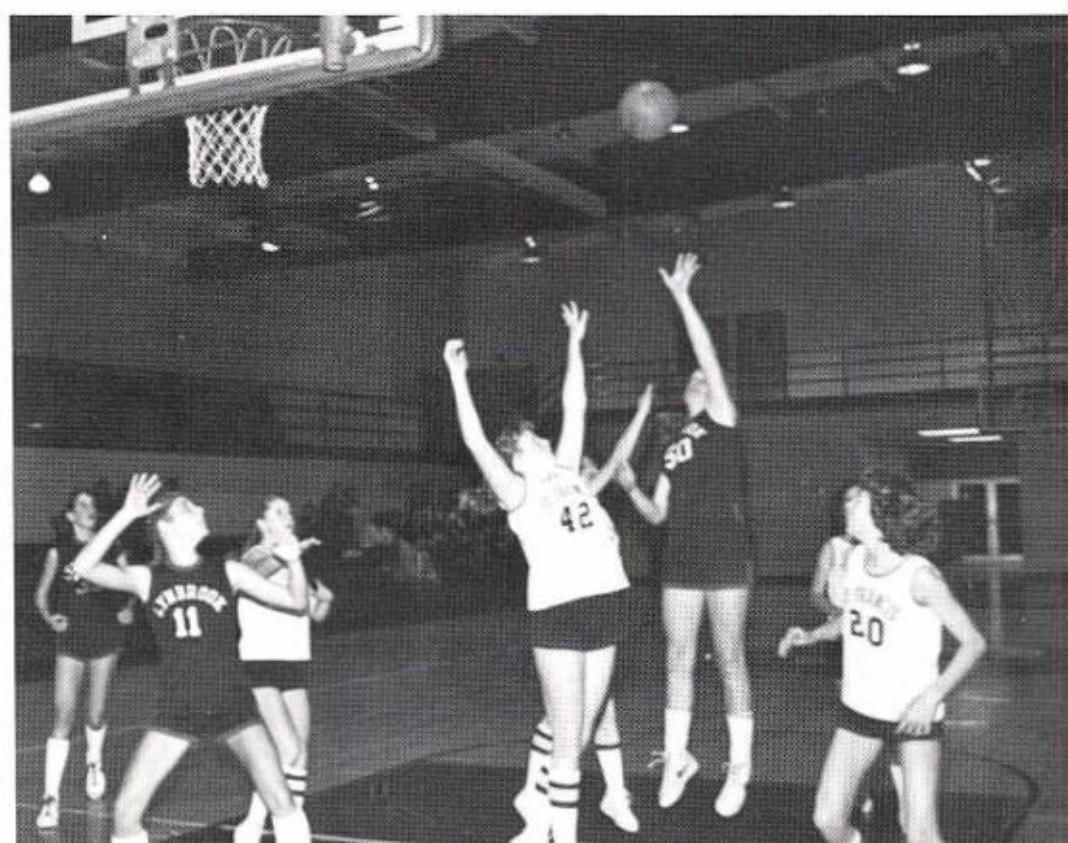

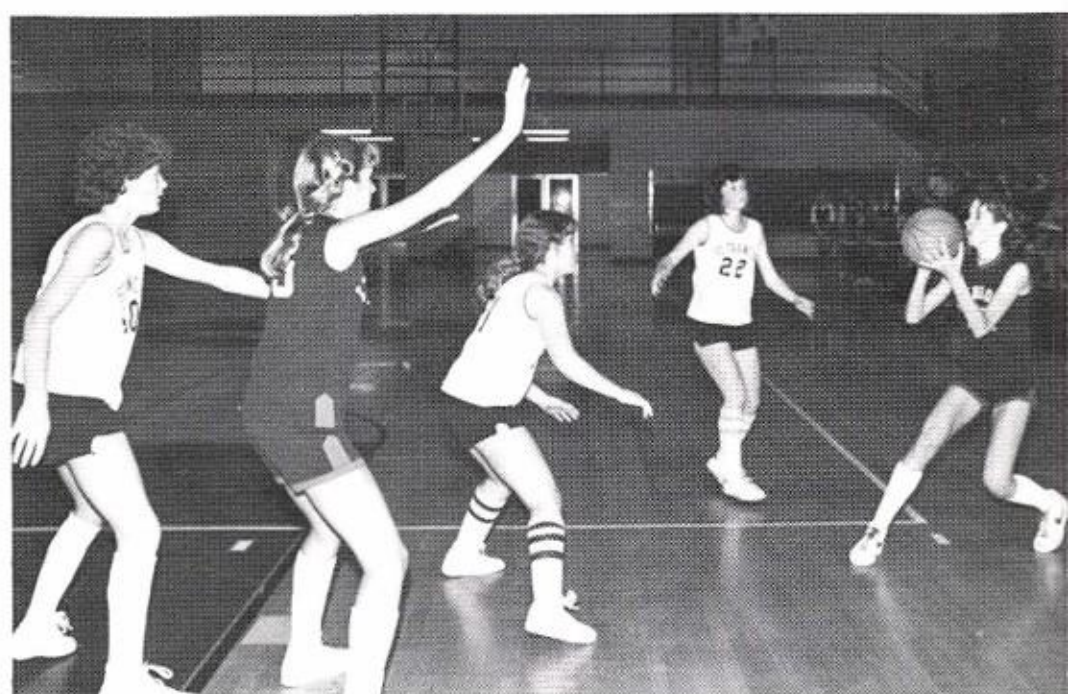

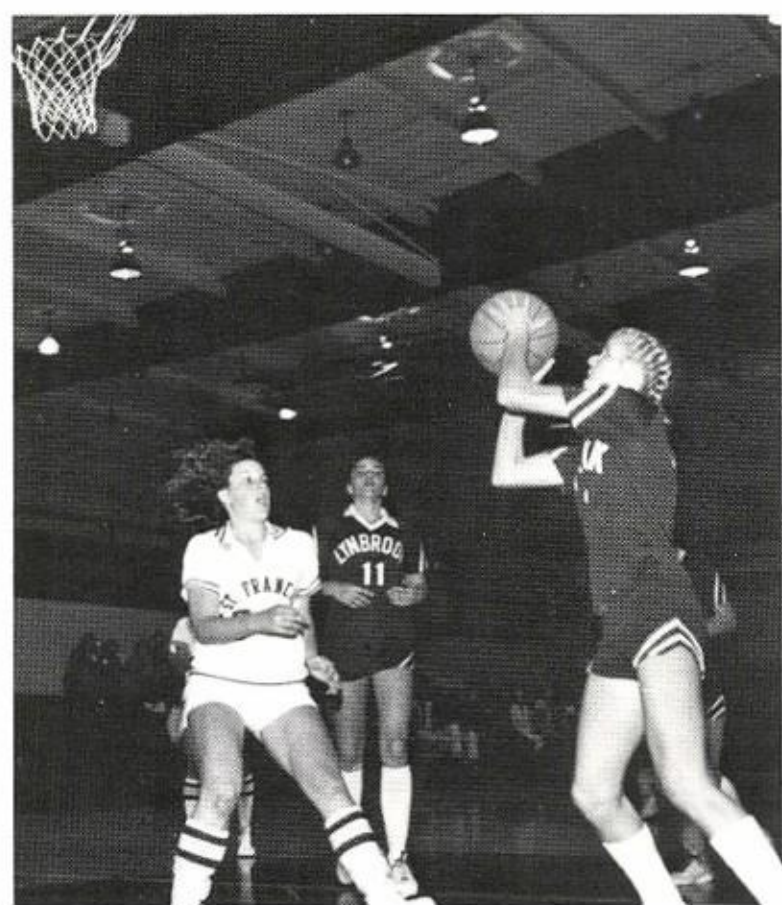

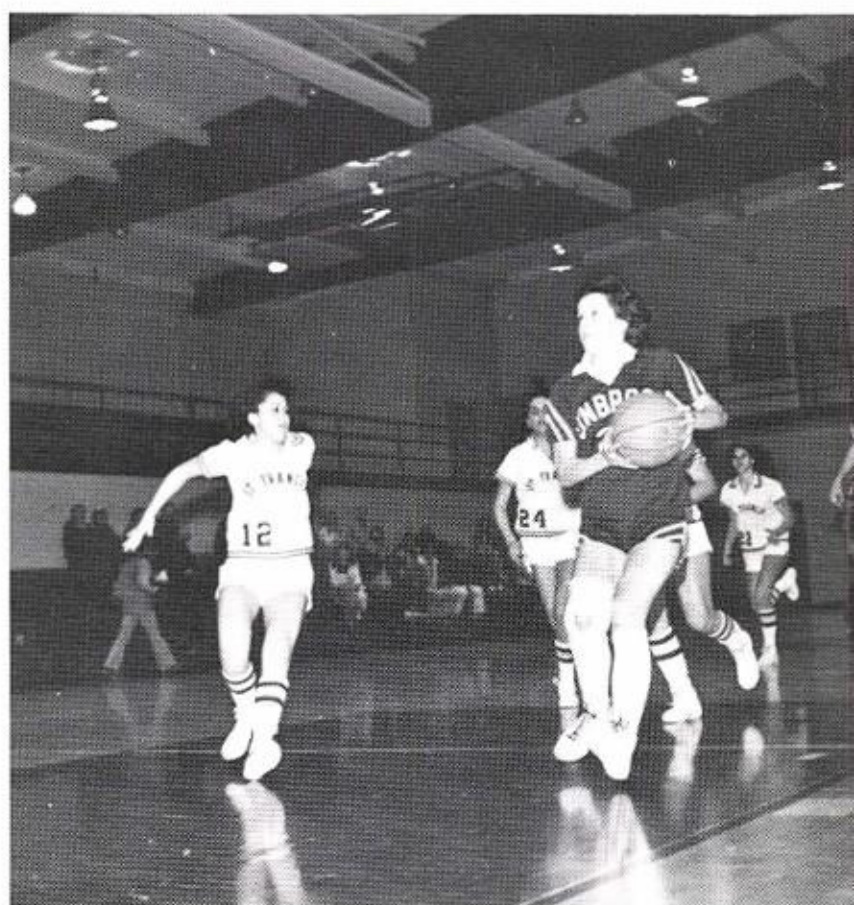

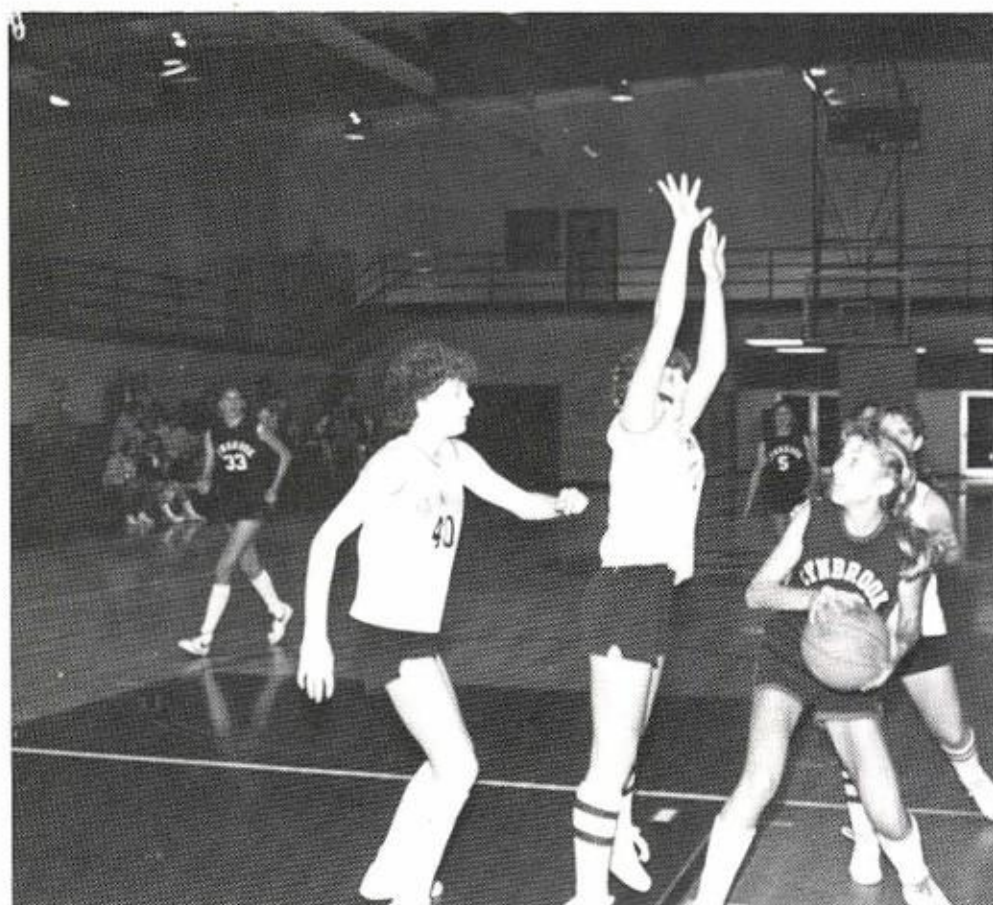

BASKETBALL

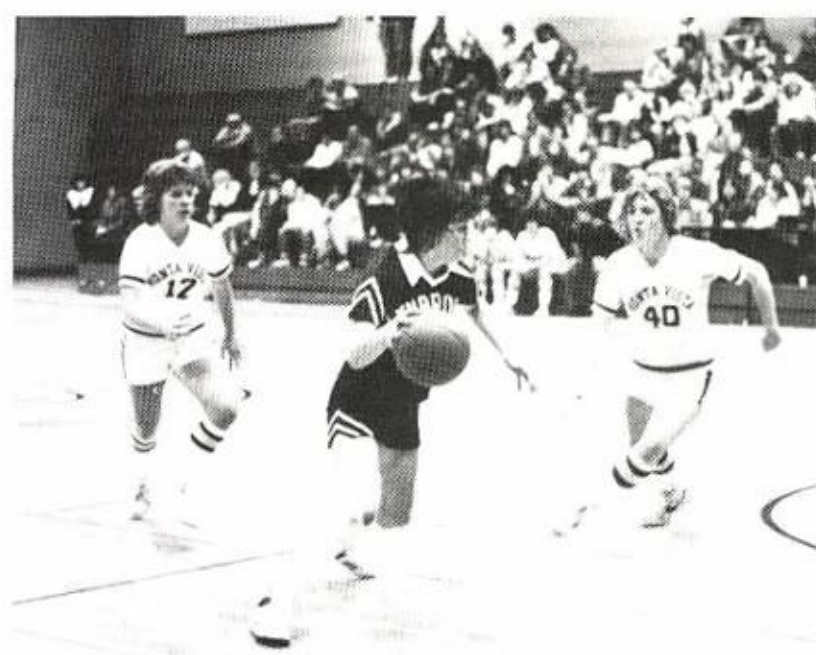

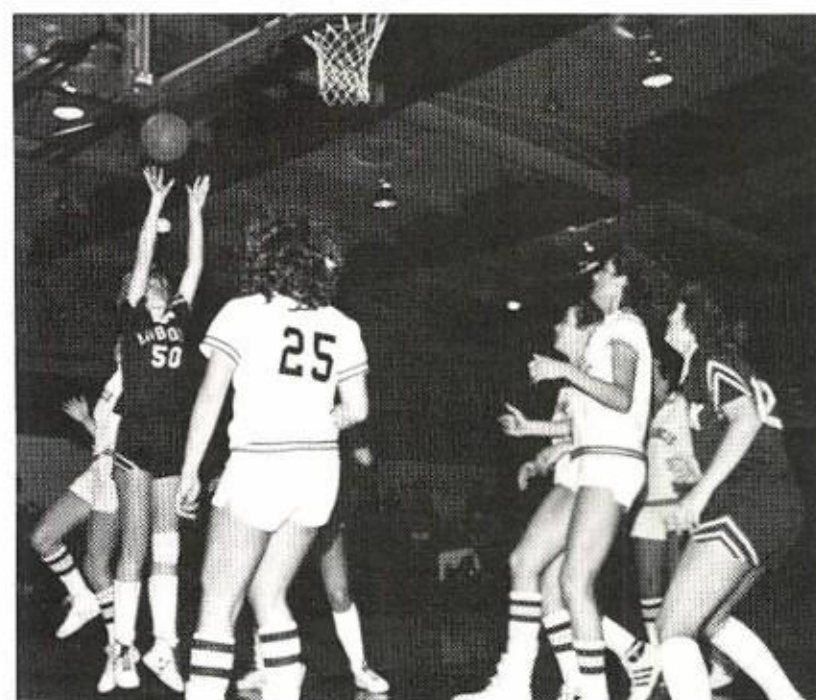

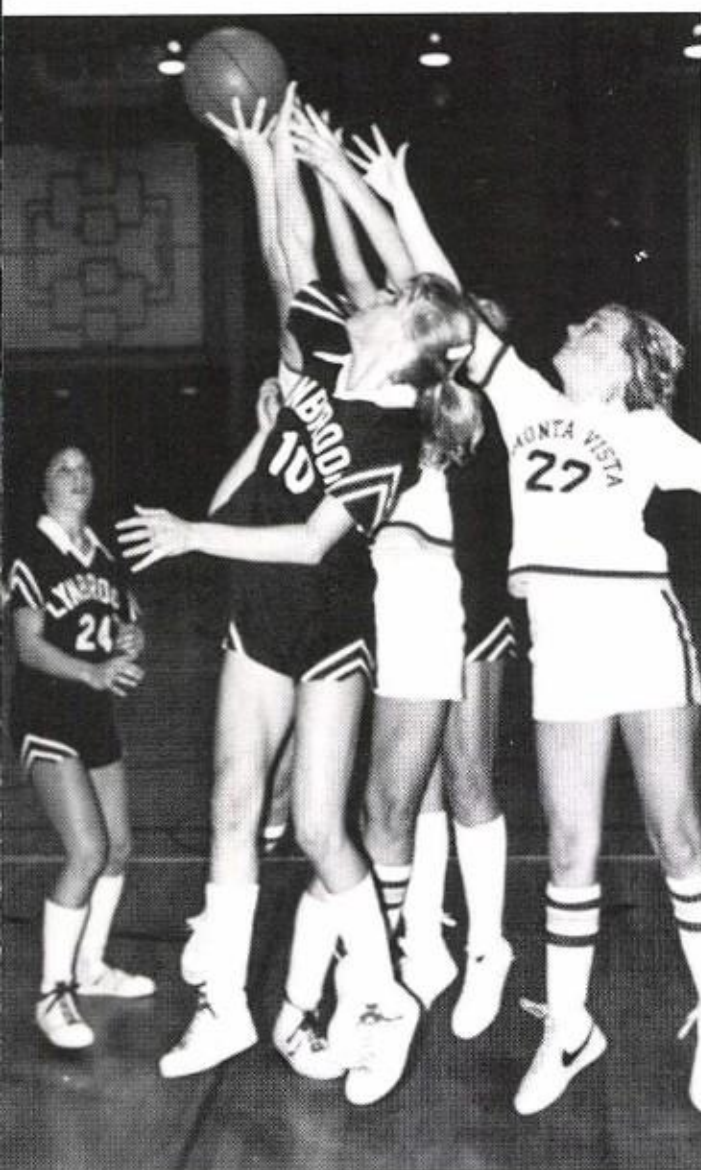

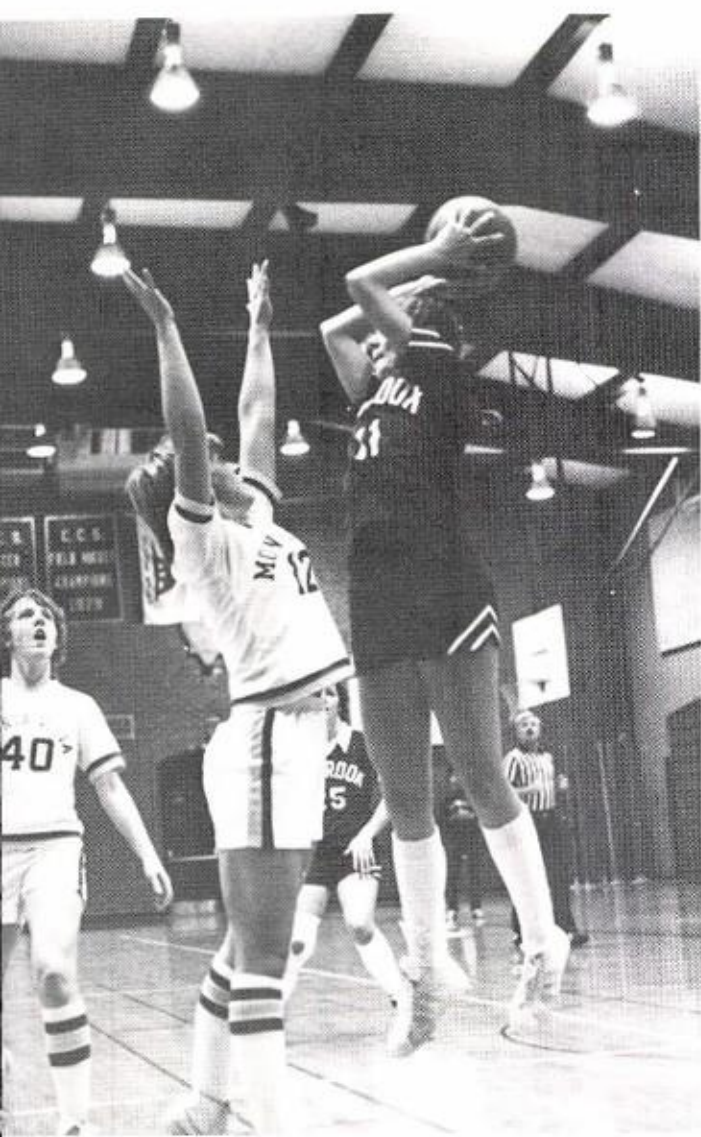

It's just not fair. Why couldn't the Vikings trail by one point the whole game, instead of with just a few seconds remaining. Tappy has practiced his half court, steal the game shot since the days of yore, to bad J.J. wouldn't let him shoot it in the game. A rules change also hampered some, E.K. gets two or three on the tip-off and fouls out in the first quarter. Lynbrook guards were often victims of knee injuries (Mark and Marshal), but fortunately Luck was on their side. Luckily Latter had a great year, keeping the Vikes in several close games, as did Sasao. Incentive was never a problem, as Cokes were provided for first and third quarter victories. Imagine what could have been if Smurf stayed healthy all year.

BASKETBALL

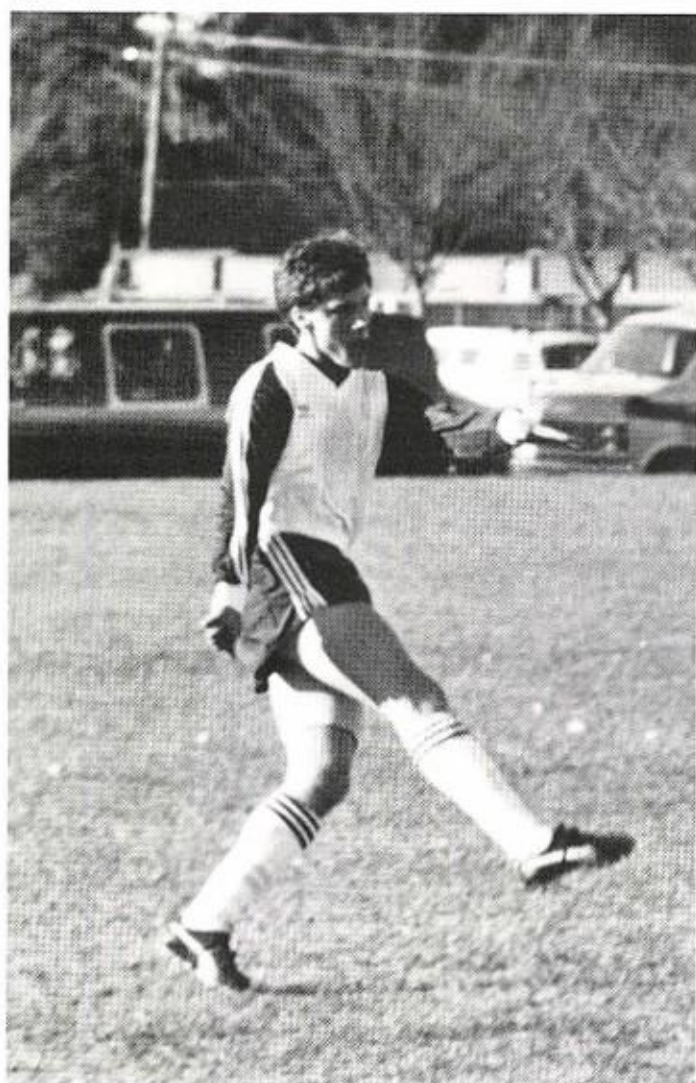

With Rep (Ref?) out early with an injury, the Girls' Basketball team got off to a slow start this season. After 11 games the defending CCS champions found themselves below 500 and the fans began to worry. The story changed when the league season rolled around as Pavy, Poppy, Forbey, Groo, Rep, Wilma and the rest of the team sailed through an undefeated season. It must have seemed like old times for Coach

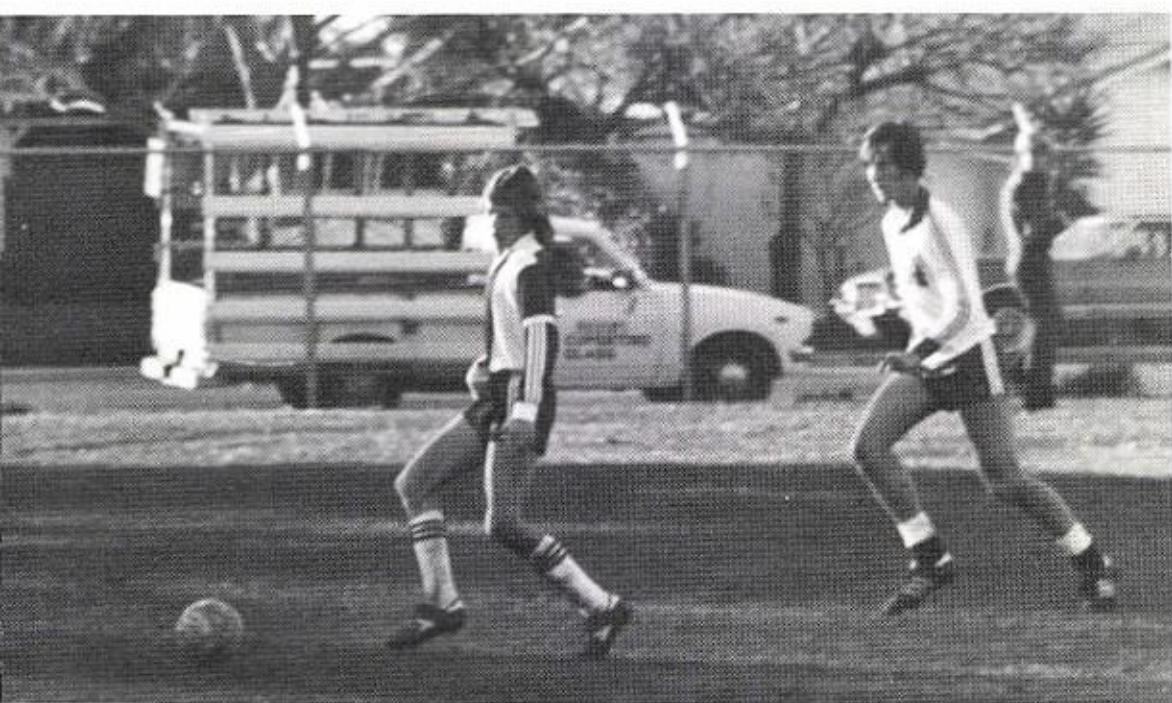

Nichols, who with the help of those mentioned above won the championship last year. Oh well, why not go for two in a row; it seems to be the thing to do these days. The J.V.'s proved they could win too even though their hot and cold shooting made them unpredictable, and some players did not know which direction their knees were going. With the experienced youth of these teams, Imagine what next year will be like!

SOCCER

The Boys' Soccer team played through rain, wind, and cold to vie for high honors in DAL competition. Impressive during the Amador Valley Mud Bowl, where the game became more water polo than football, the Vikings came through with a strong Third Place performance. The coaching trio of Gantley, Pugh, and McCliman led their men into battle well-prepared. On the field, the incomparable John Clark and the gnarly Tom Moore provided leadership through captain status. The top performance of the year came as the Westside Lowriders tied top-ranked Saratoga. The high-flying Vikes had tremendous confidence the rest of the way. From Nutmegs to European yells, Lynbrook was an original and exciting, young team. Imagine that!

SOCCER

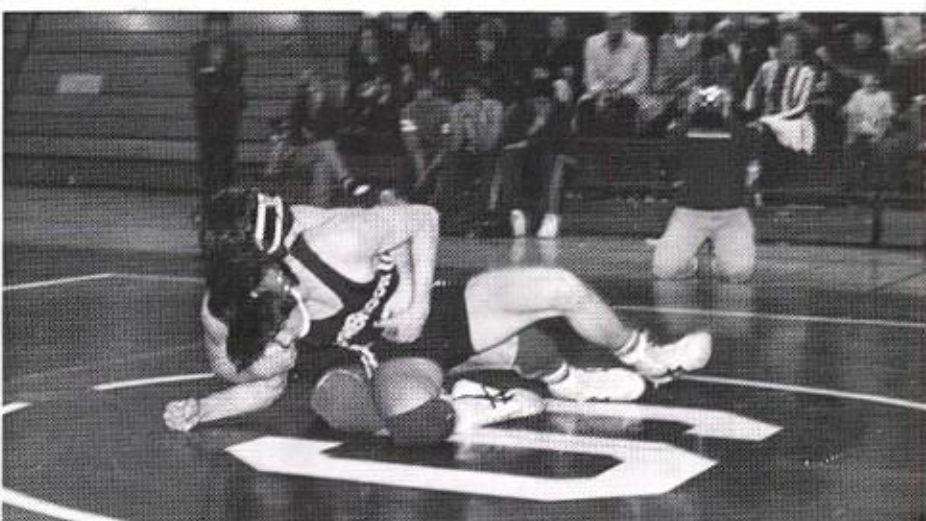

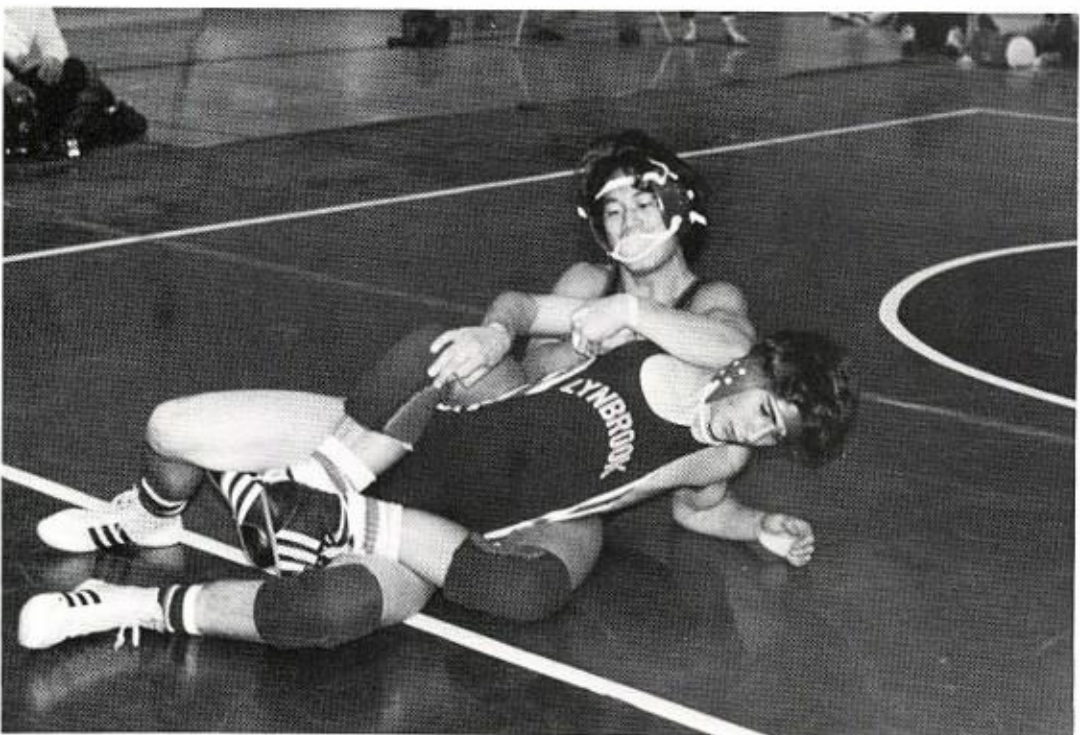

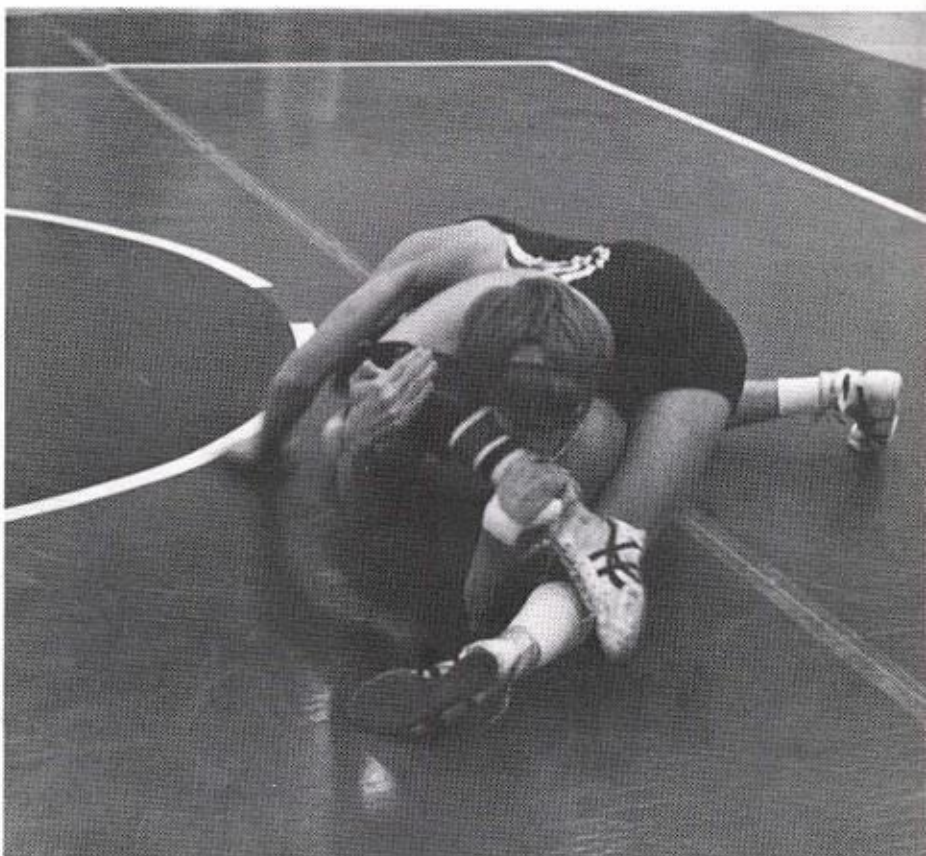

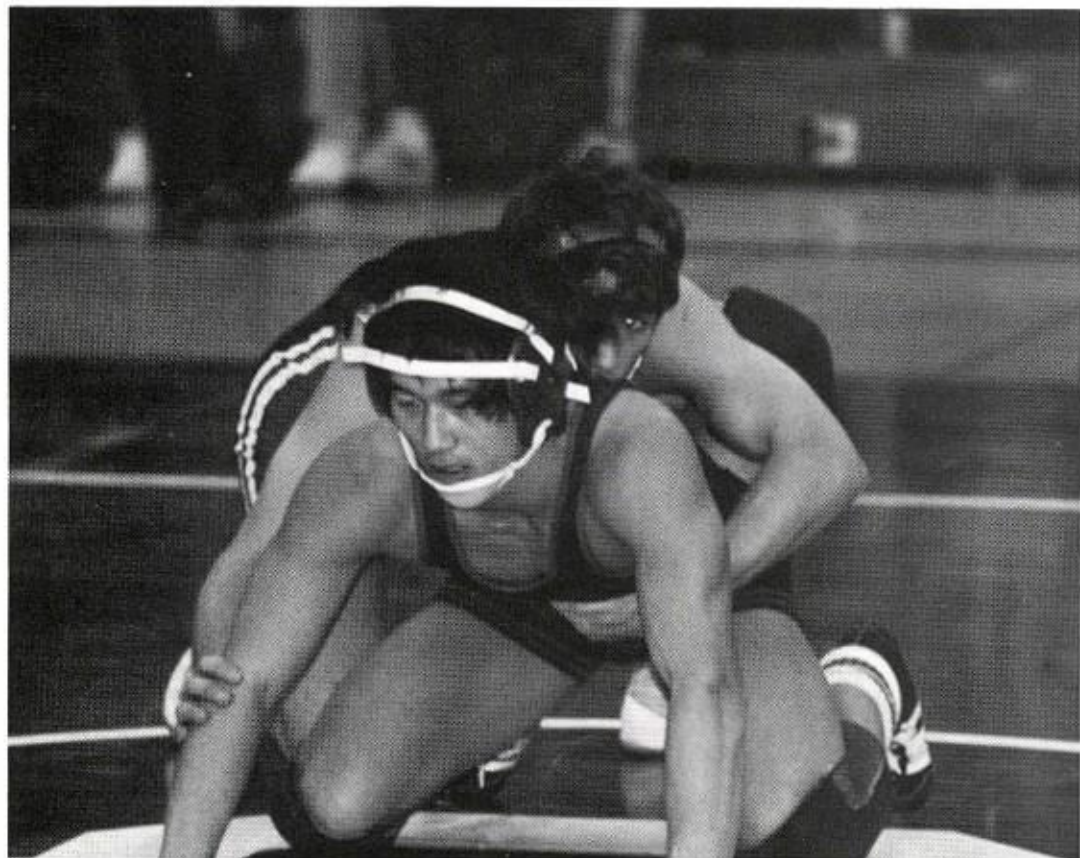

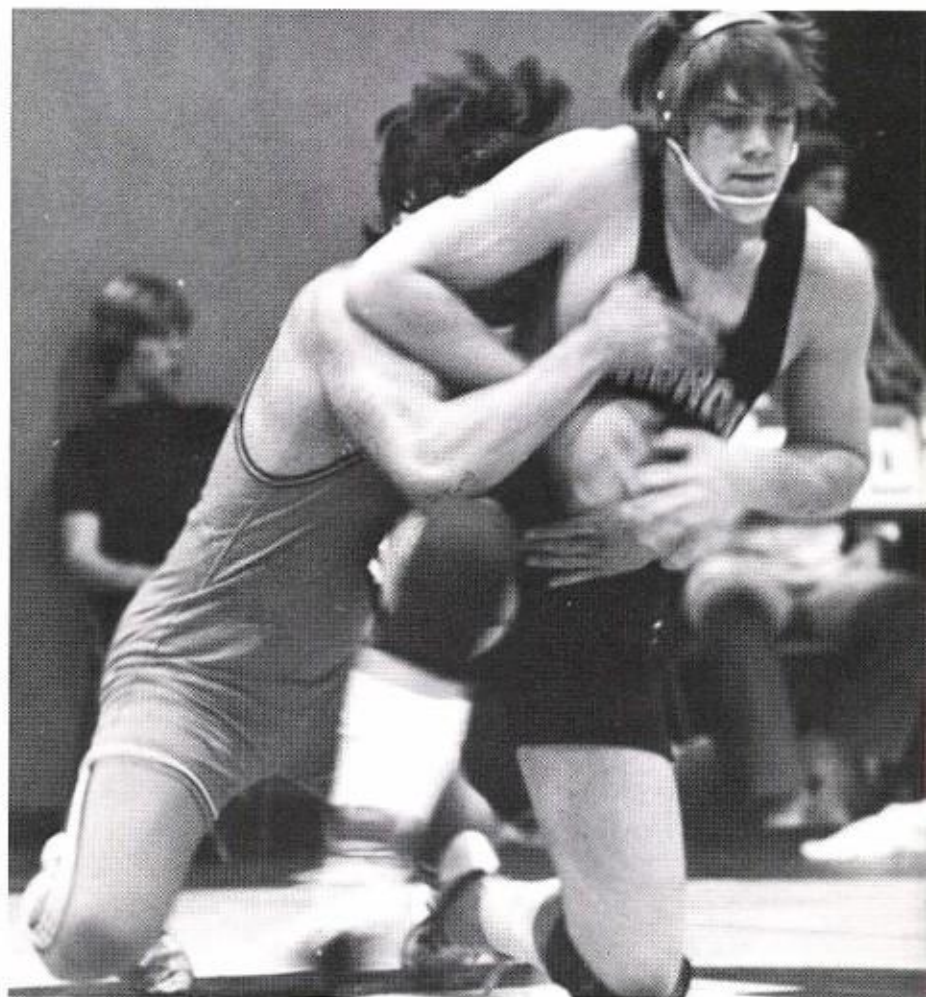

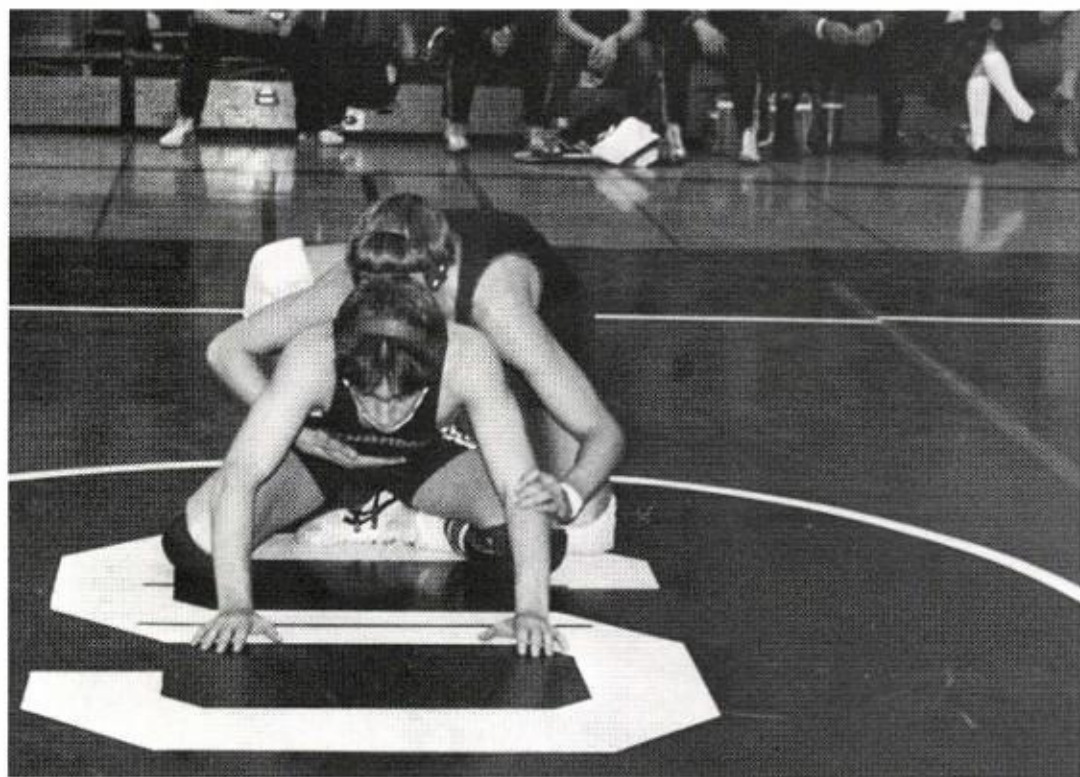

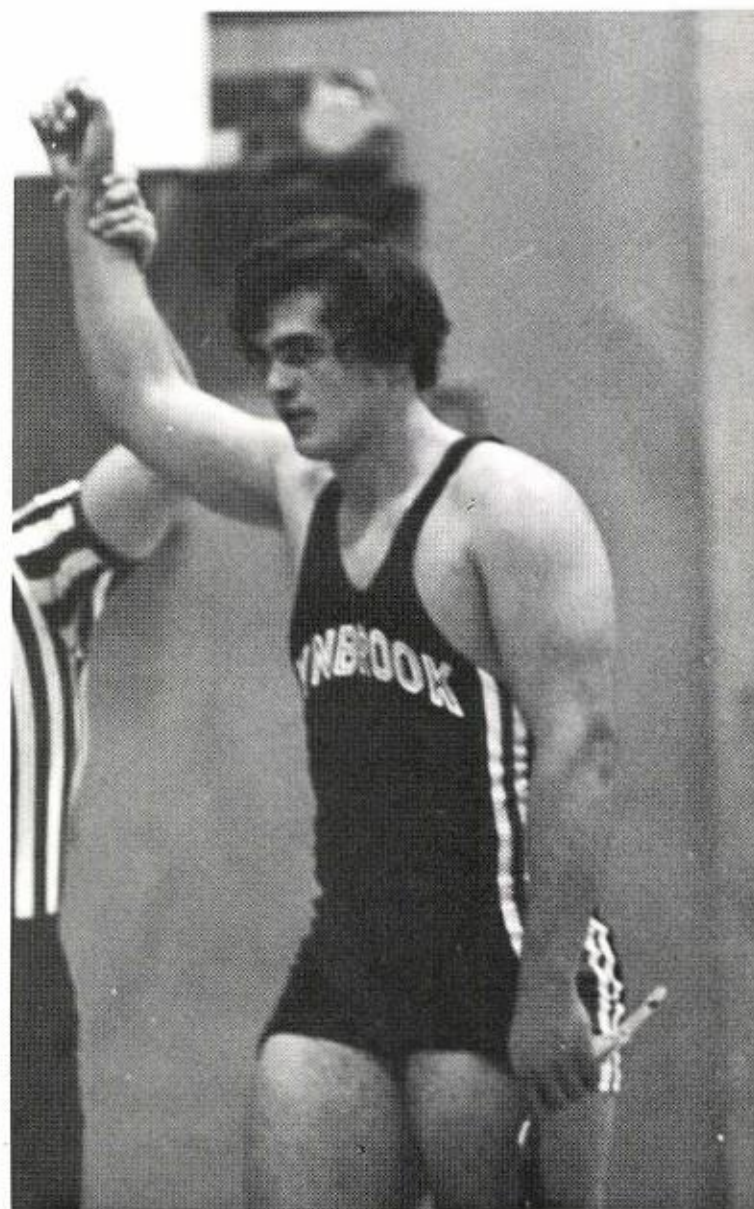

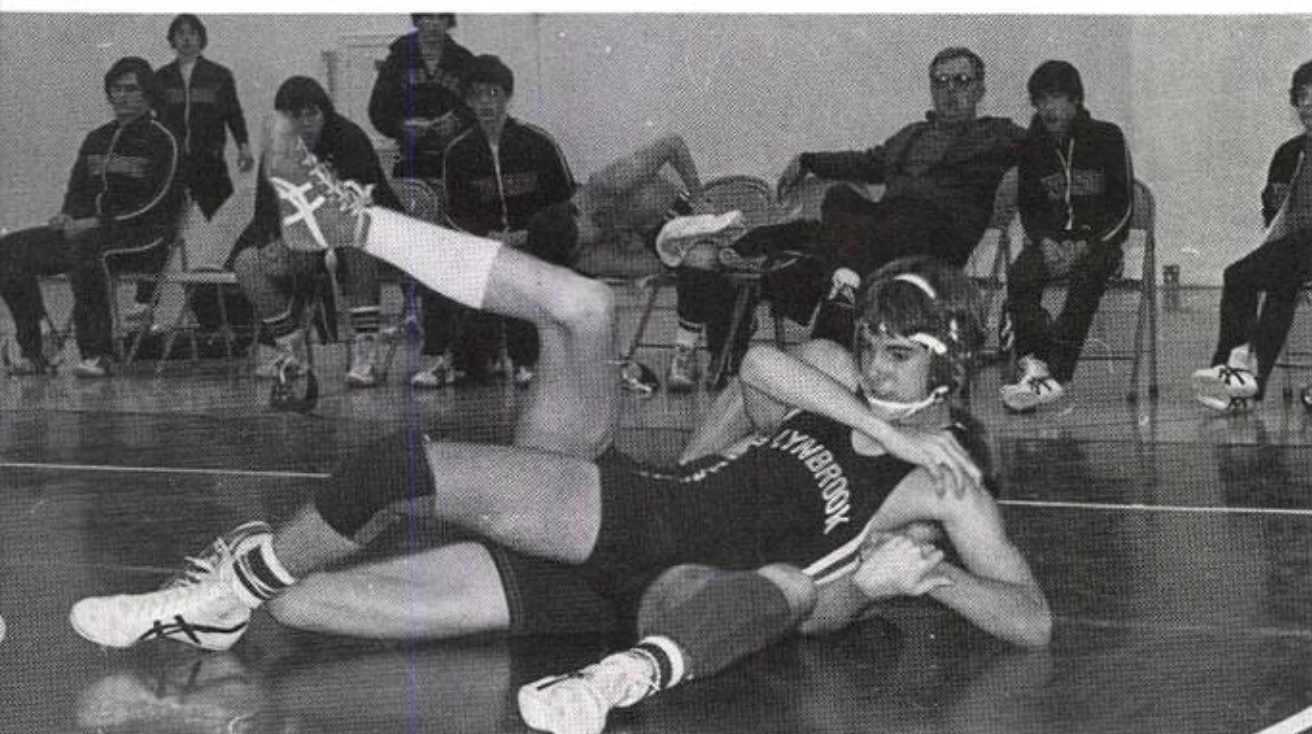

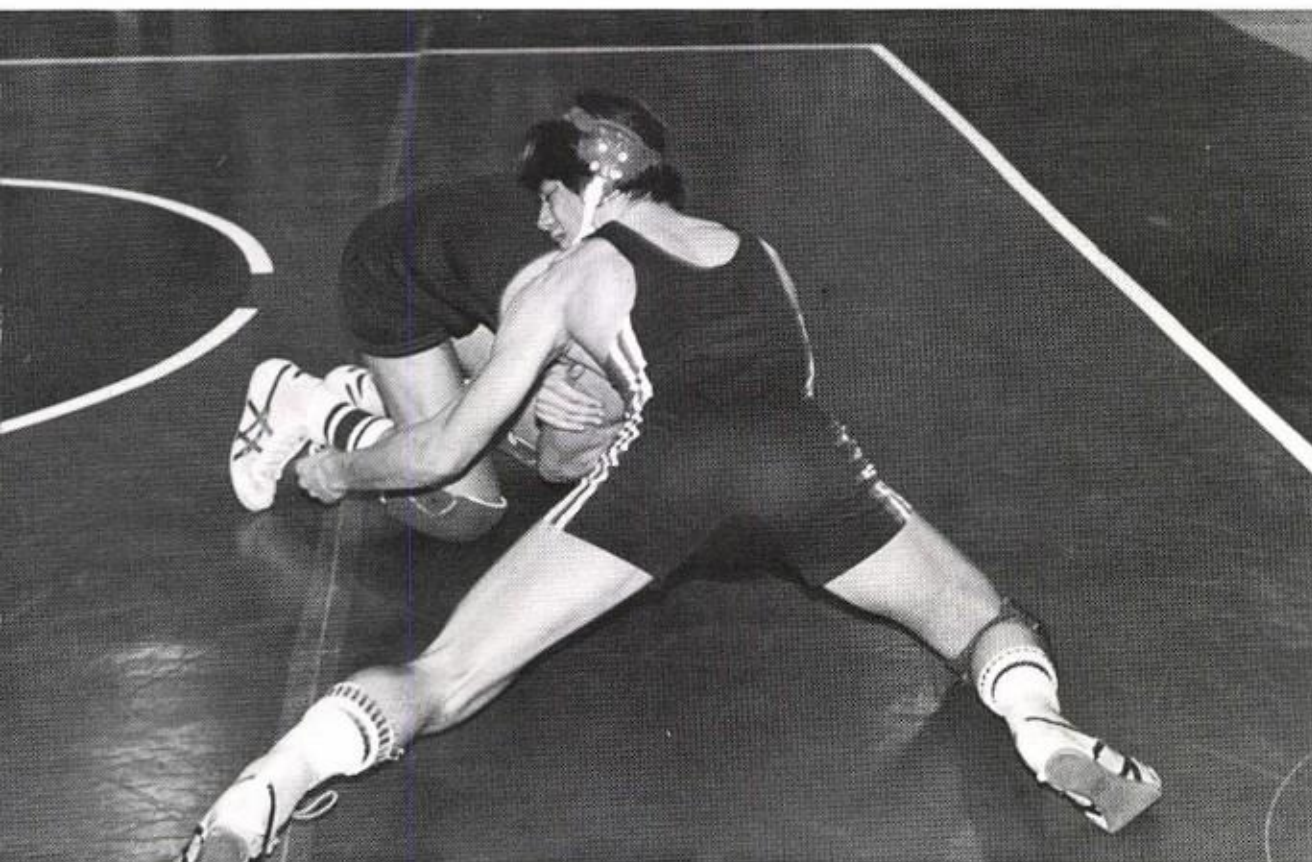

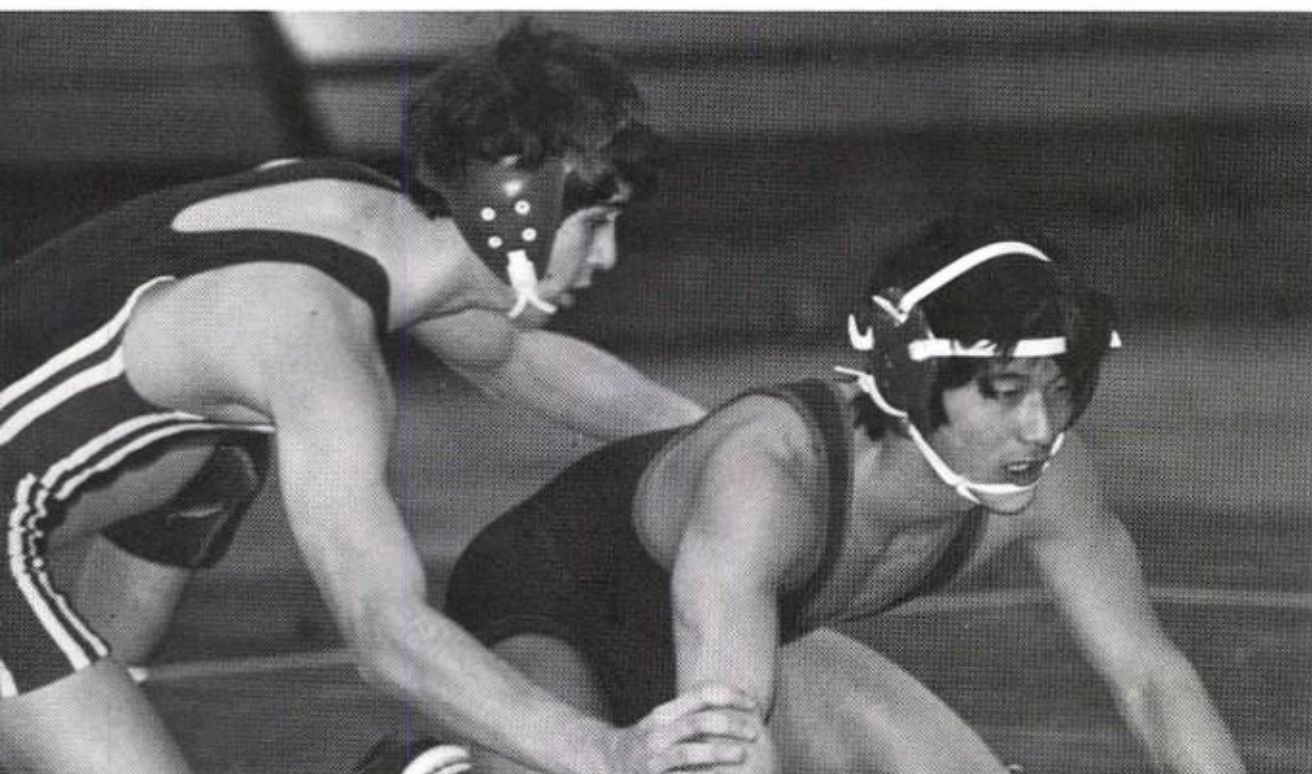

A 1-0 victory over Saratoga provided early season thrills for Girls' Soccer, as a young varsity team turned back the defending CCS champs. Senior, Jennifer Triplett, led the charge as she scored in nearly every contest, sometimes more than once. It was a tempermental team, long at temper and short at fuse. Red cards were all too frequent (thanks Eileen, Tina and Doobie) Varsity seemed to enjoy the success as well as the J.V.'s Their support was minimal but, with their constant side-line fan they managed. "Sorry you were out, Ligaya." Next year is certain to be theirs! A CCS championship will not be hard to Imagine.

P.S. Yill, Yammy's yot yurple yon yer yipple!!!

WRESTLING

"Let's go out for Wrestling!" That might sound good, but there may be more to it than you think. Fifty potential Talbot scholars quickly shrank to 18 in record time. It is not difficult to Imagine when one looks at an "easy" day on the farm. Jump rope, tiger bands, push-ups, and the inevitable intra-squad scrimmiages proved too much for many. Even those who survived were not thrilled. Two exceptions were stars Rod Annis, and Paul Guerra. The team did not do well in the win-loss column, but with two Mansfields, D-Square, Ruba-Dube, and Torpedo, they had no time to dwell on defeat. Oh well, back to the sweat shop boys.

SPRING

SPRING PLAY / ASB

Welcome to the Lynbrook International auditorium where we present "Teahouse of the August Moon." Yes, everyone, including the drama department is turning Japanese. Mr. Bargetto went all out to make the production unique, including casting a goat and a jeep. This innovative show starred Mark McCandless and Angie Pastore, who fought opening night jitters due to her Japanese lines. This large cast of thirty upheld the Lynbrook tradition of a successful Spring Play.

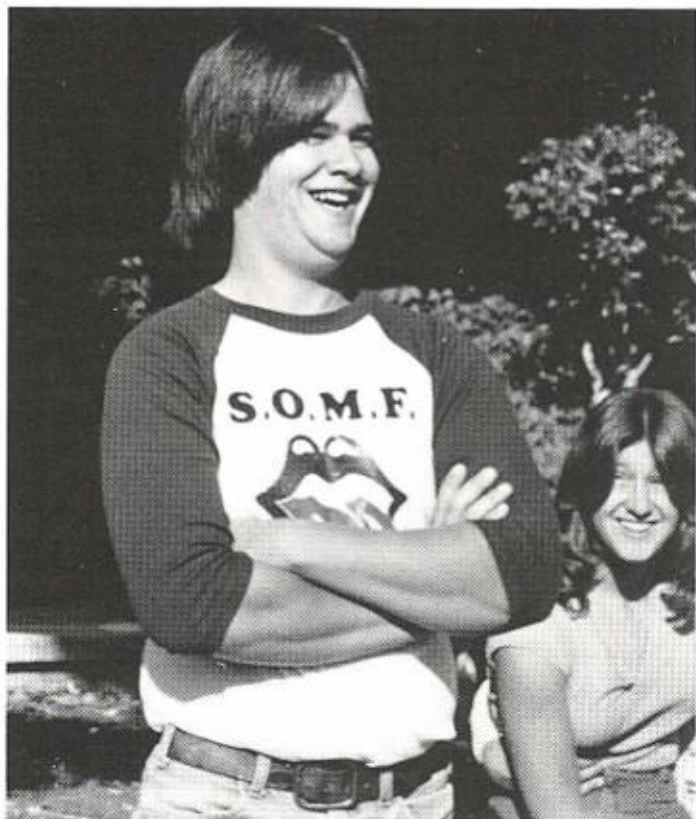

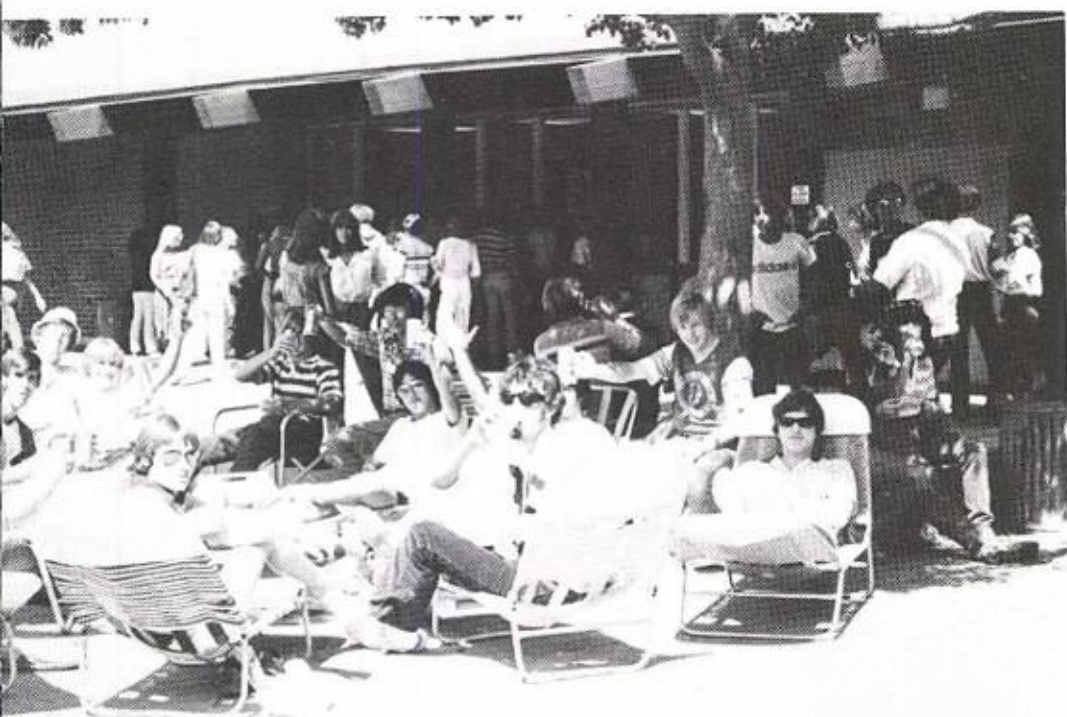

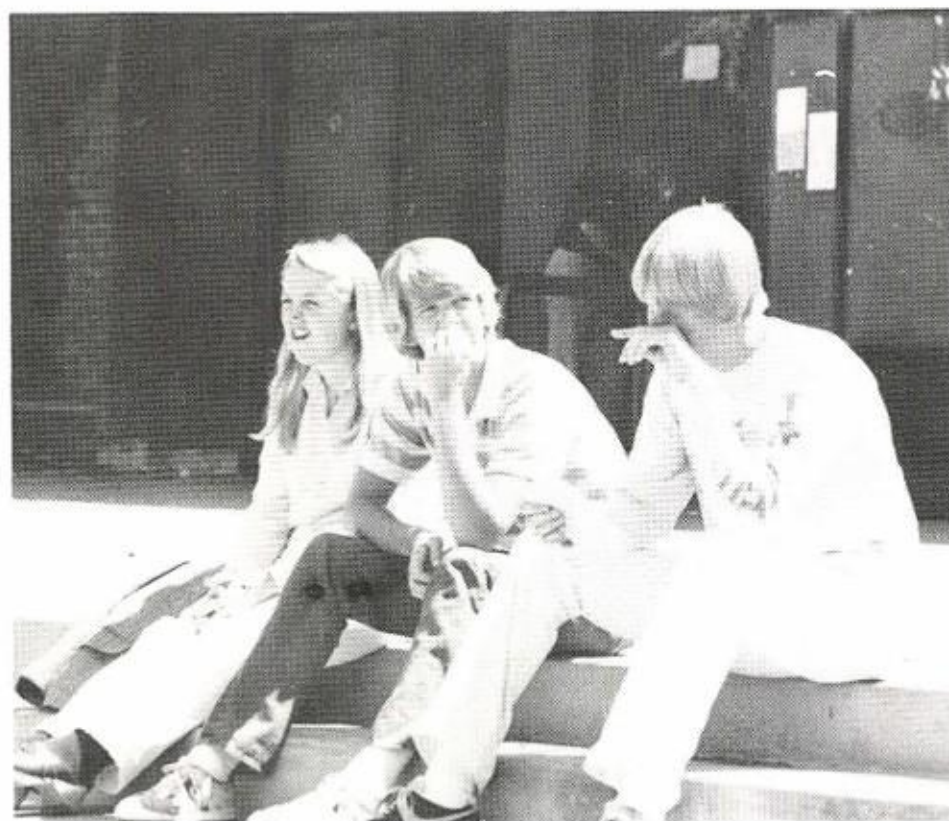

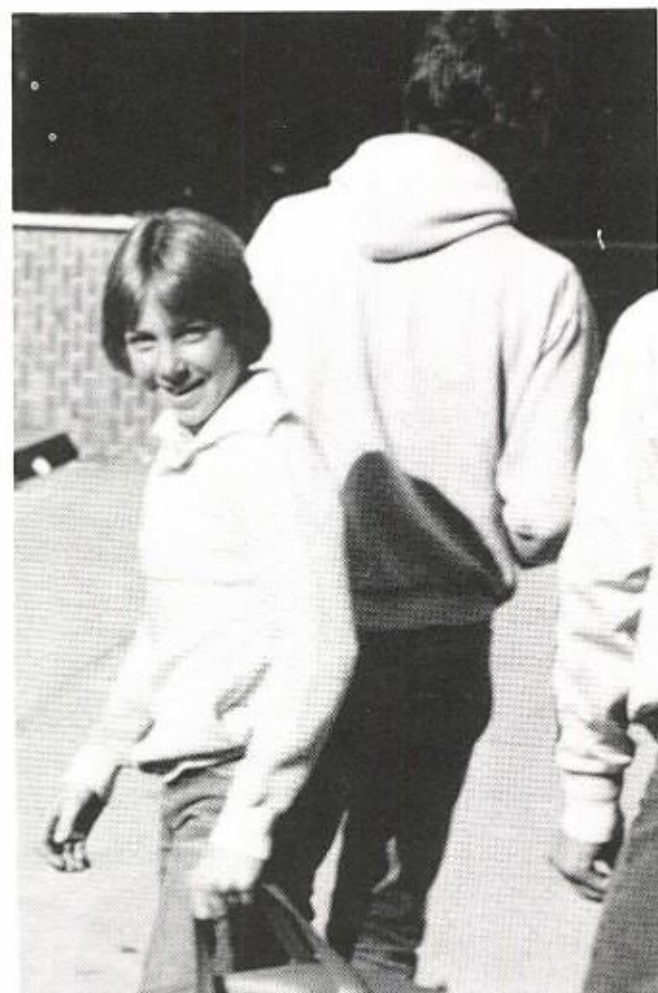

Everyone seemed to think it was time to give the girls a chance when it came time to elect the Spring ASB. Jessica, Sue, and Maria were quick to take the top offices. Many appointments were made, as many more girls became involved in student government. Their favorite Tuesday was freshmen testing, which made it possible for the girls to sleep in past 7:15 a.m. There were few problems, so this may be the start of a trend.

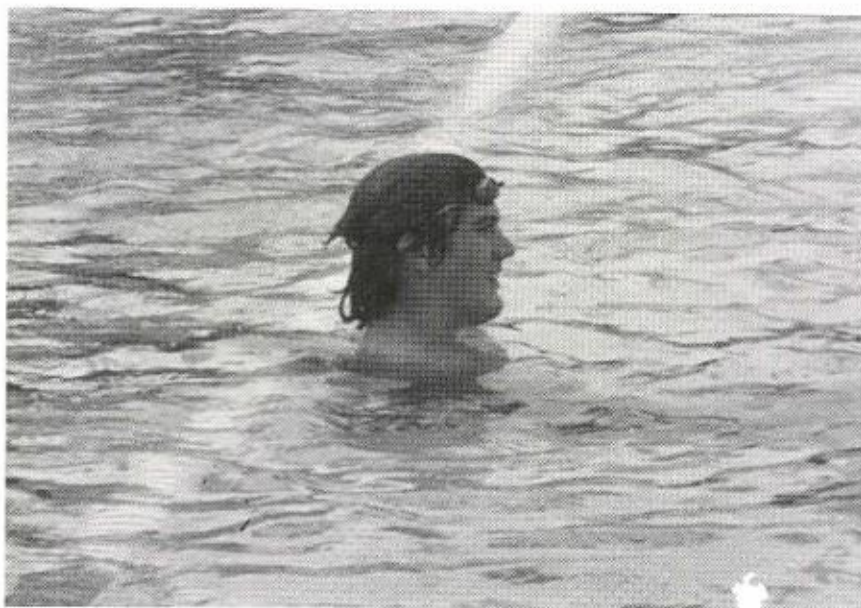

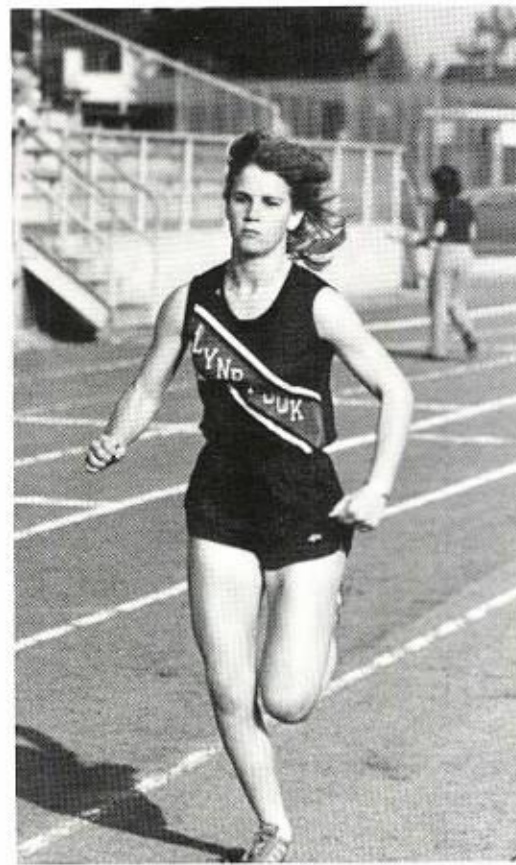

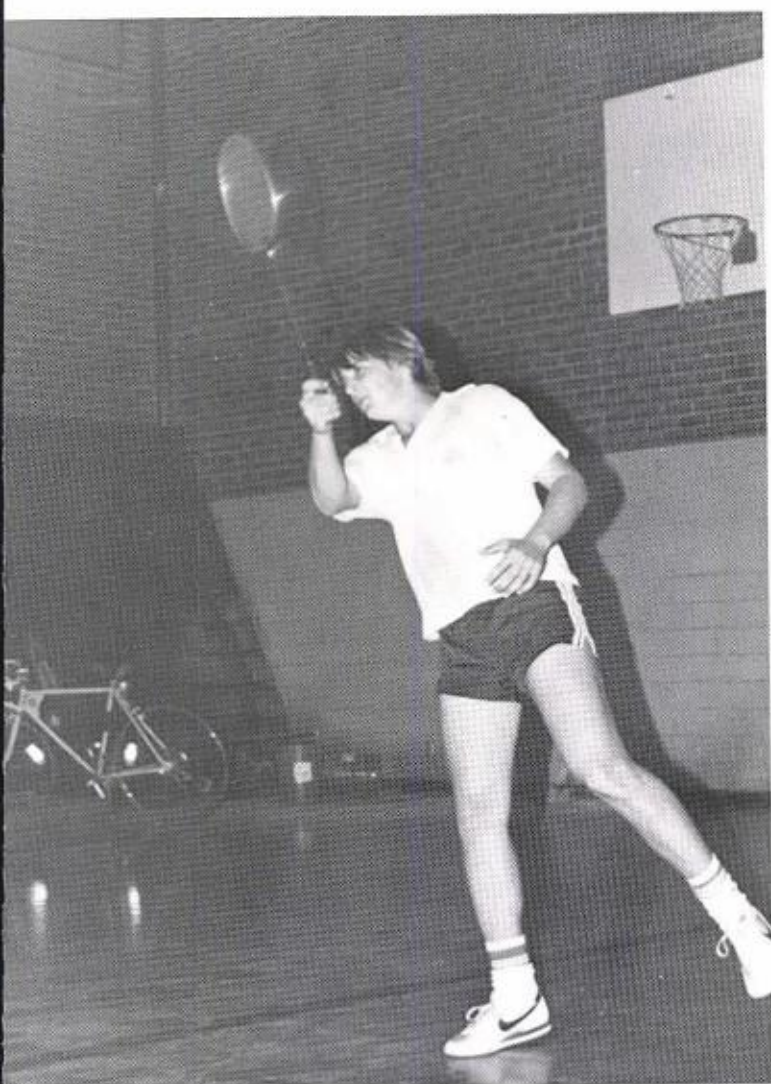

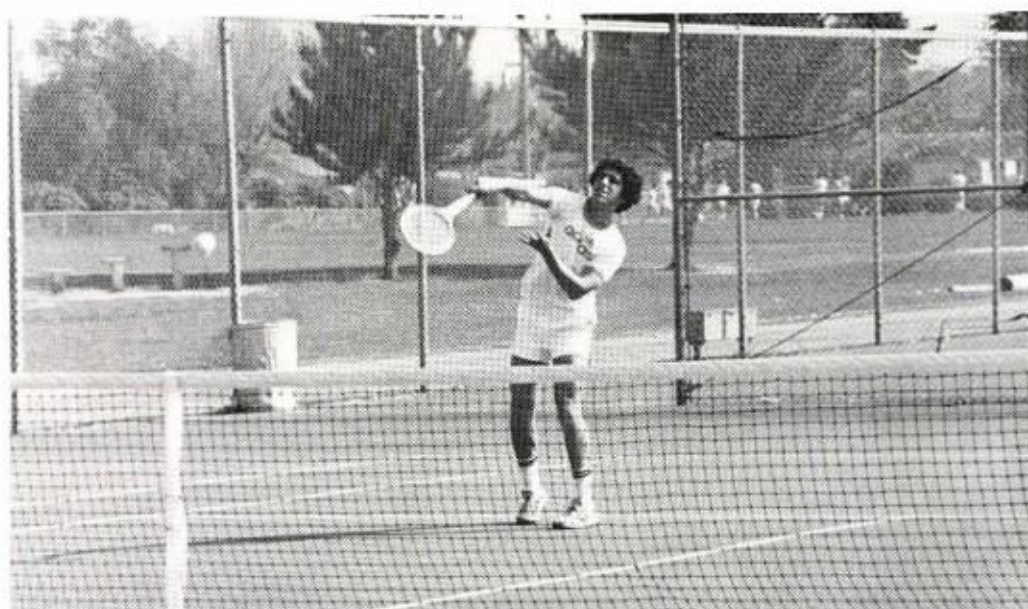

CANDID IMAGES

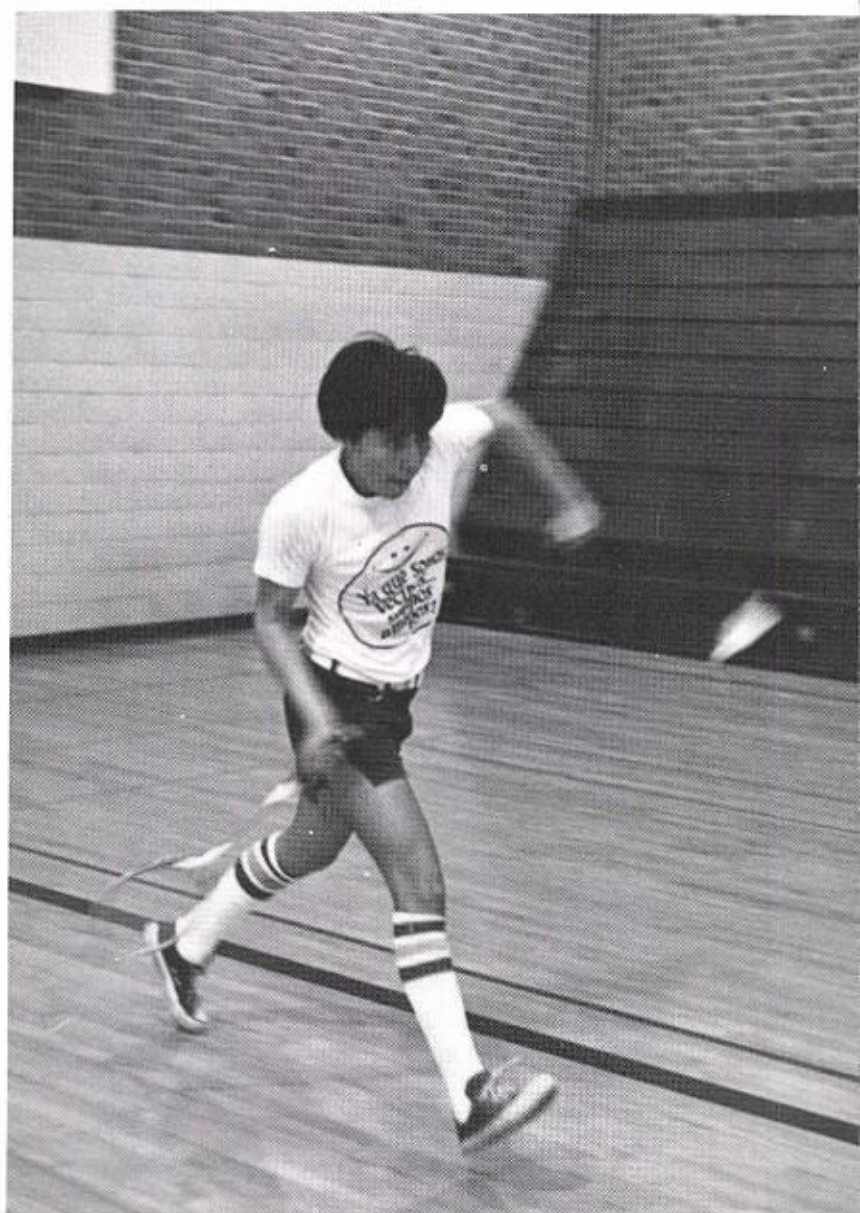

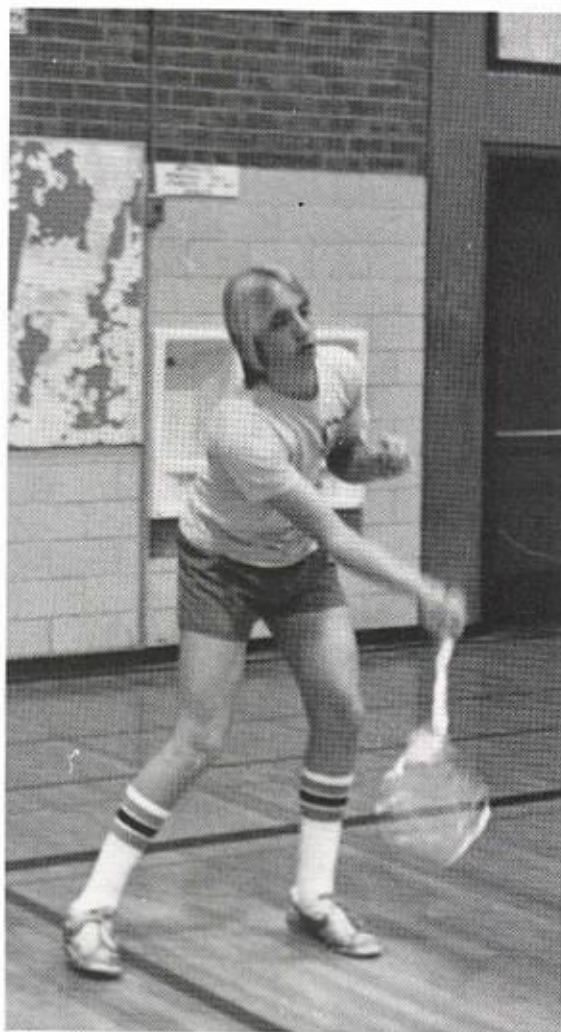

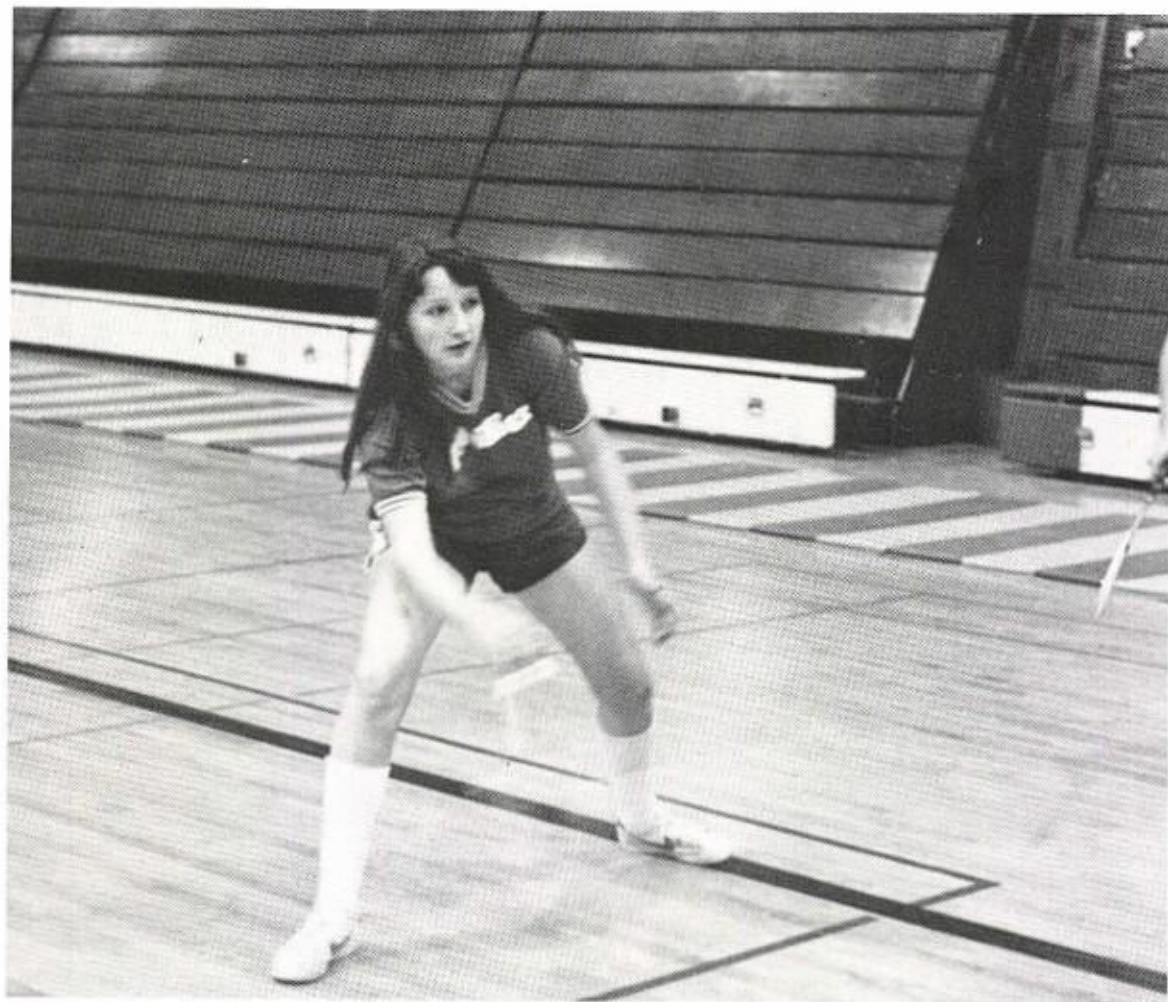

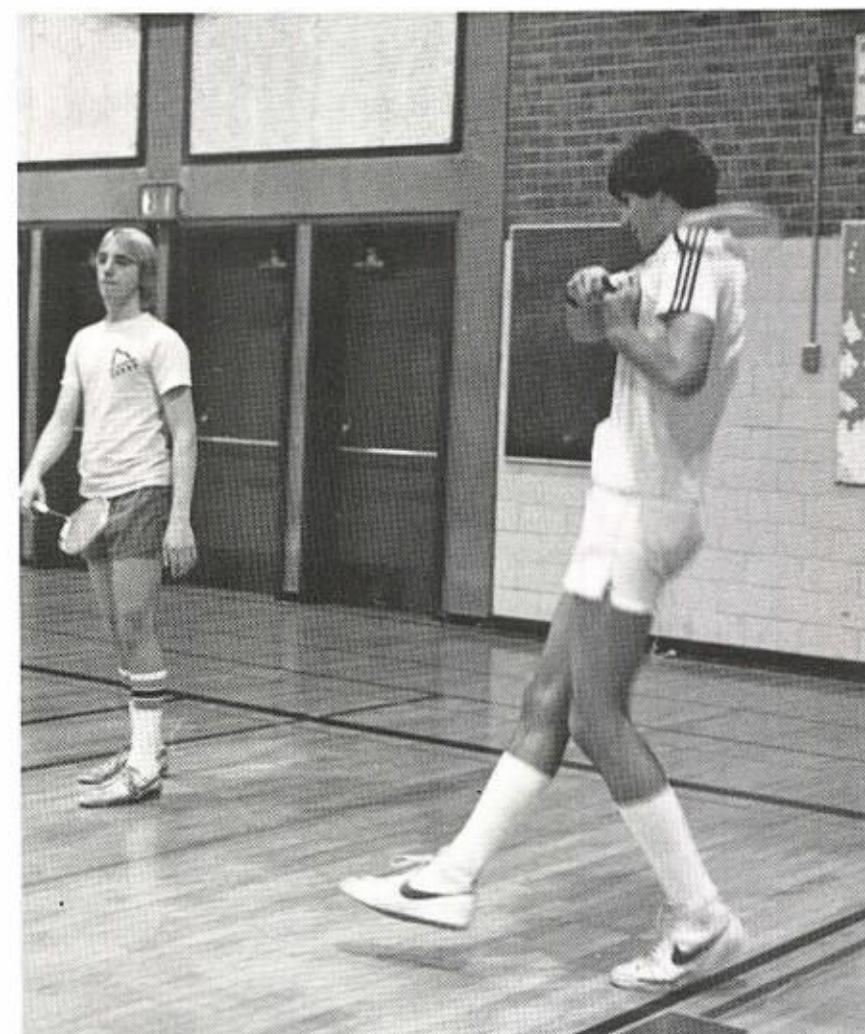

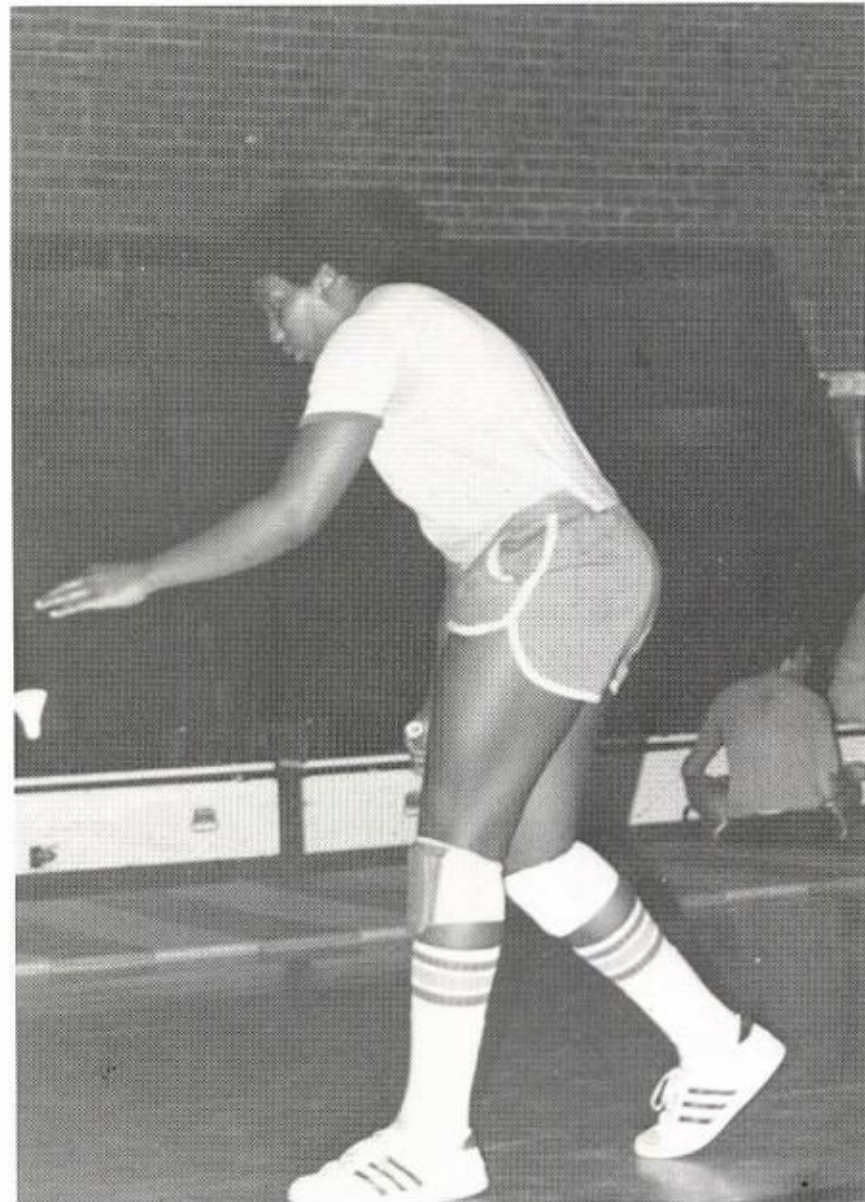

SPRING SPORTS

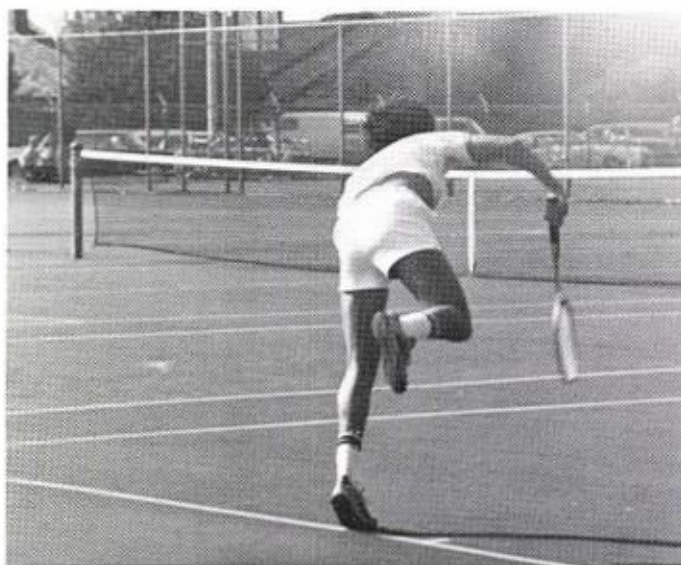

BADMINTON

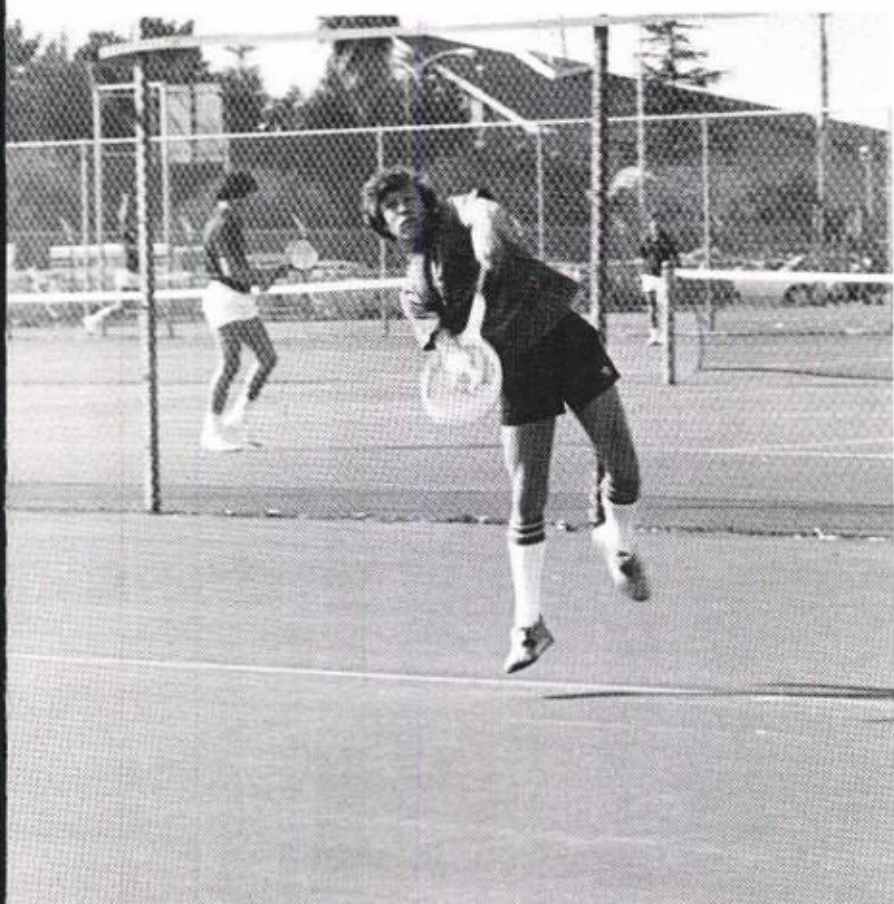

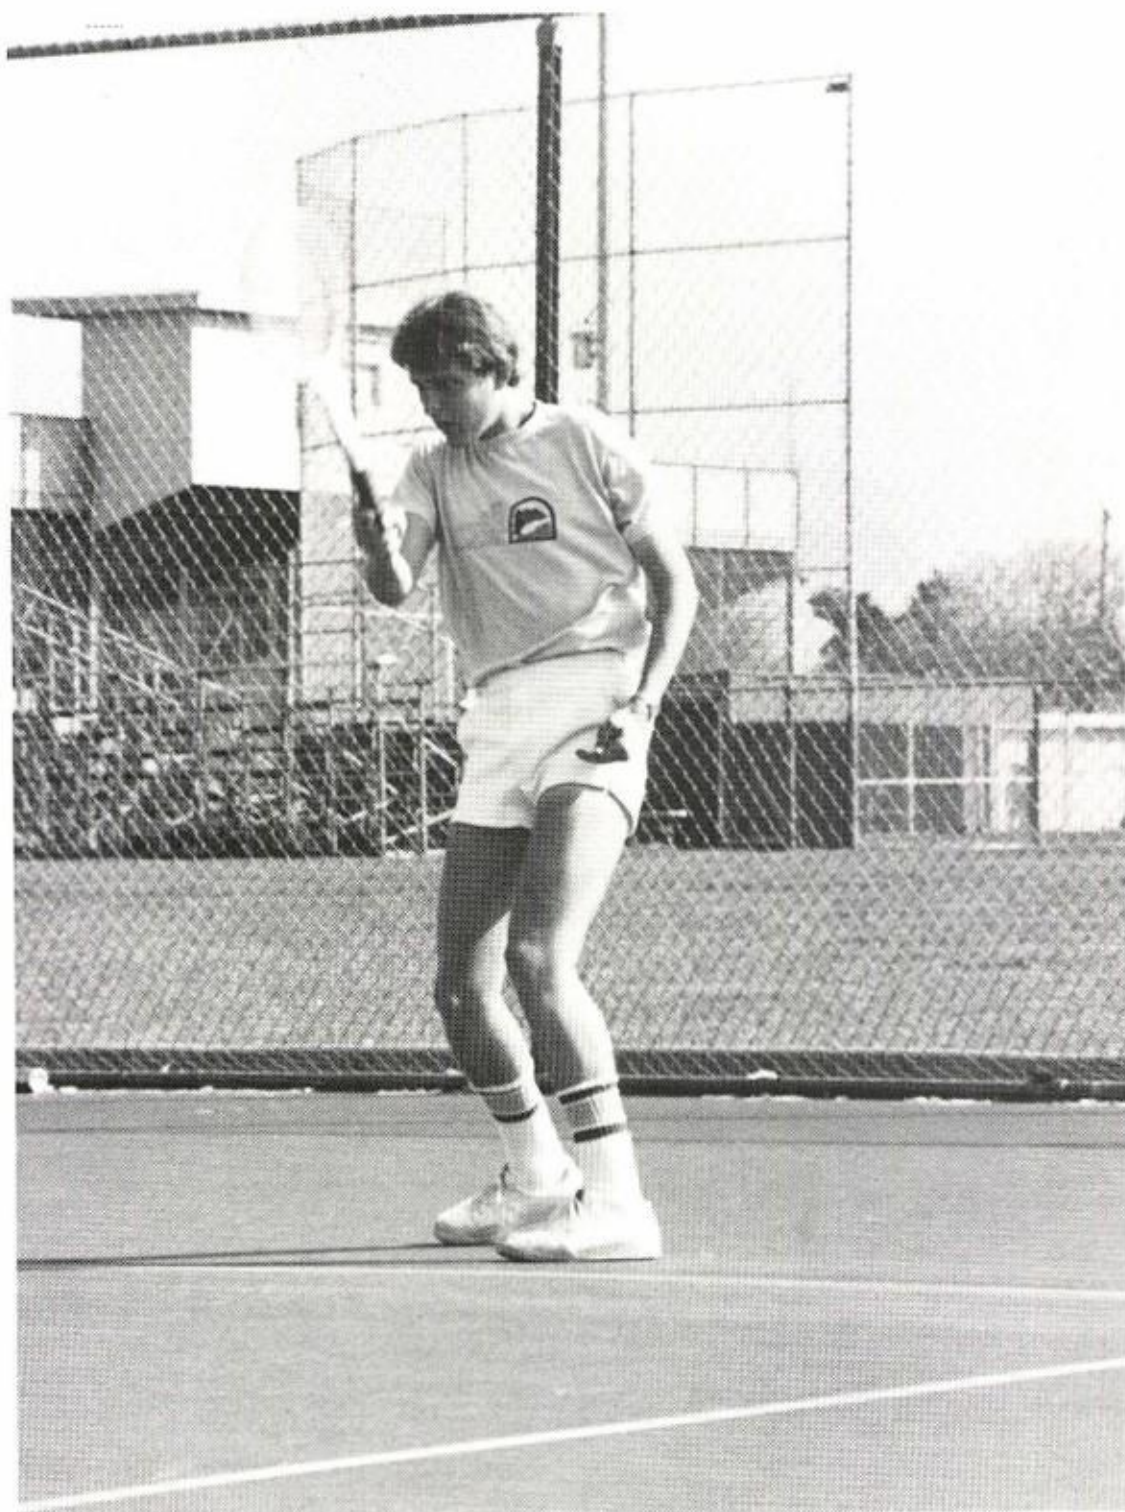

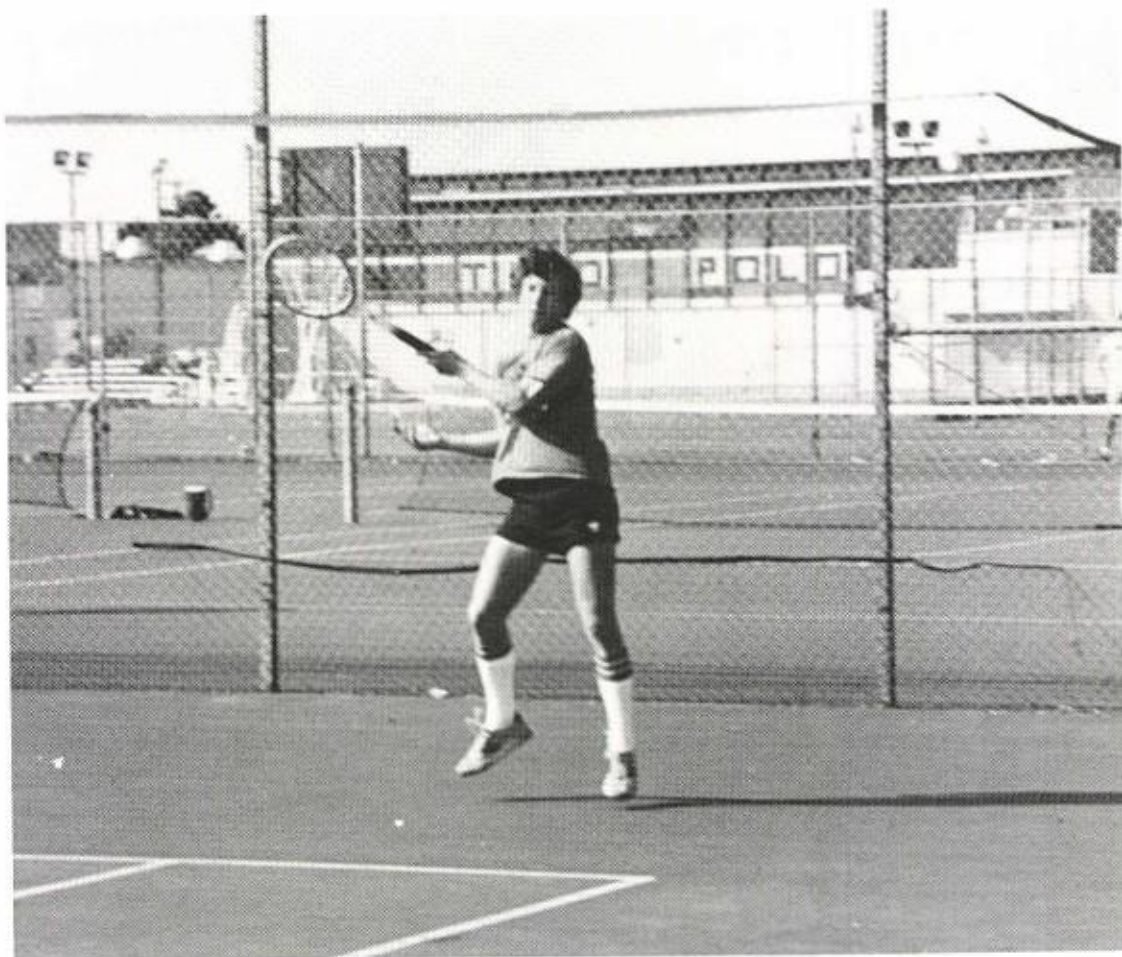

There was a new fad on the Lynbrook campus this year. Badminton became the sport, as the gym was filled above capacity whenever it was time to practice. Players carried their rackets wherever they went, making it known that they were part of the team. Veterans Hendriks, Latter, and Winslow wound up their long careers, as they teamed with Snapper and Farrah, and the class of '83 to launch shuttles into space. Confidence was the key, as coach D.R.O.P. taught everyone, including the "foreign team," how to come from behind. In fact, the team seemed to play better when they were three points down, say 6-9, as they toughened up at that point. Pretty impressive for a team who not long ago were not even known.

TENNIS

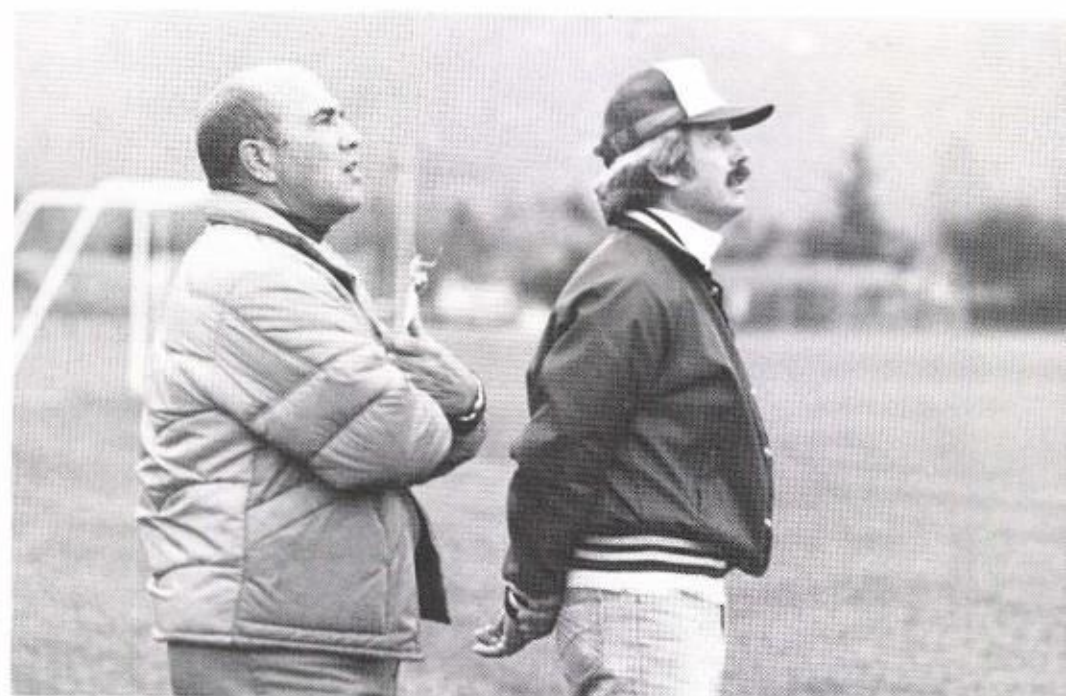

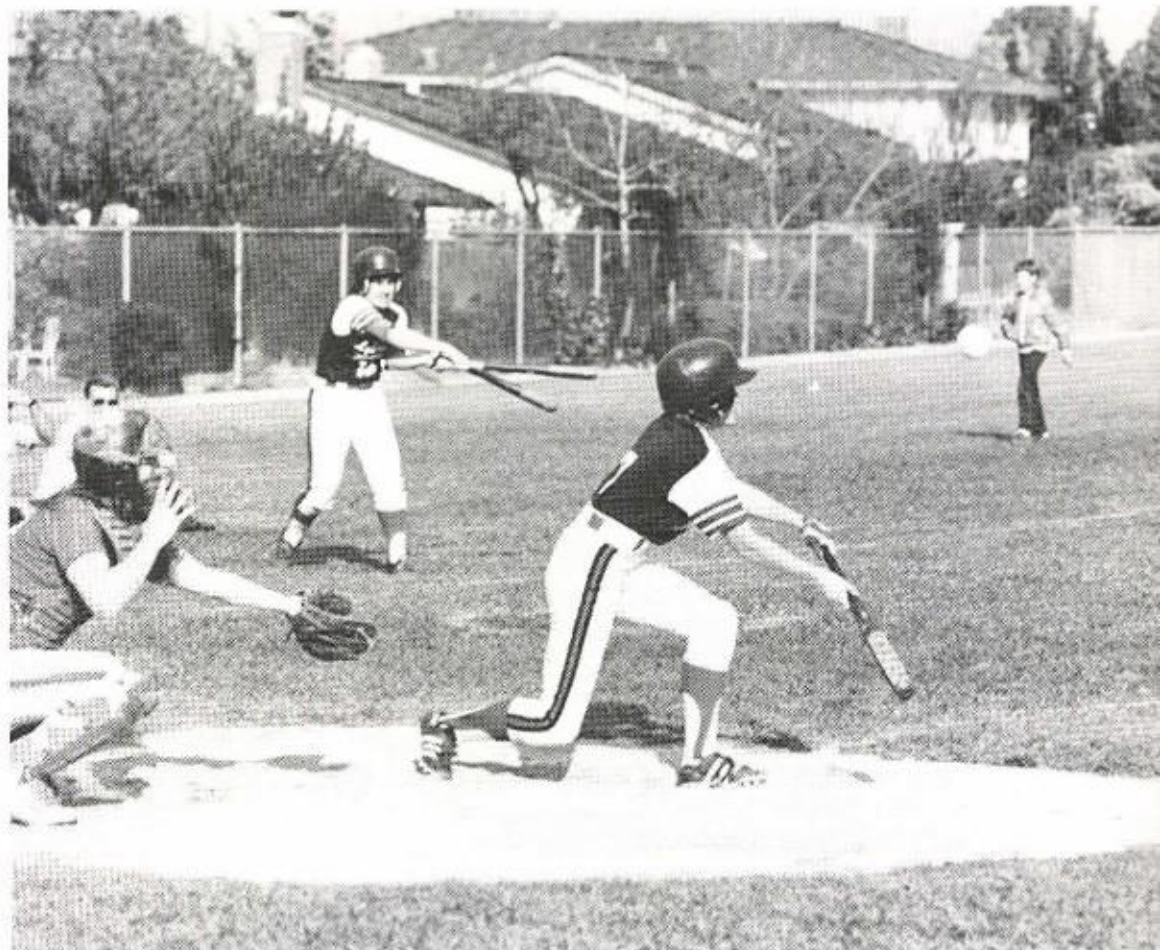

Boys' Tennis had a new face as Coach Hitchman tries to bring winning tradition with top player Gottlieb back for one more year, and ever-improving Tap Knart on hand, the time seemed ripe. An aggressive group, the netters had united all year long to reach their IMAGINED goal. They may never grace the grass of Wimbledon, or the clay of France, but the boys could do wonders on the cement of Lynbrook.

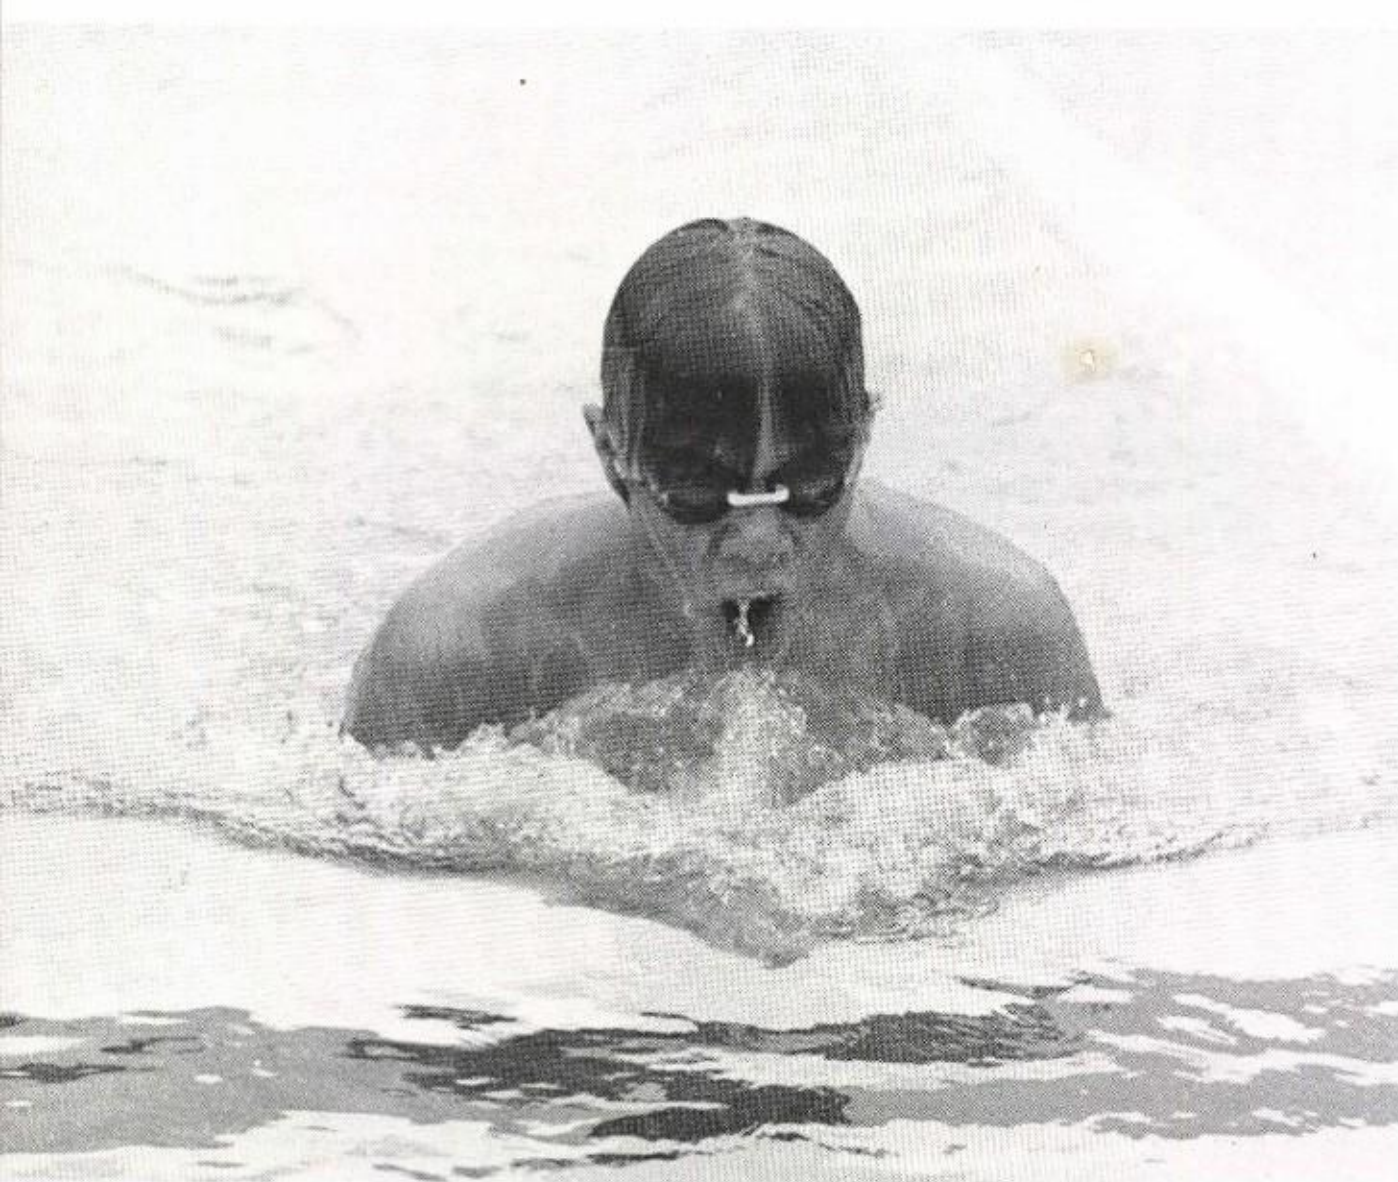

SOFTBALL

They call the game Softball, but the brand produced by the Vikings this year is nothing but hard. With Chartrand, Horowitz, Forbey, and Pavy Leading the way. They set their sights on a C.C.S. championship. They made it to the final eight last year, and it was the time to do their thing. With speed, power and just plain work, it is no surprise that they are one of the best. With their strong imaginative line-up, their season will prove to be the best in Lynbrook history.

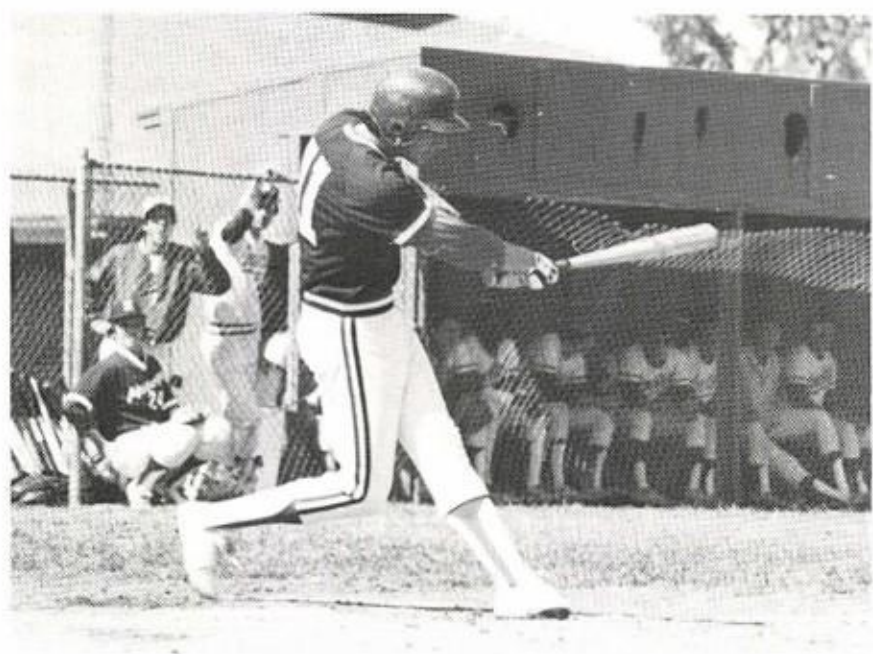

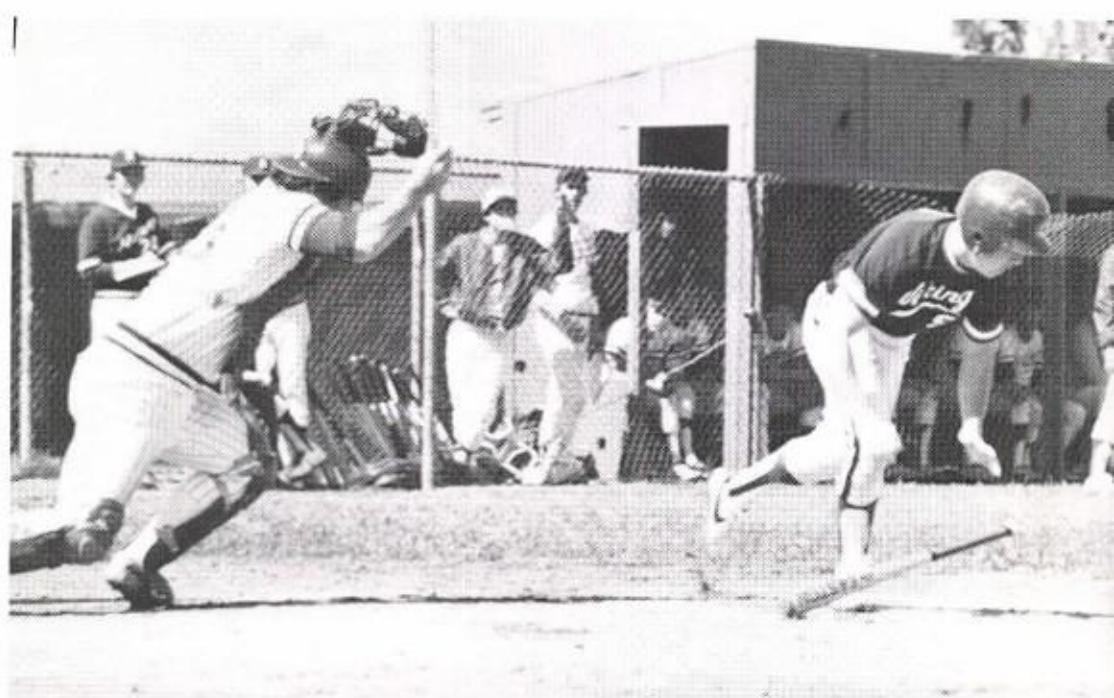

SWIMMING

While the change for a national relay team was shattered by an arrest, the Boys' Swim team still had much to talk about. With Wu, Cavanaugh, and Eischen (the breast man) atop the C.C.S., the Vikings posed a formidable threat to any opposing team. Equipped with Speedos and racing caps, Lynbrook was ready to take on the world. Divers were scarce, but there was a Ham to take the spotlight. The team was a splash, and the results . . . well, fantastic as usual.

BASEBALL

"Okay, Everybody up!" Spring brings rain outs, shut outs, and strike outs to the Lynbrook Baseball diamond, and it also provides the players with valuable lessons for everyday life. Coach Mansfield conducted daily airplane identification classes for the squad. A dedicated team, who held special meetings at Scully Park, they were addicted to sunflower seeds. With the Big C's, Fatman, Kiko, Smokes, and Vander-whats-his-name, the Varsity Vikes were ready to play. The Frosh-Soph team, based at Miller Jr. High, were a young, spirited bunch. With their vaurnets and beach hats, they brought a relaxed attitude to the field. But when it came time to play ball, the Lynbrook nine put on quite a show!

GYMNASTICS

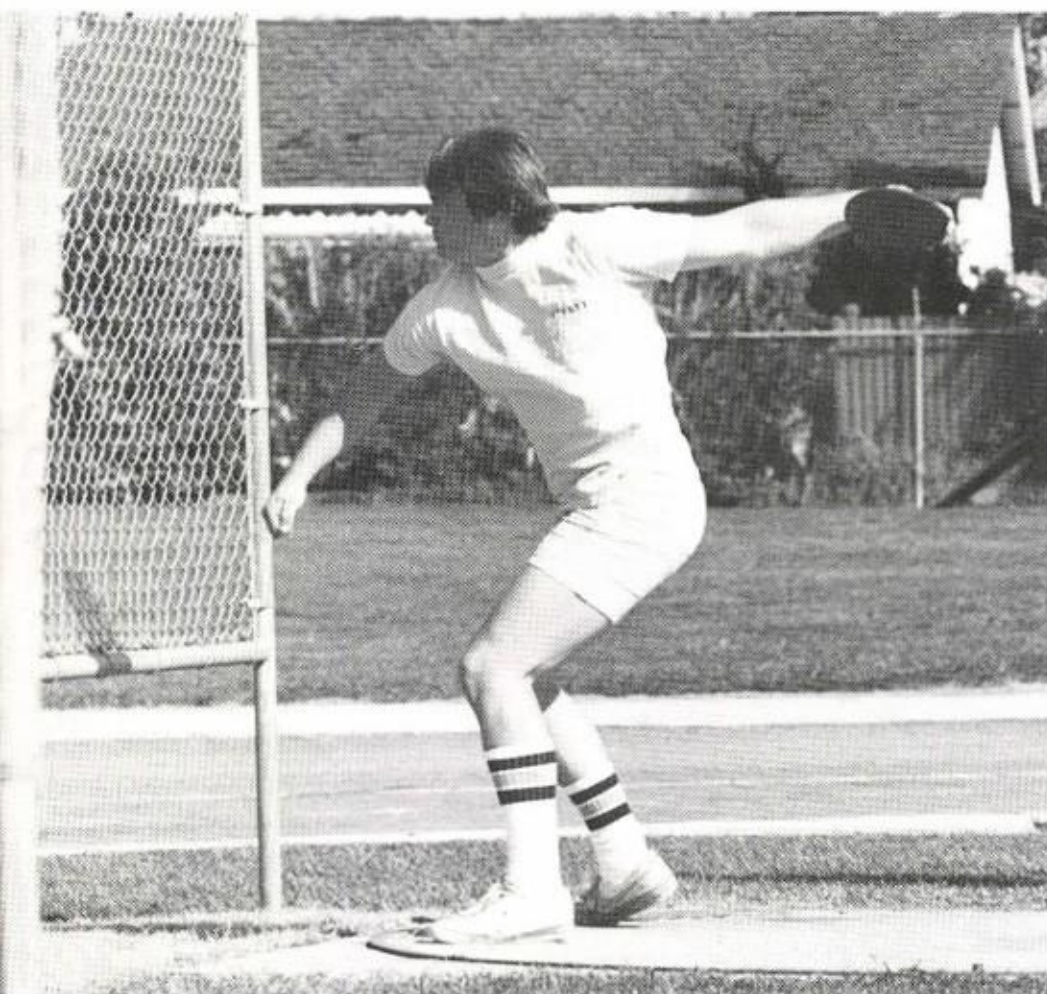

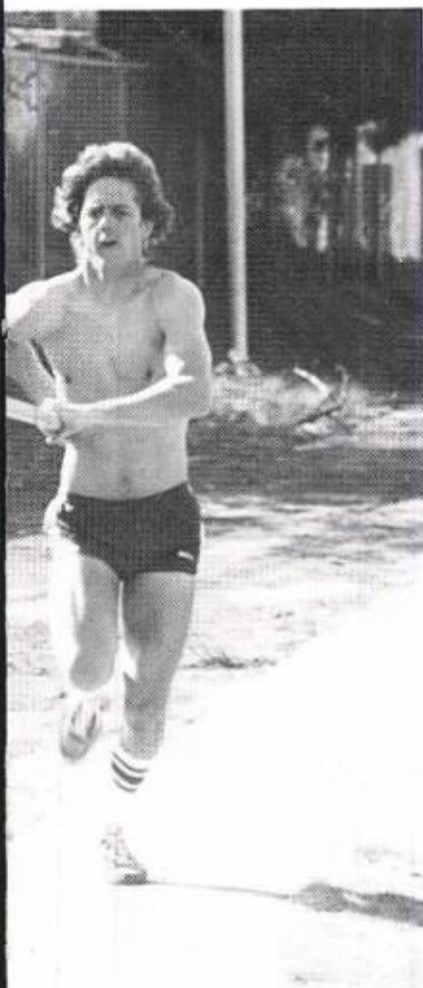

From year to year and coach after coach after coach it seems the Lynbrook Gymnastics team has finally found a leader. Coach Bauer, broken arm and all, took charge of the bewildered group and formed a unique team. It's not easy remembering a routine that you have never done before, but the girls still managed to jump, flip, and twirl their way through league competition. Can you IMAGINE next year?

TRACK AND FIELD

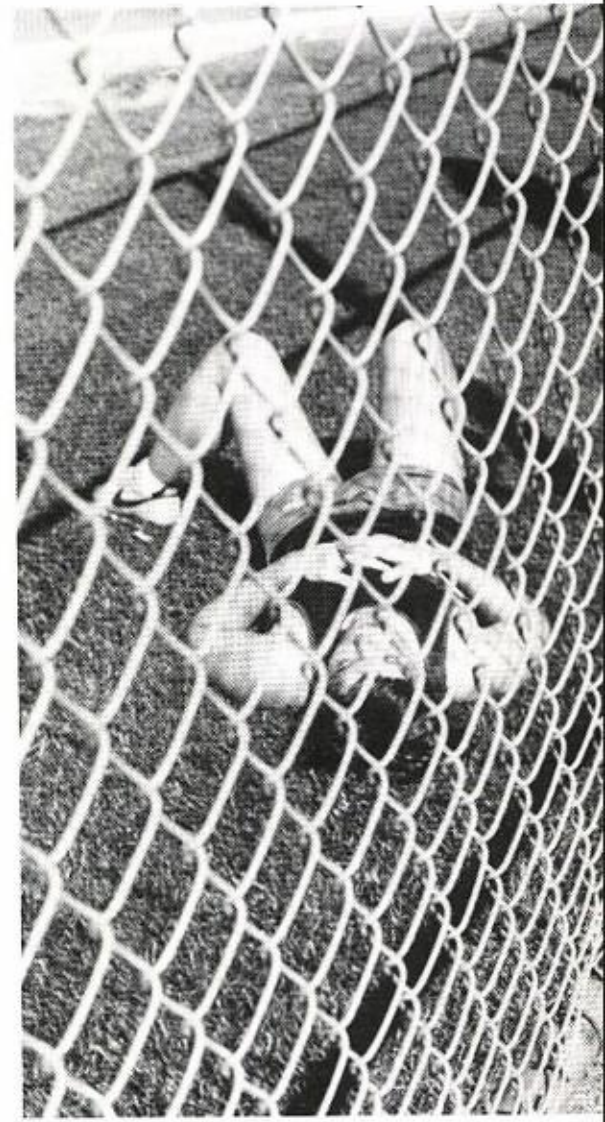

Times have changed at the Lynbrook Country Club; the track has become a dark shade of red, the familiar grey sweats are rarely seen, the President (head coach) spends most of his time throwing steel balls and deformed frisbees, and the First Lady (his counterpart) often runs more than her runners. Small in number, the Track and Field lot still had something special about them. Todd and Michelle, the dynamic duo of long distance, have left many frustrated opponents in their paths. (John) Kenney and Kenny (Luck) push each other to the limit in the 880 while Gina fills in where Seck doesn't run. Mike Clark has made Pete and White unbeatable in the sprints and freshman sensation Jenfer does the same for the girls. Humor is one prerequisite for participation on the "bod squad" as Hoppy, Cooke, Pauley, and company make life difficult for Tina, Poppy, and Bernyk. In the pole vault Orr, Robinson, and Huber strive for 14", while hurdlers Mac, Martin, Young, Oeonard, etc. try to clear 3" barriers. Despite the lack of bodies, early rainouts, dance marathons, and Senior Balls, the competitive Vikes would not succumb. After all . . . LHS Track is an exclusive club!

Lisa - well - another year bites the dust!! I am so glad that high school is over!! the only bummer is that we won't be able to see all of our great friends - like you! we have got to get together a lot this summer and party!! I will sure miss you next year - I mean what would school be without a Lisa Smith around!! I'm gonna have to find someone else to cut second period with!

Gosh - this is really weird signing your yearbook for the last time! How sad (:(!! Doesn't it seem like we have known each other forever? It sure has been fun!! I wish that we could have

Lynbrook Parent-Teachers

For a dozen years, we have spent time together; much like bunches of grapes. Each year we would return, grow, and depart in the same manner.

We are similar, in that respect, to grape vines — turning green, growing new bunches, and dying off until next year.

One could say that the growing of new bunches is similar to the developing of friendships — to the making of memories.

And, if one does say that, he must understand that each “growing season” would hold separate memories.

Thus, with each year's bunches, there is a bottle of wine —
a Vintage of that year;
our's is 1982.

It holds the bunches — the friendships and the memories — of our years together.

Keep and cherish this bottle until sometime in the future when you can uncork its contents and toast to the good times of...

Vintage 1982!

Good Luck to the Class of 1982

What can you say about home? It's the place you grow up, learn, and where you are taught how to deal with people. Lynbrook has been the four year dwelling for thousands of people, and yet another select group is leaving the premises. It seems like only a year ago that the class of '82 graduated from Miller, and now it is off to the "real" world.

No matter how much we hate homework, math, or boring lunches, life out of high school will just not be the same. It's difficult to imagine how much fun high school can be when we are the underclass, but here's a better perspective on what we have.

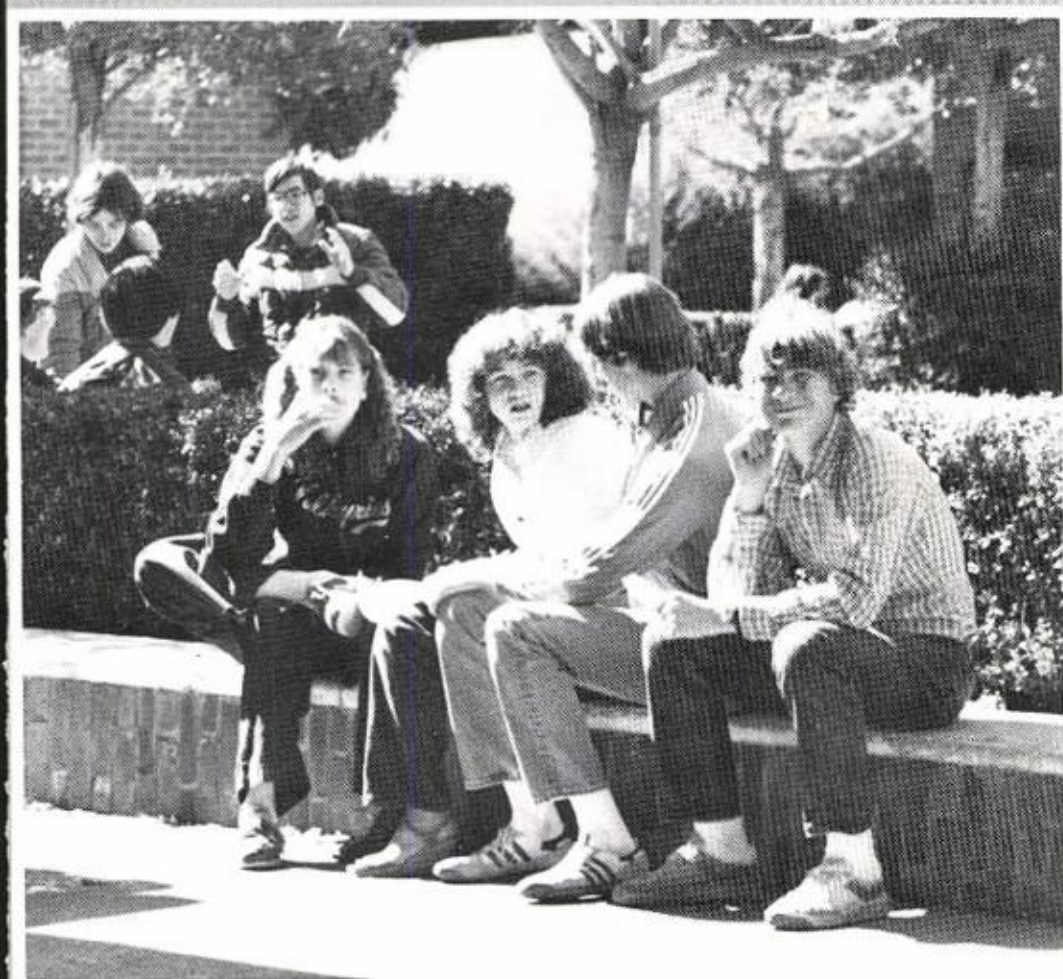

Lynbrook sports spelled CCS this year, as no less than four squads went to the section playoffs before spring sports began. The fantastic footballers flailed, fought, and fanagled their way to Foothill, only to fall last Fall to Francis (the Saint). Field Hockey and Girls' Basketball continued their trend as CCS contenders, no doubt frustrating the hopes of many potential visitors. Girls' Soccer qualified for the CCS playoffs for the first time ever, while the boys nearly made it, tying top-ranked 'Toga along the way. With Softball, Swimming, Baseball, Badminton and Track yet to come, the school year was certain to be the most successful ever! "Celebration! Let's all celebrate and have a good time."

Activities galor was the setting this year, as the Vikings were charitable (Christmas fund drive a tremendous success), spirited (Spirit Week Competiton the closest ever in history), and excite (many victories for the Lynbrook faithful to cheer). The last-second victory over Saratoga set Todd's Homecoming on its way. A storybook Sadie and great (American) Winter Formal finished off the 1981 portions, and a definite trend was set.

"Every little thing we did was magic." A new year gave way to new leadership (Spring A.S.B.), and a renewed atmosphere on campus. The weather was fairly warm, and so were the feelings of the students. The people were relaxed, and even finals seemed to hide the expected tensions. Lynbrook and its students had grown up, and it was time to enjoy.

TO DREAM

"I've been waiting for a school like you, to come into my life." There are changes from day to day, year to year, but it is still Lynbrook. We perceive these changes as drastic, such as new staff or students. However, the evolution of the Vikings has been slow and cared for. We try new things, meet new people, and use our imagination to make Lynbrook what we want it to be. Now as Summer is only a step away, we wonder if our life at Lynbrook will be remembered, IMAGINE THAT!!!!

TO IMAGINE

LISA- SO OUR YEAR HAS FINALLY COME TO AN END—AND WITH IT COMES THE END TO MANY LONG FRIENDSHIPS. ACTUALLY, THESE ARE NOT ENDING, BUT RATHER BEING PULLED APART. SUCH IS THE CASE WITH US. ANYWAY, WHAT I AM TRYING TO SAY IS—I AM TRULY GLAD THAT WE HAVE BEEN FRIENDS. YOU HAVE DONE MUCH TO HELP MAKE MY SENIOR YEAR BETTER. I CAN STILL REMEMBER THE PARTY AT YOUR HOUSE ON THE FIRST MORNING OF SCHOOL—I STILL HAVE A CORE FROM THAT MORNING. THEN AGAIN, THERE WAS HOME COMING—YOU ARE TRULY A PRINCESS FOR A QUEEN FOR THAT MATTER. I LOOK BACK TO JR. HIGH SCHOOL AND REMEMBER WHEN I FIRST BECAME FRIENDS WITH YOU. SINCE THEN, I HAVE ONLY SEEN YOU ^{OVER} ONCE IN A WHILE. I KNOW IT SOUNDS TRIVIAL, BUT PLEASE KEEP IN TOUCH THIS SUMMER AND THE YEARS TO COME! LOVE YA — TODD FITCHEN

Well Smith, here it is! The end of years at good ol' Lynbrook. Never thought it arrive. I must admit, that with out you, I would never have got my start in my pornographic career, — you thrust me right into it, and then got some juicy photos to show for it! Seriously, working on the Epic has helped me to really get to know you (haha) and I don't need to list all the reasons why I think you're a great person, we both know why. I've got alot of very fond memories of times we've spent together, and I hope I never ~~lose~~ loose touch. Speaking as a photographer, "I don't get no respect"! Sorry if I complained too much during the year, but I somehow felt it was my duty. Altogether, I must admit that its all been worth it, and I'm glad you were such a large part of it. Be seeing you, Love Always,

Dave Dell'Aquila

Yes, Smith, on whatever you prefer, what a year, what events, what memories! It's been intense! Journalism is beyond words. The journey which went on all year is absolutely incomparable to anything or any class which I have ever encountered. The photo session had to be the climax, but the "Smith" treatment was a classic, too (at 70-40). That place had a few moments, too, but I'm afraid they are nearly over for whoever would there, due to Fred and Diphyl. So much bureaucracy and bullshit to contend with. It is not so fun anymore. That has got to be a blast. I can't think of anyone I'd rather sit next to for such a joyous and momentous occasion. Ha! That's it. Been a true pleasure working with you. The sauna was a gas! 2500 to 40°. Well! What a run. But that's all behind us now. I think it's time to make new memories. Thanks for the old ones too, Dave! Love ya!

LISA, IT WAS GREAT TO HAVE YOU IN THAT ROOM, I WOULDN'T
CALL IT A CLASS, I THINK I
WOULD HAVE DIED OF BOREDOM
IF I WOULD HAVE WENT ONE MORE
DAY OF ~~MR~~ MRS. GARCIA WITHOUT
YOU, IF YOU THOUGHT THAT I TALK
TO MUCH IT'S BECAUSE I WENT THROUGH
THE WHOLE YEAR IN THERE ALL BY MYSELF, I LOVE TALKING TO YOU
ANYWAY, YOU'RE REALLY EASY TO TALK TO, CONGRATULATIONS!
SEE YA AROUND I'LL COME TO FLO -
YES - SOMEDAY AND SAY HI.
LIVE A LIFE - LOVE YA
